Shangri-La Journey Next For President

CANBERRA (UPI) — President Johnson got Vietnam policy endorsements from allied leaders today before attending last rites for Australian Prime Minister Harold Holt and flying off on a Shangri-La journey that might take him to Vietnam, Thailand or Vatican City.

Fatigue etched itself deeply on the President's face after a day-long flight from Washington and something of a bit-by-bit summit in rounds of allied talks.

VIET AGREEMENT

(According to Associated Press President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam and Johnson have publicly agreed that Johnson's latest suggestions for promoting peace in Vietnam "were fully consistent" with the policy of his government.

Johnson and Thieu issued a joint statement following a working dinner in Canberra which sought to dispel any idea the two leaders were in conflict over possible informal talks with representatives of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.)

Crowds of several hundreds clapped and cheered Johnson, whose October 1966 visit unleashed a flood of riotious applause in the streets. Today Australia and the U.S. leader were almost solemn, in honor of Holt who vanished swimming in shark-infested waters Sunday.

OTHER TALKS

Johnson moved quietly through Texas-like heat (upper 80's) for talks with acting Prime Minister John McEwen, Governor General Lord Casey, New Zealand Prime Minister Keith Holyoake, South Korean President Park Chung-Hee and other leaders preparing for Friday's Melbourne rites for Holt.

A Johnson-Park statement pledged "unswerving support for the independence of South Vietnam and the freedom of its people to determine their future with external interference."

Early Friday (Australia time) he was flying to Melbourne for the services at St. Paul's Cathedral, Australia's main Anglican edifice. Then, after a condolence call on Mrs. Holt, Johnson was leaving for an unspecified destination.

In his day, the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt referred to a meeting place with British Prime Minister Winston Church-

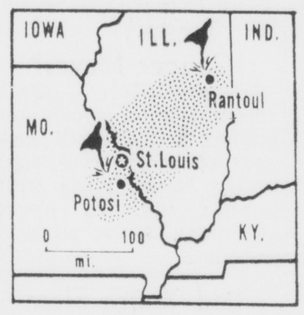
Missouri Tornado Rampage Kills Three; Damage Heavy

POTOSI, Mo. (AP) — Three persons were killed and 40 injured early today by tornadoes which struck Potosi and other southeastern Missouri towns, inflicting heavy damage.

The Missouri Highway Patrol reported that the dead were from the Potosi area and that at least 30 other injuries were reported there. Three injuries also were reported at Bixby.

In Potosi, the city hall, power plant, a shopping center and 10 to 20 homes were damaged. The injured were taken to Washington County Memorial Hospital. Ten business buildings were destroyed.

Mrs. Helen Irvin, former civil defense worker in Washington County, said the tornado hit the east end of Potosi, a town of 3,000 75 miles southwest of St. Louis. It destroyed all but one building in a shopping center and wrecked four homes on Lilac Drive, she said.



TORNADO TARGETS
Three killed, 40 hurt

An electric clock at Civil Defense Headquarters in Potosi stopped at 1:17 a.m.

Two homes were reported destroyed at Rover, Mo., south and east of Willow Springs at about the same time.

Another tornado touched down six miles south of Gainesville in Ozark County southwest of Potosi near the Arkansas line about midnight. The sheriff's office said it damaged outbuildings and trees, but there were no injuries. (Photo, page 4)

Cabinet Officials Involved

WASHINGTON (UPI)— U.S. investigators have found that a Communist Chinese firm was paid more than a half million dollars to ship rice to South Vietnam under the American pacification program.

Three Saigon officials who arranged the deal got $92,000 in kickbacks, according to an inspections staff for the Agency for International Development (AID).

AID officials said yesterday the South Vietnamese government arranged to purchase the rice in Thailand with money provided by the United States.

RED FRONT FIRM

The rice shipments were handled by the Ngow Hock Co. of Bangkok, Thailand, a firm now known to be controled by Communist China. Although the rice was shipped from Thailand, AID said there was no evidence any Thai officials were involved.

The South Vietnam officials involved in the fraud were identified by AID as Luu Mau Thanh, director of commercial aid; Truong Thai Ton, minister of national economy; and Nguyen Huang Cuong, assistant to the minister. All resigned in February, 1966.

FEDERAL BAN

Federal law forbids American government agencies or private concerns from conducting business with firms termed by the Treasury Department "designated national"—meaning they are controled by Communist China, North Korea, North Vietnam or Cuba.

According to AID officials, the agency agreed late in 1965 to finance purchase and transportation costs to alleviate a rice shortage in South Vietnam. Three contracts for purchase of 125,000 tons of rice valued at $13.5 million were signed with the Thai government.

DEAL REVEALED

The report said the Saigon officials, using U.S. funds, gave contracts to the Ngow Hock Co. and the Lokee Shipping and Trading Co. to transport 23,300 tons of rice.

It added that "information as received from a confidential source showed that in the fall of 1965, a South Vietnamese official believed to be Mr. Luu Mau Thanh" negotiated contracts with the Ngow Hock Co. requiring payment of $24.50 per ton for shipping charges, about double the usual fee.

After the contract was signed, the report said, the name of the recipient of the letter of credit was changed from Ngow Hock to Chin Seng Rice Mills in an apparent effort to circumvent U.S. sanctions against "designated nationals."

Fund Launched For Heroic Act

A fund has been started for Guy Bachelis of Corte Madera, who had a bag full of clothing stolen while he carried a small child off a crowded Corte Madera street Monday.

Mrs. George L. Peterson of Kentfield said she has been telephoning friends today asking that they donate funds to Bachelis so that "other good Samaritans won't be discouraged."

Bachelis, a College of Marin student, was hitchhiking on Highway 101 in Corte Madera when he saw a little girl walking on the Tamalpais Drive overpass, which has no sidewalks. He dropped his bag of clothing and took the girl to the nearby California Highway Patrol office. The bag was stolen.

Mrs. Peterson asks contributions be mailed to Bachelis at the Unitarian-Universalist Church of Marin at 240 Channing Way, San Rafael.

Bachelis, a member of the church, works with youth groups there and is a volunteer worker with Switchboard of Marin, which opened Friday with church support. Switchboard of Marin tries to give aid to anyone, particularly youths, who telephone. The number may be obtained through the information operator.

ZEBRA ROAD FUN FROWNED ON IN COURT

Steven P. Liddle, 18, of Petaluma, was fined $25 in Northwest Marin Justice Court today for running his car back and forth over freshly painted white lines on Pierce Point Road in Inverness on Dec. 12.

"At first it was an accident," he told Judge David R. Baty.

"Then it was so much fun I kept doing it and doing it."

Defense Says Chaker Was Persecuted

Dr. Henry Chaker, accused of overcharging county welfare patients while practicing in Novato, was pictured today as a young man persecuted by the Marin County establishment.

The 13-day-old grand theft trial was to go to the jury this afternoon as Chaker's attorney described the former Novato physician as a victim of conspiracy.

"Who are the men behind the shadows in this case?" asked attorney George T. Davis. "We have never heard from the peo-

WHEN WINTER COMES, IT'LL BE WARMER

Winter, which arrives officially tomorrow, is expected to get a slightly warmer welcome in Marin.

The Weather Bureau is predicting a warming trend will replace the freezing temperatures of the past few days, but the good news has a string attached — rain.

A new storm system has moved into the central Pacific Ocean and presents a threat to the fair weather over much of Northern California.

Rain already in northern counties may spread down the coast to reach Marin by late tomorrow, said forecasters.

If the storm continues to build in intensity it will mean Marin will have a wet if not a white Christmas.

Population Not Up To Prediction

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau said today the nation's population isn't growing as fast as its experts projected three years ago but still has an outside chance of reaching 300 million by 1990.

In view of the current growth rate of one additional person every 14 seconds, the bureau said it has lowered its population projections for 1990 to between 256 million and 300 million.

The population had been projected at from 262 million to 301 million when the growth rate in 1964 was one person every 12 seconds.

The nation reached a 200 million population on Nov. 20.

Young Caroler Gives Hard-Earned Gifts

By DON BRANNING

A dayroom full of very old people at a San Rafael convalescent home silently received Christmas gifts of pity and sacrifice yesterday from a 12-year-old boy who bought them at the five and dime with $5.25 he earned singing carols.

James Richard Churchill of 754 Diablo Avenue, Novato, sang one nervous chorus of "Silent Night" to the still sitters at Hillhaven Convalescent Hospital, then quickly went from one to another with his presents — Old English Rose soap for the men, Devon Violets bath cubes and toilet water for the women.

The 52 accompanying Christmas cards were given to him free by Kress', said James, "when they found out how much I was spending."

The TV set was on in the dayroom and an undecorated Christmas tree stood in the corner when James, his eyes dark and excited as a drummer boy's, came into the room with one of the hospital's dinner trays full of his gifts. The old people, some in wheelchairs, were waiting for their noon meal.

None of them spoke for several minutes while the boy gave his Christmas gifts to them. Finally a few of them began to smile a little and one resident said that she thought he had sung "Silent Night" very well. "It's hard to sing without music," she said.

After he had given gifts to several, one of the women smiled and thanked him very much. Then some of the others thanked him. It was very quiet in the sunny room at Hillhaven, and perhaps not as he had imagined it when he got the idea of giving them gifts.

"It was okay," he said, after he had finished. "A lot of people talk too much anyway."

He made a special trip down the hallway to the room of Mrs. Fleeta Triece, 86, at the end of the building. Mrs. Triece, at her window in a red taffeta polka dot gown, smiled and smiled and never said anything when the boy gave the present to her.

"She never says anything," said one of the nurses, "but she has a lovely smile."

As James left, Mrs. Triece continued to smile at him and ran her thumb over her bottle of toilet water. The Hillhaven Convalescent Hospital is at 233 West End Avenue. The Marin Board of Realtors office, where James' father works, is next door, and seeing Mrs. Triece at her window gave him the idea of the Christmas gifts.

He ascertained that there

Thais Score Major Victory Near Saigon

SAIGON (UPI)—Cobra troops from Thailand and South Vietnamese soldiers killed 128 Communists in Saigon area victories today that brought Gen. William C. Westmoreland to the scene with congratulations.

In their first major battle since arriving three months ago, the Royal Thailand infantrymen of the Queen's Cobra Regiment smashed waves of Viet Cong that tried to overrun their position 15 miles from Saigon's center. The Thais reported killing at least 59 guerrillas.

South Vietnamese troops whirled 95 miles south of the capital in helicopters and caught Viet Cong forces in a pincers squeeze. They reported killing at least 69 Communists.

Westmoreland, American commander in Vietnam, told the Thais they had won the first round in the Viet Cong's attempt to grab a major victory before the Christmas eve 24-hour truce.

U.S. spokesmen in Saigon announced that last week in combat the United States suffered 187 men killed and 932 wounded, compared to 194 killed and 1,643 wounded the previous week. It raised U.S. war casualties in all to 15,646 men killed in action, 97,673 wounded and 863 listed as missing or captured.

Allied spokesmen also reported that last week in action those

Tunnel Collapse Traps Workmen

GORMAN (UPI) — A tunnel roof collapsed today on the $2.8 billion California Water Project, trapping 12 to 18 men working more than a mile deep at the heading of the shaft.

The men were able to communicate through a 12-inch air line and said they were in good spirits with ample supplies of water, air and lights.

Rescue workers from another tunnel began clawing at the mass of rubble and hoped to burrow through with a relief tunnel by midnight.

Cong Count Held Frustrating; Estimates Range Up To 400,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We just don't know how many Viet Cong there are in South Vietnam" says a veteran military officer who holds a key Pentagon staff post and has seen both field and staff duty in Vietnam.

This officer, who asked that his name not be used, was long involved in the frustrating effort to get a reliable count of enemy strength in South Vietnam.

His view was echoed by other officers who have wrestled with the problem.

They acknowledged that some of the estimates boil down to educated guessing, based on analysis of intelligence gathered from captured documents, interrogation of prisoners and defectors, and reports from Vietnamese and U.S. sources.

Recent estimates have ranged from a low of 223,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong up to 400,000-plus.

Much depends on the terms of reference—whether those doing the estimating count only Communist soldiers or whether they add political cadre as well; whether they count regular and guerrilla soldiers or also include the much more shadowy "secret self-defense forces."

About a month ago, after better than a year of refining methods and studies, the U.S. intelligence community came up with what it regards as the most reasonable estimate of enemy strength.

The U.S. Command in Saigon announced Nov. 24 that it now calculates the Communist "order of battle" to range between 223,000 and 248,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

This was about 50,000 fewer than the figure used before that in official statements.

It also varied from Gen. William C. Westmoreland's estimate of 242,000 which he gave to a Pentagon news conference two days earlier.

Westmoreland's estimate and the Saigon command's figures later that week both left out the political cadre which, though important, they chose not to count as part of the fighting force faced by nearly 500,000 Americans and allied soldiers in South Vietnam.

The official Saigon estimate, which now is quoted at the Pentagon as well, omits the self-defense element of the Viet Cong, basically local Communists who

Would-Be Suicide Held As Murderer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A man who said he wanted to die in a gun battle with police was in the prison ward of a hospital today suspected of killing a highway patrolman.

Thomas E. Spychala, 38, of Maywood, Calif., was arrested in a drug store in Lomita, about 12 miles south of Los Angeles. Police said he had taken arsonic from the druggist at gunpoint and swallowed it. His stomach was later pumped and he was reported in satisfactory condition.

OFFICER DIES

Highway patrol motorcycle officer Merle Andrews, 39, died in a hospital Wednesday after he was shot twice in the chest, twice in the back and once in the leg.

He leaves a widow and 5-year-old son.

Spychala's arrest ended a daylong search that started when one of his neighbors told police Spychala had stolen his car and was armed with five guns and looking for police officers.

'DEATH WISH'

Police also had been warned by a minister that Spychala had a "death wish," to die in a gun battle with police, and that he intended to find his victim by breaking traffic laws.

Andrews had stopped the car allegedly stolen by Spychala, and was killed in an exchange of gunfire.

Lt. James Hamilton of the sheriff's department said Spychala drove to Lomita in the stolen car, then mired it in a sand and gravel pit.

Getting out of the car, Spychala accosted John Brown, 18, of Lomita, with a rifle and took him hostage, Hamilton said. He forced Lindon Chandler, the pit operator, to drive him and the youth to the drug store.

Spychala and Brown entered the store, Hamilton said. Chandler telephoned sheriff's officers.

Officers said Spychala pointed a gun at pharmacist Bill Lew and said, "I've already killed one man today and I don't want to kill anyone else but myself."

He forced Lew to give him a one-ounce jar of ant poison containing arsenic, police said. Then he swallowed the poison, followed by two swallows from a half pint of whisky.

GUNMAN SICKENS

"Then he started walking back and forth, complaining that the poison wasn't working," Lew said. "He asked for another bottle, but I told him that was the last one."

Lew said Spychal became ill and made no attempt to resist when officers entered. He was booked on suspicion of murder, kidnaping and robbery.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Doctor's Prison Term Starts

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI) — Dr. Robert E. Boehme yesterday began serving a prison sentence for a crime he and his alleged victim, his wife Mary, insisted he did not commit.

The Port Orchard, Wash., physician was convicted in February of 1966 on a charge of trying to kill his wife by giving her a poisonous injection while she was hospitalized here.

Boehme

Boehme and his wife both proclaimed his innocence when he surrendered at the Pierce County Sheriff's office here. Boehme is to be transferred to the state corrections center at Shelton, probably today.

Boehme, 47, handed his wife his wedding ring, glasses and electric razor before walking behind bars at the sheriff's office.

"I have always said — always believed — always known he is innocent," Mrs. Boehme told newsmen. Boehme said it was hard to understand "and even harder to believe" he has to serve the prison term.

The three men were tried by a court-martial.

It was the best showing ever recorded by Gallup for the Conservatives. The previous best was a 14½ per cent advantage over Labor in 1951.

In the poll, Labor dropped from 38 per cent before devaluation of the pound to 32 per cent —the lowest in postwar history.

A total of 57 per cent of the people questioned expressed dissatisfaction with the leadership of Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

Washkansky Dies But Doctors Undaunted

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—Louis Washkansky, who gambled for life with the world's first heart transplant, died today in a battle against forces still only dimly understood by medical science.

The 55-year-old grocer lived for 18 days with the heart of a young woman killed in a traffic accident beating firmly in his chest, to the very end.

LOUIS WASKANSKY
Heart works; lungs fail

WON'T GIVE UP

Doctors overcame the fantastic hurdle of transplanting the heart. They failed in their attempt to make Washkansky's body accept it. But they said today they will not give up trying the operation.

Somehow, his body's rejection mechanism — which normally would attempt to slough off a foreign organism such as the heart—apparently ran wild and attacked his lungs and other tissues, choking him with double pneumonia.

Washkansky died in a respirator, unable to breathe properly.

FATHER SADDENED

Edward Darvall, who permitted his daughter's heart to be implanted in Washkansky, said, "Giving my daughter's heart was the best thing I could do but it did not work. After the operation at least part of my daughter lived on in his body. Now she is completely dead. I having nothing to look forward to."

After the five-hour transplant operation Dec. 3, doctors bombarded Washkansky with immuno-suppressive drugs and cobalt rays to block his rejection process and give his body a chance to adapt to the heart.

WIFE AT SIDE

Louis Washkansky died a little after 7 a.m. at Groote Schuur hospital. His grieving wife, who only a week ago had hopefully watched him joke and eat heartily, was at his side.

Before the operation Washkansky had little hope of living much longer. Ebullient and active, he had ignored medical advice to take it easy. He came to Groote Schuur with a seven-year history of progressively more serious heart attacks. To make matters worse, he was a diabetic.

Washkansky had appeared to recover fast. At one point his doctors were predicting he might even be able to go home for Christmas.

Then came the rapid deterioration which dashed the hopes of Barnard, his colleagues and a sympathetic world.

Prof. Barnard said today the death of Washkansky left no evidence that heart transferrals should be discontinued.

Barnard said a post-mortem produced no clinical evidence that rejection played a part in the patient's death.

A statement issued to the press said: "Clinically the cause of death was respiratory failure due to bilateral pneumonia. This was confirmed at post-mortem by Prof. J. G. Thomson."

In cases of heart disease there were changes in the liver, but the post-mortem on Washkansky showed the new heart had restored his liver to normal.

Shipping Group Lauds Mailliard

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Calif., was awarded the "Brass Hat" yesterday by the San Francisco Chapter of the Propeller Club as the city's "man of the year" for the maritime industry.

The 6th District congressman was presented the derby-shaped hat by Robert E. Mayer, the 1966 recipient.

Mayer told club members that Mailliard "has taken the issue of the deteriorating American merchant marine to the American people" and his efforts have "overcome the apathy which was previously present in our government."

Mailliard is the ranking minority member of the House Merchant Marine Committee.

Mailliard Sounds Call For Seafaring Backing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The United States is in danger of becoming only a minor seafaring power, according to Rep. William S. Maillard, R-sixth district ranking minority member of the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries.

He told a University of San Francisco seminar on ocean transportation yesterday there was a "dire need" for redirection and government leadership.

REAL PROBLEM

"We face the very real possibility of abdicating our position as a major world maritime power," Mailliard said. "Quite frankly, I view the deterioration of our maritime industry with alarm."

The first session of the 90th Congress did not face the problem, the congressman said. One of the few laws passed during the session dealt with the restoration and return to the U.S. of the last surviving American square - rigged merchant ship, the Kaiulani.

ACTION NEEDED

"Certainly, it is commendable that we act in concert to preserve our maritime heritage," Mailliard said. "However, it is also tragic that although we can legislate successfully to preserve the past, we are unable to do so to meet the future."

He warned that by the end of 1974 the national defense reserve shipping capability will be phased out and will constitute "at best a statistic on paper."

'TRAGIC' IRONY

"Of the 70 - odd materials classified as strategic by the government, we are dependent upon overseas sources for more than 60," Mailliard said. "Yet the tragic irony is that we permit the welfare of this most vital sector of our economy to hang by the thin thread of foreign - flag shipping, which carries 95 per cent of our dry bulk and liquid cargoes."

"We no longer can afford to continue to sweep our shipping problems under the rug," he added.

BART Sued Over Berkeley Station

BERKELEY (AP)—A Berkeley taxpayers group has gone to court against the Bay Area Rapid Transit District seeking to block construction of "protruding structures" at an Ashby Avenue subway station.

The group charged yesterday that BART was violating an agreement to put the station underground — an agreement obtained through a $20-million bond issue approved by Berkeley voters to finance extra cost of underground construction.

A BART spokesman said a station skylight will be located in the center of a BART parking lot and not in the middle of a city street, as the taxpayer group contended.

Switchboard Manned Only On Weekends

The Switchboard of Marin, an information center for persons of all ages, cannot be reached by telephone on weekdays, as incorrectly reported in Monday's Independent-Journal.

The switchboard is manned only from 4 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday, said Ronald B. Jenkins, a director of the organization. The service is sponsored by the Unitarian-Universalist Church of Marin.

Blood Pressure Peril Recited By Researchers

WASHINGTON (AP) — So-called "moderate" high blood pressure may quickly develop into severe or fatal stages unless treated with drugs hitherto reserved mostly for patients whose blood pressure was extremely high, government scientists report.

The new findings, said Veterans Administration medical researchers, suggest that what is called essential hypertension may not be the slowly progressive disorder as doctors have thought.

They said their study may have settled a medical controversy as to whether antihypertensive drugs have value in preventing sickness and death in less severe forms of hypertension.

In this context "essential" means high blood pressure of unknown cause, as distinguished as types resulting from a known disorder.

Pockets of hot water in the Red Sea register up to 133 degrees Fahrenheit, says the National Geographic.

Relieved Naval Commander Schedules Talk On Charges

A "character guidance program" that led to a charge against him is scheduled to be recreated by Navy Lt. Cmdr. Marcus A. Arnheiter at the Unitarian-Universalist Church of Marin in San Rafael Jan. 7.

Arnheiter, a San Rafael resident, is seeking to clear his record after being relieved of command of the radar picket ship Vance in waters off Vietnam in March 1966.

One of the charges that led to a Navy decision to deny him further command was that he required the crew to attend lectures with religious overtones.

Arnheiter will recreate the program that drew the chares, including such songs as "My Country Tis of Thee," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "The Navy Hymn," according to the church bulletin.

After the program, those assembled will have a chance to question Arnheiter.

Marinwood To Train Lucas Valley Firemen

Volunteer firemen in Upper Lucas Valley will begin drilling next month with Marinwood volunteers because the valley will be protected in 1968 by Marinwood forces.

Marinwood Chief James W. Cameron made this report to Marinwood fire commissioners Tuesday night. The agreement under which Marinwood will protect Upper Lucas Valley was worked out by the county and Marinwood Community Services District directors.

Sentences Given On Drunken Driving

Peter Culkin, 41, of Cloverdale, was given a 10-day suspended jail sentence, fined $404 and placed on probation for three years in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for driving while intoxicated Oct. 23 on Highway 101.

Stanley Johnson, 52, of 66 Brushwood Lane, San Rafael, was fined $350 and placed on probation for six months for drunken driving Dec. 9 on Bridgeway, where Sausalito police arrested him.

Mailliard Sounds Call For Seafaring Backing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The United States is in danger of becoming only a minor seafaring power, according to Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-sixth district ranking minority member of the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries.

He told a University of San Francisco seminar on ocean transportation yesterday there was a "dire need" for redirection and government leadership.

REAL PROBLEM

"We face the very real possibility of abdicating our position as a major world maritime power," Mailliard said. "Quite frankly, I view the deterioration of our maritime industry with alarm."

The first session of the 90th Congress did not face the problem, the congressman said. One of the few laws passed during the session dealt with the restoration and return to the U.S. of the last surviving American square - rigged merchant ship, the Kaiulani.

ACTION NEEDED

"Certainly, it is commendable that we act in concert to preserve our maritime heritage," Mailliard said. "However, it is also tragic that although we can legislate successfully to preserve the past, we are unable to do so to meet the future."

He warned that by the end of 1974 the national defense reserve shipping capability will be phased out and will constitute "at best a statistic on paper."

'TRAGIC' IRONY

"Of the 70 - odd materials classified as strategic by the government, we are dependent upon overseas sources for more than 60," Mailliard said. "Yet the tragic irony is that we permit the welfare of this most vital sector of our economy to hang by the thin thread of foreign - flag shipping, which carries 95 per cent of our dry bulk and liquid cargoes."

"We no longer can afford to continue to sweep our shipping problems under the rug," he added.

BART Sued Over Berkeley Station

BERKELEY (AP)—A Berkeley taxpayers group has gone to court against the Bay Area Rapid Transit District seeking to block construction of "protruding structures" at an Ashby Avenue subway station.

The group charged yesterday that BART was violating an agreement to put the station underground — an agreement obtained through a $20-million bond issue approved by Berkeley voters to finance extra cost of underground construction.

A BART spokesman said a station skylight will be located in the center of a BART parking lot and not in the middle of a city street, as the taxpayer group contended.

The Switchboard of Marin, an information center for persons of all ages, cannot be reached by telephone on weekdays, as incorrectly reported in Monday's Independent-Journal.

The switchboard is manned only from 4 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday, said Ronald B. Jenkins, a director of the organization. The service is sponsored by the Unitarian-Universalist Church of Marin.

Blood Pressure Peril Recited By Researchers

WASHINGTON (AP) — So-called "moderate" high blood pressure may quickly develop into severe or fatal stages unless treated with drugs hitherto reserved mostly for patients whose blood pressure was extremely high, government scientists report.

The new findings, said Veterans Administration medical researchers, suggest that what is called essential hypertension may not be the slowly progressive disorder as doctors have thought.

They said their study may have settled a medical controversy as to whether antihypertensive drugs have value in preventing sickness and death in less severe forms of hypertension.

In this context "essential" means high blood pressure of unknown cause, as distinguished as types resulting from a known disorder.

Pockets of hot water in the Red Sea register up to 133 degrees Fahrenheit, says the National Geographic.

Relieved Naval Commander Schedules Talk On Charges

A "character guidance program" that led to a charge against him is scheduled to be recreated by Navy Lt. Cmdr. Marcus A. Arnheiter at the Unitarian-Universalist Church of Marin in San Rafael Jan. 7.

Arnheiter, a San Rafael resident, is seeking to clear his record after being relieved of command of the radar picket ship Vance in waters off Vietnam in March 1966.

One of the charges that led to a Navy decision to deny him further command was that he required the crew to attend lectures with religious overtones.

Arnheiter will recreate the program that drew the chares, including such songs as "My Country Tis of Thee," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "The Navy Hymn," according to the church bulletin.

After the program, those assembled will have a chance to question Arnheiter.

Sentences Given On Drunken Driving

Peter Culkin, 41, of Cloverdale, was given a 10-day suspended jail sentence, fined $404 and placed on probation for three years in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for driving while intoxicated Oct. 23 on Highway 101.

Stanley Johnson, 52, of 66 Brushwood Lane, San Rafael, was fined $350 and placed on probation for six months for drunken driving Dec. 9 on Bridgeway, where Sausalito police arrested him.

are for the most part unarmed, U.S. officers say, and serves as a kind of manpower pool for Red forces.

The unofficial estimates published in some quarters include both the political cadre and the amorphous "secret self-defense forces."

While claiming U.S. intelligence has improved markedly, authorities concede there is still a considerable variation in the firmness of the data on which their judgments are made.

They claim U.S. intelligence is good when it comes to estimating the strength of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong regular units. The Nov. 24 official estimate placed this force, including Viet Cong local units, at 118,000 men. Since then, sources said, the estimate has declined to about 115,000.

Their estimate of 70,000 to 90,000 Viet Cong guerrillas is not as firm as in the case of the calculations of the enemy regulars.

This appears to be the trend as the analysts go down through the less identifiable levels of the enemy.

The current appraisal lists 35,000 to 40,000 Communists serving fulltime in noncombat roles such as military staffs, medical aides, supply, administration and other support.

Berkeley Gets Peace Petition

BERKELEY (AP) — A 6,500-signature petition was filed today for a Berkeley vote on an anti-Vietnam resolution similar to one which was turned down by San Franciscans last month.

Spokesmen estimated that 20 per cent of the signatures were obtained on the University of California campus.

If the signatures are certified as valid, an election will be called within 25 days.

District Court Upsets Dismissal After Trial

The California District Court of Appeal has overturned a controversial decision by Marin Municipal Judge Alvin H. Goldstein, concluding that the judge's action "amounted to an abuse of discretion."

The court ordered Judge Goldstein to vacate his order dismissing an armed robbery charge against Loverd Howard, 18, of Marin City.

Goldstein's order came June 29, after a jury had convicted Howard, of 99 Cole Drive, of the Feb. 1 armed robbery of Richard Lomax of Sausalito and Nancy Baker of Marin City.

Howard's attorney, Asst. Public Defender Harold J. Truett, had asked a new trial on grounds of sufficient evidence, but Goldstein, sitting in Superior Court, dismissed the charge altogether.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, noting it was the first time a Marin judge had dismissed a complaint after a jury's verdict of guilt, asked the appellate court for the order to vacate Goldstein's dismissal.

The court granted Bales' petition and ordered Judge Goldstein to consider the still-pending motion for a new trial.

In dismissing the charge, Goldstein had noted that, according to a U.S. Supreme Court ruling, identification of Howard at a sheriff's substation, with no lineup, constituted improper identification.

That reasoning, though, was based on an "error of law" the appellate court said, since a subsequent case held it applied only to lineups conducted after June 12, 1967.

Besides, the court said, "the prosecution would, in any case, have an opportunity on retrial to establish that the in-court decisions were not infected by the pre-trial lineup."

Goldstein, in reviewing the trial, concluded that the evidence was insufficient "to prove the defendant's guilt beyong reasonable doubt" and said the transcript of the preliminary hearing showed that the district attorney had no additional evidence to produce on retrial.

"This is an obvious non-sequitur," the appellate court said. "The prosecutor offered at the preliminary (hearing) what he felt was adequate for a holding order. . . . The jury's verdict substantiates the prosecution's view of the quantum of evidence required at trial . . .

"It would be a gross disservice to promulgate a rule which would require prosecutors to introduce all available evidence in every case. Prosecutors, like other counsel, are entitled to avoid the common error of overtrying their cases."

The court concluded that "there is no sound basis for the order of dismissal. Discretion is abused when the court exceeds the bounds of reason."

WAR

killed included 1,685 Communists, 278 government troops and 13 non-U.S. free world allied soldiers.

In other developments, U.S. spokesmen disclosed for the first time today the North Vietnamese have managed to fire Soviet-made missiles at Air Force eight-engined B52 stratofortresses. The third such attack occurred Wednesday, they said.

They said the missiles missed the giant bombers.

U.S. officials disclosed the Surface-to-Air missiles (SAMs) were fired yesterday when the B52s, each capable of dropping 30 tons of bombs, struck Communist positions just north of the North-South Vietnam border. They said a cluster of three SAMs zoomed at the high-flying Stratoforts which usually stay away from known missile sites.

They said American jet fighters promptly pounced on the SAM sites, strafing them. No B52 has been reported shot down in the war.

Further north, American pilots flew 106 missions against North Vietnam yesterday, spokesmen said. They said that for the first time in seven days heavy monsoon clouds blocked any attempt at hitting the military complex in the Hanoi area.

CAROLS

were 52 residents at the home and then went out with two boy friends last night to earn money by caroling to people in Novato.

By 7 p.m. singing "Silent Night" to people in apartments in his neighborhood, James had $3 and the other two boys had $2 each. The two friends took theirs and went home, so James went on singing "Silent Night" to people by himself. At 9 p.m., the time when he was supposed to be home, he had $5.25.

His father, John, added $1 to it, and a woman in his father's office put another $1. Less 30 cents for the bus fare into San Rafael, it made enough to buy 12 combination toilet water, bath cube and soap boxes at the dime store. By splitting up the boxes and attaching the individual items to the Christmas cards given to him at the store, he was able to make 52 individual gifts, plus enough for the nurses.

These he gave to them.

Officers Elected By Young GOP

The Marin County Young Republicans have elected Clay Barham of San Rafael as the 1968 president of the conservative organization.

Barham, executive secretary to William Penn Patrick, replaces William E. Henderscheid of Mill Valley.

Also elected by the 25 persons at the Tuesday night meeting in the county courthouse were Mrs. Carole Danks of Corte Madera, vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Badger of San Rafael, secretary; Ellen Mintz of San Anselmo, assistant secretary, and Albin Dittli of Belvedere, treasurer.

The organization says it has about 50 members in Marin County.

ill only as Shangri-La. Today the traveling White House gave no better clue to Johnson's travel plans.

There was talk of a pre-Christmas visit to U.S. troops in Vietnam. There was talk of a trip to Thailand, whose troops today scored their first major victory in Vietnam, smashing a Viet Cong attack in Saigon's suburbs.

There was more speculation about a visit to Pope Paul VI.

In the Vatican, Roman Catholic Church sources said the pontiff will discuss Vietnam and world peace if the President pays him a Christmas eve visit as speculated.

In Canberra, George Christian, the White House press secretary, said Johnson would confer separately before leaving Melbourne with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Sir Robert Menzies, an old friend and former Australian prime minister.

The traveling White House said Johnson's post-Asutralia destination would not be disclosed before takeoff.

Johnson was expected to return to Washington in time to make good his promise to spend Christmas in the White House.

CHAKER

Later he intimated that the "whole political forces of the community" had suddenly arrayed themselves against the 35-year-old doctor.

Several times Davis mentioned "the man behind the cloud in this case" and named him as Dr. Leo Wagner, chief of staff at Novato General Hospital and medical consultant to the county department of social services.

It was Wagner, he said, who ordered payment stopped on several of Dr. Chaker's claims for treating county medicare patients.

It was Wagner, he said, who visited prosecution witnesses and showed them how a throat culture is taken. Witnesses during the trial testified they never saw the doctor perform the $4 throat cultures he claimed were taken.

Dr. Wagner is one of several county physicians Dr. Chaker claims formed a "personal society" to block his right to practice.

Asking $5 million in damages, Chaker asserts in a Superior Court civil suit that the doctors excluded him from their "personal society" and taunted him as an Arab.

Chaker, born in Lebanon and now living in Shell Beach, San Luis Obispo County, is a naturalized American citizen.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Ernest C. Zunino, prosecutor in the case, told the jury yesterday the doctor should be found guilty of overcharging at least $384 in fees and as much as $776, based on billing records introduced in evidence.

A jury of 10 women and two men will decide the case.

Marin City Party

A Christmas party for the Boys Club of Southern Marin, sponsored by Friends of the Volunteer Bureau in Marin County, will be held from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the clubhouse in Marin City.

are for the most part unarmed, U.S. officers say, and serves as a kind of manpower pool for Red forces.

The unofficial estimates published in some quarters include both the political cadre and the amorphous "secret self-defense forces."

While claiming U.S. intelligence has improved markedly, authorities concede there is still a considerable variation in the firmness of the data on which their judgments are made.

They claim U.S. intelligence is good when it comes to estimating the strength of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong regular units. The Nov. 24 official estimate placed this force, including Viet Cong local units, at 118,000 men. Since then, sources said, the estimate has declined to about 115,000.

Their estimate of 70,000 to 90,000 Viet Cong guerrillas is not as firm as in the case of the calculations of the enemy regulars.

This appears to be the trend as the analysts go down through the less identifiable levels of the enemy.

The current appraisal lists 35,000 to 40,000 Communists serving fulltime in noncombat roles such as military staffs, medical aides, supply, administration and other support.

Berkeley Gets Peace Petition

BERKELEY (AP) — A 6,500-signature petition was filed today for a Berkeley vote on an anti-Vietnam resolution similar to one which was turned down by San Franciscans last month.

Spokesmen estimated that 20 per cent of the signatures were obtained on the University of California campus.

If the signatures are certified as valid, an election will be called within 25 days.

District Court Upsets Dismissal After Trial

The California District Court of Appeal has overturned a controversial decision by Marin Municipal Judge Alvin H. Goldstein, concluding that the judge's action "amounted to an abuse of discretion."

The court ordered Judge Goldstein to vacate his order dismissing an armed robbery charge against Loverd Howard, 18, of Marin City.

Goldstein's order came June 29, after a jury had convicted Howard, of 99 Cole Drive, of the Feb. 1 armed robbery of Richard Lomax of Sausalito and Nancy Baker of Marin City.

Howard's attorney, Asst. Public Defender Harold J. Truett, had asked a new trial on grounds of sufficient evidence, but Goldstein, sitting in Superior Court, dismissed the charge altogether.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, noting it was the first time a Marin judge had dismissed a complaint after a jury's verdict of guilt, asked the appellate court for the order to vacate Goldstein's dismissal.

The court granted Bales' petition and ordered Judge Goldstein to consider the still-pending motion for a new trial.

In dismissing the charge, Goldstein had noted that, according to a U.S. Supreme Court ruling, identification of Howard at a sheriff's substation, with no lineup, constituted improper identification.

That reasoning, though, was based on an "error of law" the appellate court said, since a subsequent case held it applied only to lineups conducted after June 12, 1967.

Besides, the court said, "the prosecution would, in any case, have an opportunity on retrial to establish that the in-court decisions were not infected by the pre-trial lineup."

Goldstein, in reviewing the trial, concluded that the evidence was insufficient "to prove the defendant's guilt beyong reasonable doubt" and said the transcript of the preliminary hearing showed that the district attorney had no additional evidence to produce on retrial.

"This is an obvious non- sequitur," the appellate court said. "The prosecutor offered at the preliminary (hearing) what he felt was adequate for a holding order. . . . The jury's verdict substantiates the prosecution's view of the quantum of evidence required at trial . . .

"It would be a gross disservice to promulgate a rule which would require prosecutors to introduce all available evidence in every case. Prosecutors, like other counsel, are entitled to avoid the common error of overtrying their cases."

The court concluded that "there is no sound basis for the order of dismissal. Discretion is abused when the court exceeds the bounds of reason."

WAR

killed included 1,685 Communists, 278 government troops and 13 non-U.S. free world allied soldiers.

In other developments, U.S. spokesmen disclosed for the first time today the North Vietnamese have managed to fire Soviet-made missiles at Air Force eight-engined B52 stratofortresses. The third such attack occurred Wednesday, they said.

They said the missiles missed the giant bombers.

U.S. officials disclosed the Surface-to-Air missiles (SAMs) were fired yesterday when the B52s, each capable of dropping 30 tons of bombs, struck Communist positions just north of the North-South Vietnam border. They said a cluster of three SAMs zoomed at the high-flying Stratoforts which usually stay away from known missile sites.

They said American jet fighters promptly pounced on the SAM sites, strafing them. No B52 has been reported shot down in the war.

Further north, American pilots flew 106 missions against North Vietnam yesterday, spokesmen said. They said that for the first time in seven days heavy monsoon clouds blocked any attempt at hitting the military complex in the Hanoi area.

CAROLS

were 52 residents at the home and then went out with two boy friends last night to earn money by caroling to people in Novato.

By 7 p.m. singing "Silent Night" to people in apartments in his neighborhood, James had $3 and the other two boys had $2 each. The two friends took theirs and went home, so James went on singing "Silent Night" to people by himself. At 9 p.m., the time when he was supposed to be home, he had $5.25.

His father, John, added $1 to it, and a woman in his father's office put another $1. Less 30 cents for the bus fare into San Rafael, it made enough to buy 12 combination toilet water, bath cube and soap boxes at the dime store. By splitting up the boxes and attaching the individual items to the Christmas cards given to him at the store, he was able to make 52 individual gifts, plus enough for the nurses.

These he gave to them.

Officers Elected By Young GOP

The Marin County Young Republicans have elected Clay Barham of San Rafael as the 1968 president of the conservative organization.

Barham, executive secretary to William Penn Patrick, replaces William E. Henderscheid of Mill Valley.

Also elected by the 25 persons at the Tuesday night meeting in the county courthouse were Mrs. Carole Danks of Corte Madera, vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Badger of San Rafael, secretary; Ellen Mintz of San Anselmo, assistant secretary, and Albin Dittli of Belvedere, treasurer.

The organization says it has about 50 members in Marin County.

ill only as Shangri-La. Today the traveling White House gave no better clue as to Johnson's travel plans.

There was talk of a pre-Christmas visit to U.S. troops in Vietnam. There was talk of a trip to Thailand, whose troops today scored their first major victory in Vietnam, smashing a Viet Cong attack in Saigon's suburbs.

There was more speculation about a visit to Pope Paul VI.

In the Vatican, Roman Catholic Church sources said the pontiff will discuss Vietnam and world peace if the President pays him a Christmas eve visit as speculated.

In Canberra, George Christian, the White House press secretary, said Johnson would confer separately before leaving Melbourne with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Sir Robert Menzies, an old friend and former Australian prime minister.

The traveling White House said Johnson's post-Asutralia destination would not be disclosed before takeoff.

Johnson was expected to return to Washington in time to make good his promise to spend Christmas in the White House.

ple really behind this case."

Later he intimated that the "whole political forces of the community" had suddenly arrayed themselves against the 35-year-old doctor.

Several times Davis mentioned "the man behind the cloud in this case" and named him as Dr. Leo Wagner, chief of staff at Novato General Hospital and medical consultant to the county department of social services.

It was Wagner, he said, who ordered payment stopped on several of Dr. Chaker's claims for treating county medicare patients.

It was Wagner, he said, who visited prosecution witnesses and showed them how a throat culture is taken. Witnesses during the trial testified they never saw the doctor perform the $4 throat cultures he claimed were taken.

Dr. Wagner is one of several county physicians Dr. Chaker claims formed a "personal society" to block his right to practice.

Asking $5 million in damages, Chaker asserts in a Superior Court civil suit that the doctors excluded him from their "personal society" and taunted him as an Arab.

Chaker, born in Lebanon and now living in Shell Beach, San Luis Obispo County, is a naturalized American citizen.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Ernest C. Zunino, prosecutor in the case, told the jury yesterday the doctor should be found guilty of overcharging at least $384 in fees and as much as $776, based on billing records introduced in evidence.

A jury of 10 women and two men will decide the case.

Non-Resident Rec Fees Up In San Rafael

Non-resident participants in programs of the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department will be charged $2 more per activity than residents, beginning in January.

The winter program of some 30 activities, for young and old, will begin the week of January 8.

Park and recreation directors voted 4-0 last night to impose the non-resident fee. Activity charges vary. Non-residents will pay $2 more than regular fees or, if an activity is offered without charge, non-residents will be charged $2, Andrew J. Snyder Jr., recreation director, explained.

Commissioner Dino Ghilotti was absent from last night's meeting at city hall. The next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Jan. 31.

The commission also nominated chairman Charles L. Tacchi and the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce for the annual recreation awards of the California Parks and Recreation Society, and heard landscaping work will begin next week at Manuel Freitas Parkway and Las Pavadas Avenue, Terra Linda, and will begin later at the parkway intersection with Las Gallinas Avenue.

Garrison Accuses Californian In JFK Plot; Suspect Denies All

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison was reported today trying to arrange the arrest in California of Edgar Eugene Bradley, the second person he has formally charged with conspiring to assassinate President John F. Kennedy.

In North Hollywood, Bradley denied any connection with the assassination and said he was shocked at Garrison's action.

'I KNOW NOTHING'

He told a television station (WVUE) here in a telephone interview that "I know nothing about what he is talking about." He expressed surprised that "a man will come out and ruin the reputation of somebody who has no involvement."

Bradley also told a California radio station (KCBS) he had never been in Dallas nor New Orleans before in his life until the spring of this year.

"I drove through there on my vacation last March or April and that was the first time I've ever been there (in Dallas)," he said. "I know that he has nothing," Bradley said of Garrison's charges. "I know that I've never done anything that I've been ashamed of." He said it might be another 'Gene Bradley'.

EDGAR EUGENE BRADLEY
Charged by Garrison

WHERE WAS HE?

Asked where he was on the day of the assassination, Bradley said he was traveling across the country on a bus when he heard the news. Asked where the bus was, he paused and said, "El Paso (Tex.)."

Bradley was identified as West Coast representative of Dr. Carl McIntire, president of the International Council of Churches which has its headquarters at Collingswood, N.J.

McIntire is currently in difficulty over the renewal of a license for a Media, Pa., radio station because several groups have said his radio program is anti-Negro and anti-Semitic.

THOUGHT 'A JOKE'

Bradley was playing host to a Bible study class from his church at his home when he heard the news that Garrison had filed charges against him. He said at first he thought the charges were a "joke."

Garrison filed a bill of particulars yesterday charging that Bradley "did willfully and unlawfully conspire with others to murder John F. Kennedy."

Garrison's office would not provide any other information about Bradley, nor the "others" mentioned in the charge.

Attorneys for Clay L. Shaw, the other man charged with conspiring to assassinate the President, said they had never heard of Bradley. Neither had New Orleans newsmen.

Former Accessor Seeks Review Of Bribe Conviction

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Former Assessor Russell L. Wolden has asked the California Supreme Court to take "a second penetrating look" at his conviction for accepting bribes.

Wolden's attorney, James Martin MacInnis, filed a 113-page petition with the court yesterday asking for a reversal.

The conviction of the former San Francisco assessor on eight counts of bribery and one of conspiracy was recently upheld by the Court of Appeal.

"It is not our office to criticize the Court of Appeal for the paucity of detail represented by its existing decision: No court must pattern its holding upon the syllogisms of lawyers," said the long brief.

"But the Wolden case is as important to the community as to the convicted defendant."

Dixie Trustees Ask State For School Building Cash

Trustees of the Dixie School District last night authorized the sale of $365,000 in bonds and voted to apply for $149,000 in state funds to build an addition at Oak View School.

Supt. Dennie B. Willis explained revenue from the bond sale would be used to pay off district debts to the state school building fund.

The trustees met last night at Miller Creek School and accepted the recommendation of the board-appointed finance study group that the district remain on the state school building aid program. Raymond Lampe Jr., chairman of the study group, made his recommendations in an oral report to the trustees.

He also remommended that up to $175,000 from district general funds be used to provide leased portable structures to meet classroom needs.

"We have about six portable structures in use now, and will probably need a couple more next year," Willis said.

The addition at Oak View School would include four classrooms and conference rooms. Cost, including fees and site development, will be close to $149,000, Willis said.

Dixie School District Trustees Also:

PERSONNEL — Granted maternity leave to Mrs. Ada Gray, first grade teacher at Santa Margarita School; accepted the resignation of Mrs. Annemarie Hamberger, third grade teacher at Dixie School, and authorized a contract with Mrs. Wilma Poynter to replace Mrs. Hamberger for the rest of the school year.

DONATIONS — Accepted a refrigerator donated by Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. McCord for use in Bernard Hoffman School, and tape recorders, pens and drapes donated to Don Timoteo School by the Parent-Teacher Association.

A 16-year-old Corte Madera boy was taken to Juvenile Hall yesterday by sheriff's deputies after being found at the Tiburon Peninsula Club, smoking what appeared to be a marijuna cigarette.

Deputy John O. Goff reported he also found seeds and vegetation of what looked like marijuana in the boy's car at 8:45 p.m.

Grand Jury Asks City Aide Firing In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The grand jury has called for dismissal of Civil Service Commission Director George J. Grubb.

The panel also recommended yesterday that commission members William Kilpatrick and Yori Wada resign.

The jury referred to "shocking" testimony by commissioners, "substantiating the presence of bad management in many phases, and general incompetence."

The report also charged that the commission is more than 300 examinations behind in procedures to create lists of eligible jobholders for work now being done by temporary employees.

Grubb declared, "We're under staffed." He said San Francisco's civil service staff is only half as large as those of other public agencies in the state in proportion to the number of jobs it supervises.

Kilpatrick and Wada declared they would not resign. And, Kilpatrick said, "We're not going to fire Grubb." Both commissioners contended the grand jury report was rather vague.

Woman Reports Attack; Sausalito Nabs Sailor Trio

Three sailors from the aircraft carrier Hancock were booked into Marin County Jail early today after an Oakland woman charged they abducted her in San Francisco and raped her in Sausalito.

Held without bail on suspicion of rape to appear in Marin Municipal Court today were Ronald Merrill Cornwell, 22; Felix Ernest Magee, 21, and Theodore Duane Gilliand, 19, all crew members of the Hancock, docked at Hunters Point.

The arrests came at 4 a.m. after Sausalito Police Sgt. R. D. Malkin, patroling along Rodeo Avenue, started to investigate a parked car. The woman jumped from the car, ran to Malkin and said she had been raped.

She told police she had been visiting friends in San Francisco and was walking to the bus station at 1:45 a.m. when two men jumped from a car, grabbed her and thrust her into the car, then drove to Sausalito. She said she was threatened with a screwdriver.

According to police, the woman said Gilliand was the only one who raped her, but the other two were also held for investigation of rape under the law in which accessories to a felony can also be charged with the felony.

The sailors did not resist arrest and made no statement to police, police said.

Guilty Plea To Forgery

Richard Paul Ledger, 34, of Washington, D.C., pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to two charges of forging payroll checks stolen last year from the Marin County Day School in Corte Madera.

He is to appear Jan. 22 for sentencing.

The checks were cashed for $118 at the Original Fourth Street Liquors and $167.85 at George's Recreation Bar, both in San Rafael.

Non-Resident Rec Fees Up In San Rafael

Non-resident participants in programs of the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department will be charged $2 more per activity than residents, beginning in January.

The winter program of some 30 activities, for young and old, will begin the week of January 8.

Park and recreation directors voted 4-0 last night to impose the non-resident fee. Activity charges vary. Non-residents will pay $2 more than regular fees or, if an activity is offered without charge, non-residents will be charged $2, Andrew J. Snyder Jr., recreation director, explained.

Commissioner Dino Ghilotti was absent from last night's meeting at city hall. The next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Jan. 31.

Snow-Stricken Arizona Tribe Fills Reservation Hospitals

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (UPI) —The newborn and the elderly —sick feverish and pneumonia-stricken — today filled Navajo Indian reservation hospitals to near-capacity.

Air Force rescue units, which dropped 50,000 pounds of food and medicine on the snow-bound reservation yesterday planned to distribute even more supplies today to an estimated 50,000 stranded Indians as the second snow-free day was predicted.

Three babies—including twins nicknamed Snow and Ice—were born in the midst of the rescue operation that evacuated 11 Navajos to the Fort Defiance Hospital yesterday.

But the life-death balance was on death's side, four babies died in the storm along with an elderly sheepherder, and the toll was feared even higher because of zero-degree temperatures that aggravated the tendency to respiratory ailments among the members of America's largest Indian tribe.

To Superior Court

Judy Ann Wells, 24, of 2 Oak Avenue, San Rafael, charged with forging a $25 check July 29 to defraud Montgomery Ward's in Corte Madera, has been ordered to appear in Superior Court Jan. 2 following a preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court.

Dove Asking Equal Time; Blasts LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy says President Johnson misunderstands opponents of the Vietnam war and compounded confusion over the issue in his television-radio interview this week.

The Minnesota Democrat, who says he'll run as an antiwar candidate in several 1968 presidential primaries, issued a statement yesterday asking for equal time from the three major networks carrying the presidential interview on Tuesday night.

NO COMMENT

The networks had no immediate comment.

McCarthy disagreed with what he called Johnson's suggestion he's power hungry or a conspirator working for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., another war policy critic.

"I think the President misunderstands me and greatly misunderstands what is troubling so many decent Americans," McCarthy said. He added the Johnson interview "only compounds the confusion of the administration's objectives in this ever-widening struggle."

LBJ STATEMENT

Johnson, asked during the interview to comment on speculation that McCarthy is running just to generate support for Kennedy, replied: "I do know of the interest of both of them in the presidency and the ambition of both of them," but said he didn't know just what they would do or whether they would act in concert.

McCarthy denied "I am challenging him for the presidency because of some sort of ambition for power on my part, or, alternatively, that I am engaged in a conspiracy."

Kennedy, on a skiing holiday in Sun Valley, hasn't been available for comment on the Johnson interview.

McCarthy and Kennedy aren't the only Democrats opposed to Johnson's Vietnam policy, according to a survey by the Charleston (W.Va.) Gazette.

The newspaper said today it polled more than 2,800 delegates to the 1964 Democratic national convention and replies from more than 900 showed only 45.7 percent supported the President's war policy, with opinions about equally divided between those favoring a stepped-up war and those opposed to the war.

Diver Predicts Long Bridge Body Search

POINT PEASANT, W. Va. (UPI)—A veteran diver said today it may take a month to clear the wreckage of the Silver Bridge from the bottom of the Ohio River. President Johnson ordered an investigation of the collapse and a survey of the nation's bridges.

"We must prevent similar tragedies elsewhere in the nation," the President said.

Divers and local rescue units, working along with giant cranes and dredges, have removed 30 bodies from the river near the bridge, which collapsed Friday. The 30th victim, Thomas H. Lee, 55, Gallipolis, Ohio, a window washer, was recovered in an automobile dredged up early today.

Thirteen boats manned by volunteer firemen put out in the river to grapple for bodies this morning despite a steady rain which hampered recovery operations nightlong.

State police, who earlier feared as many as 80 died, said about 25 still were missing.

"This is a very gruesome job," said William Burns, 40, of New Orleans. "The biggest problem is you can't see anything when you go down and there's a chance of becoming tangled in the steel which is constantly shifting.

"The bridge appears to have fallen upside down on the cars. It appears these cars are in a bird cage. This is one job that may take a month. It's the worst I've ever seen."

Thirteen divers, wearing hard hats and working in 12 hour shifts, used underwater torches to cut through the twisted metal, then moved out, while cranes with clamshell scoops lifted the free pieces and dropped them onto barges.

National Guardsmen, using amphibious ducks, shuttled between the barges and the river bank with bodies. eight were pulled out Wednesday.

Col. William Falck of the Army Corps of Engineers said the work would be continued around the clock "including Christmas eve."

While the divers worked on the bridge structure in the 60-foot deep main channel, volunteer boats using grappling hooks dragged the river below the site of the collapse.

What To Name Baby Aardvark?

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Three months after her birth, Crandon Park's baby aardvark has a name. The long-nosed, badly wrinkled little animal will be known as Aardy.

Zoo officials chose the name from 1,405 entries submitted in a nationwide contest. The winning entry was submitted by a Miami ninth grader, Jackie Edmond.

Aardy is the second aardvark born in captivity, and the first born in captivity, and the first ever in the Western Hemisphere.

NEW STAMPS OFF THE PRESSES

Millions of new stamps are on their way to post offices around the nation for new, higher mailing rates which go into effect on Jan. 7. At the Bureau of Printing and Engraving in Washington D.C., the six-cent Franklin D. Roosevelt stamp (foreground), which will become the new basic first class postage stamp, and the new one-cent Thomas Jefferson stamp, are assembled into books. (UPI Telephoto)

Snow-Stricken Arizona Tribe Fills Reservation Hospitals

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (UPI) —The newborn and the elderly —sick feverish and pneumonia-stricken — today filled Navajo Indian reservation hospitals to near-capacity.

Air Force rescue units, which dropped 50,000 pounds of food and medicine on the snow-bound reservation yesterday planned to distribute even more supplies today to an estimated 50,000 stranded Indians as the second snow-free day was predicted.

Three babies—including twins nicknamed Snow and Ice—were born in the midst of the rescue operation that evacuated 11 Navajos to the Fort Defiance Hospital yesterday.

But the life-death balance was on death's side, four babies died in the storm along with an elderly sheepherder, and the toll was feared even higher because of zero-degree temperatures that aggravated the tendency to respiratory ailments among the members of America's largest Indian tribe.

To Superior Court

Judy Ann Wells, 24, of 2 Oak Avenue, San Rafael, charged with forging a $25 check July 29 to defraud Montgomery Ward's in Corte Madera, has been ordered to appear in Superior Court Jan. 2 following a preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court.

Dove Asking Equal Time; Blasts LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy says President Johnson misunderstands opponents of the Vietnam war and compounded confusion over the issue in his television-radio interview this week.

The Minnesota Democrat, who says he'll run as an antiwar candidate in several 1968 presidential primaries, issued a statement yesterday asking for equal time from the three major networks carrying the presidential interview on Tuesday night.

NO COMMENT

The networks had no immediate comment.

McCarthy disagreed with what he called Johnson's suggestion he's power hungry or a conspirator working for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., another war policy critic.

"I think the President misunderstands me and greatly misunderstands what is troubling so many decent Americans," McCarthy said. He added the Johnson interview "only compounds the confusion of the administration's objectives in this ever-widening struggle."

LBJ STATEMENT

Johnson, asked during the interview to comment on speculation that McCarthy is running just to generate support for Kennedy, replied: "I do know of the interest of both of them in the presidency and the ambition of both of them," but said he didn't know just what they would do or whether they would act in concert.

McCarthy denied "I am challenging him for the presidency because of some sort of ambition for power on my part, or, alternatively, that I am engaged in a conspiracy."

Kennedy, on a skiing holiday in Sun Valley, hasn't been available for comment on the Johnson interview.

McCarthy and Kennedy aren't the only Democrats opposed to Johnson's Vietnam policy, according to a survey by the Charleston (W.Va.) Gazette.

The newspaper said today it polled more than 2,800 delegates to the 1964 Democratic national convention and replies from more than 900 showed only 45.7 percent supported the President's war policy, with opinions about equally divided between those favoring a stepped-up war and those opposed to the war.

Diver Predicts Long Bridge Body Search

POINT PEASANT, W. Va. (UPI)—A veteran diver said today it may take a month to clear the wreckage of the Silver Bridge from the bottom of the Ohio River. President Johnson ordered an investigation of the collapse and a survey of the nation's bridges.

"We must prevent similar tragedies elsewhere in the nation," the President said.

Divers and local rescue units, working along with giant cranes and dredges, have removed 30 bodies from the river near the bridge, which collapsed Friday. The 30th victim, Thomas H. Lee, 55, Gallipolis, Ohio, a window washer, was recovered in an automobile dredged up early today.

Thirteen boats manned by volunteer firemen put out in the river to grapple for bodies this morning despite a steady rain which hampered recovery operations nightlong.

State police, who earlier feared as many as 80 died, said about 25 still were missing.

"This is a very gruesome job," said William Burns, 40, of New Orleans. "The biggest problem is you can't see anything when you go down and there's a chance of becoming tangled in the steel which is constantly shifting.

"The bridge appears to have fallen upside down on the cars. It appears these cars are in a bird cage. This is one job that may take a month. It's the worst I've ever seen."

Thirteen divers, wearing hard hats and working in 12 hour shifts, used underwater torches to cut through the twisted metal, then moved out, while cranes with clamshell scoops lifted the free pieces and dropped them onto barges.

National Guardsmen, using amphibious ducks, shuttled between the barges and the river bank with bodies, eight were pulled out Wednesday.

Col. William Falck of the Army Corps of Engineers said the work would be continued around the clock "including Christmas eve."

While the divers worked on the bridge structure in the 60-foot deep main channel, volunteer boats using grappling hooks dragged the river below the site of the collapse.

Raids Net Hippies, Big Haul Of Drugs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Narcotics officers picked up 25 hippies and large quantities of drugs yesterday in two raids in the Haight-Ashbury district.

The officers said they recovered several thousand dollars worth of marijuana, LSD and methamphetamine in the raids which were initiated by an informant's tip.

Part of the drugs were thought to have been stolen earlier this week from a known peddler. The alleged thief told police he intended selling the drugs to buy Christmas presents for his five children.

The first raid netted 19 persons, including Edward Crawford, 21, of Berkeley who was slightly injured when he tried to prevent the officers from entering the apartment.

Arrested in the second raid was Gerald E. Nally, 21, who officers said was busy capping several hundred LSD tablets when they entered. Six other persons were arrested in the apartment with Nally.

The arrested hippies sang Christmas carols while enroute to jail in police vans.

Valentine cards may be sent to Valentine, Neb., to be postmarked and resent on Feb. 14.

Hershey Drops Draft Bomb Before Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey, backed by powerful allies on Capitol Hill, contends that only Congress or the courts can force him to drop his get-tough policy toward antiwar demonstrators.

In effect, the 74-year-old Selective Service chief claims that all he is doing is carrying out the intent of Congress. Anyone who thinks differently, he says, need only persuade Congress to overrule him or the courts to declare his actions unlawful.

In a letter yesterday to Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., Hershey reminded his principal Congressional antagonist that if Moss disagrees with his interpretation of the draft law he is in a from introducing an amendment that will have the law clearly state your interpretation," he wrote the California lawmaker.

But Moss, of Sacramento, reached at his Sacramento, Calif., office, declared that Hershey's letter "illustrates the very confused thinking" of the draft chief.

"There is no need for any additional law," Moss said. "Hershey clearly does not have authority (to direct that antiwar demonstrators be reclassified) and neither do local boards."

The American Civil Liberties Union is leading a court effort to bar Hershey or anyone else in the Selective Service System from implementing his directive. It contends the issue centers on an attempt to stifle dissent.

In an increasingly heated exchange of letters, now numbering 10, Moss has tried without success to get Hershey to explain to his satisfaction the legal basis for his policy.

The California Democrat, a deputy whip in the House leadership and chairman of the Government Information Subcommittee, has threatened to bring Hershey before his panel to produce the "information" he has requested.

Diners Seriously Burned By Flaming Dessert Explosion

SANTA CLARA, (UPI)—Two persons were seriously burned when a flaming dessert exploded during a restaurant dinner party last night.

The fire erupted when a waitress poured brandy onto a fried cream dessert which apparently was already burning. The flames ran up the brandy stream to the nearly full bottle which exploded.

Witnesses said the resulting fireball caught the clothes of Mrs. Brigitta Swatosh, 42, of Los Altos. She ran screaming from the table but other diners caught her and smothered the flames.

Her husband, Robert, 51, was also seriously burned. Both were taken to a San Jose hospital with burns of the face, arms and upper chest.

The waitress suffered hand cuts from the exploding bottle.

Police said six other couples were seated at the table with the injured couple.

Plea Of Innocent To Drug Charges

John Allen Acree, 20, of 209 Cardinal Road, Tamalpais Valley, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge he possessed marijuana Nov. 25 when sheriff's deputies arrested him on traffic warrants.

Preliminary hearing on the charge was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Dec. 26.

IT'S A CHRISTMAS TREE, BELIEVE IT OR NOT

This dazzling Christmas tree (right) at Montreal's Palace Ville Marie is made from nothing but hoops and strings of lights attached at the top and held out at the bottom by hoops. At left the photographer stood underneath the tree to capture the unusual assemblage of rings and lights.

Raids Net Hippies, Big Haul Of Drugs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Narcotics officers picked up 25 hippies and large quantities of drugs yesterday in two raids in the Haight-Ashbury district.

The officers said they recovered several thousand dollars worth of marijuana, LSD and methamphetamine in the raids which were initiated by an informant's tip.

Part of the drugs were thought to have been stolen earlier this week from a known peddler. The alleged thief told police he intended selling the drugs to buy Christmas presents for his five children.

The first raid netted 19 persons, including Edward Crawford, 21, of Berkeley who was slightly injured when he tried to prevent the officers from entering the apartment.

Arrested in the second raid was Gerald E. Nally, 21, who officers said was busy capping several hundred LSD tablets when they entered. Six other persons were arrested in the apartment with Nally.

The arrested hippies sang Christmas carols while enroute to jail in police vans.

Valentine cards may be sent to Valentine, Neb., to be postmarked and resent on Feb. 14.

Hanoi Returns Yule Gifts For Prisoners

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Vietnam has curdy returned 231 Christmas packages sent by wives and parents to American fighting men held prisoner by Hanoi, the Pentagon announced today.

Daniel Z. Henkin, a member of the Defense Department's Prisoner of War Policy Committee, told newsmen the 231 packages reached North Vietnam through international postal channels and were returned the same way bearing the "curt notation, 'refused by the postal service of North Vietnam.'"

"The persistent refusal of the Hanoi government to deliver Christmas parcels is another shocking manifestation of callous disregard for the rights of prisoners of war under the Geneva Convention," Henkin said.

Henkin noted the same thing happened last year.

"If there had been hopes that the Hanoi regime would act with humanitarian consideration for the prisoners of war it holds and for their loved ones at this holiday season, these hopes have been dashed," he said.

In one group of 37 returned packages, Henkin said, two had missing items, including cigarettes, tobacco, gum, and candy.

Asked whether the pilfering was done "by them or by us," Henkin replied: "I don't know."

He said scores of other packages have been sent to North Vietnam by American families of war prisoners and that it appears now they are likely to be returned by Hanoi.

Sleepy Novato Driver Injured

A Novato man escaped serious injury early today when his car overturned on Highway 101 in Novato.

Jerry Bezenek, 31, of 38 Lambert Way, apparently fell asleep while driving northbound on the highway, one-quarter mile south of Lamont Avenue, said his car drifted into the center divider and hit a guard rail, then veered back across the northbound lanes, struck another guard rail and rolled over, the California Highway Patrol reported. Tha accident happened at 7:15 a.m.

Bezenek was being treated at Novato General Hospital for a cut over his right eye and bruises on his chest and left elbow.

Mother Accused Of Shoplifting

A 20-year-old San Rafael woman was booked into county jail last night for investigation of stealing $35 worth of clothes from Montgomery Ward and Co. at Corte Madera shopping center.

Police said Mrs. Jimmie Juanita Green of 3550 Redwood Highway, was arrested about 9:15 p.m. by store security officers, who said she placed the items under her baby in her arms, then transferred them to a large bag.

Mrs. Green was released on $315 bail and scheduled for a Marin Municipal Court appearance today.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

High Grade Holdings Need Little Change

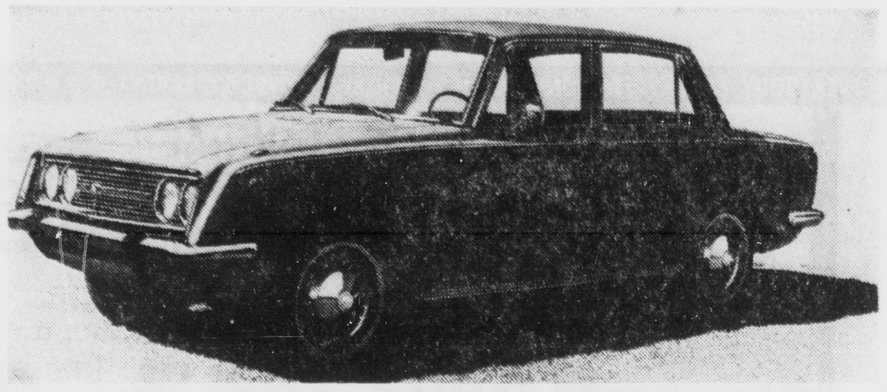
By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I need advice very badly. My former adviser passed away and now I am fearful, since my sight and hearing are deteriorating rapidly. We have a small pension and the list of stocks enclosed. Should we keep this list as is or do you recommend changes? — R. R.

A. I should first like to offer my sincere sympathy on your health problems and then assure you that you own an excellent list of stocks. Your mutual funds are about average in performance, but the yield appears satisfactory and I would hold them. Your utilities, particularly Arizona Public Service, Commonwealth Edison and Kentucky Utilities, are among the best, but are relatively depressed and I would certainly retain them at current levels. Corn Products has seen growth slowdown this year because of rising costs, but the yield at current levels is 4.5 per cent and this is still a high-grade stock. Valley National Bank is one of the best such situations in the Rockies and I advise you to hold, unless the current yield of 2.5 per cent is too low for you. In that event, I would switch this stock into Marine Midland, yielding 4.5 per cent. Your L. S. Starrett offers a return of less than 3 per cent and I advise you to exchange this issue for Stewart-Warner, providing equal security and a yield of 5.5 per cent. Otherwise, I think you need consider no changes in your holdings.

Q. I purchased 100 Noramco in January, 1966, at 6⅜. I hear that this stock is worthless. Whom can I contact for any information about the company? — H. W.

A. Your company is in bankruptcy and the shares have been delisted from the American Exchange. They are quoted 10 cents bid over-the-counter, but at this level you have little to gain by selling. For information, you might try writing to the company at 217 Wisconsin Ave., Waukesha, Wis.



1968 TOYOTA CORONA SPORTS SEDAN

Only slight grille, dashboard and rear light assembly changes from last year's model are featured in the new Corona four-door sports sedan. The 1968 model carries the same 90-horsepower, 1,900-cc engine as in 1967. New cars are now on sale in Marin at Hil Probert Motors, Larkspur, and Novato Chrysler Plymouth Toyota, Inc., Novato.

Power Line Opposed By State Office

The California Aeronautics Commission has protested plans to construct a 230,000-volt electric line on 141-foot high towers northwest of Hamilton Air Force Base.

In a letter to the Federal Aviation Agency, which solicited public opinion on the proposal a month ago, the aeronautics group noted in mild wording that it would not like to have the use of the Air Force field threatened because of its possilbe future use as a civilian air base.

Pacific Gas and Electric Co. proposes to construct the towers and line from a substation in Ignacio, east of Highway 101 and south of Highway 37, eastward along the south of Highway 37 to Simonds Slough and then northeast to Atherton Avenue.

Fred J. Boeste, chief project officer in the air traffic branch of the FAA Burlingame office, said FAA officials would make a determination in two to three weeks on whether the towers would be a hazard to flights. Deadline for public comment on the project was Tuesday.

Live Christmas Scene On Display

A pantomime of the Christmas story, complete with live animals, is being presented in front of the First Baptist Church at 285 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

Power Line Opposed By State Office

The California Aeronautics Commission has protested plans to construct a 230,000-volt electric line on 141-foot high towers northwest of Hamilton Air Force Base.

In a letter to the Federal Aviation Agency, which solicited public opinion on the proposal a month ago, the aeronautics group noted in mild wording that it would not like to have the use of the Air Force field threatened because of its possilbe future use as a civilian air base.

Pacific Gas and Electric Co. proposes to construct the towers and line from a substation in Ignacio, east of Highway 101 and south of Highway 37, eastward along the south of Highway 37 to Simonds Slough and then northeast to Atherton Avenue.

Fred J. Boeste, chief project officer in the air traffic branch of the FAA Burlingame office, said FAA officials would make a determination in two to three weeks on whether the towers would be a hazard to flights. Deadline for public comment on the project was Tuesday.

Debutantes representing cities all over the country were invited to curtsy at the Opera Ball. Included in the Michaels' party at the Houston affair were Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Vandever of Oklahoma City, Okla. LEADING WOMEN ASKED

What Would You Do As President?

Leading American women, asked "what would you do if you were President?", revealed today in a series of statements that many would pull U.S. troops out of Vietnam.

Articles by women distinguished in politics, writing and the arts, published in the current issue of McCall's, also turned up views that women are not equipped to be Chief Executive.

The Vietnam "doves," however, were quite outspoken about what they would do if President. Commented Representative Martha Griffiths (D., Mich.), the only woman on the powerful House Ways and Means Committee:

"I would call up Ho Chi Minh and tell him that we're pulling our troops out, because we have to take care of our problems at home. All the men would shake their heads and say, 'That's the kind of fool thing you'd expect from a woman.' But a woman could get away with it."

MAINE REPUBLICAN Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, the only woman who has actually been a potential candidate for the Presidency, also made ending the war one of her first Presidential chores, but added:

"I feel that I still don't know enough to describe an honorable way out of this situation. We should't miss any opportunity to settle the conflict. Yet I don't think that stopping the bombing is the answer."

WRITER BETTY FRIEDAN, a crusader for equality for women, echoed Rep. Griffiths' opinion, saying, "Any woman who ever did manage to reach the Presidency would have to be a person of enormous integrity. If she believed, as I do, that the Vietnam chapter of our history is shameful and intolerable, she would have the courage to say so and to take the consequences."

COMMENTED NOVELIST Ayn Rand: "I would not want to be President and would not vote for a woman President. A woman cannot reasonably want to be a commander-in-chief."

FOLK SINGER JOAN BAEZ: "I would not be President because I believe that power corrupts. My solution to the war in Vietnam is perfectly simple. We got into it unilaterally. We can get out unilaterally."

ACTRESS LAUREN BACALL asserted "we have no business" in Vietnam. "We're killing American boys and a lot of innocent people. Why should the United States run other people's lives when we can't keep our own house in order?"

Miss Bacall said she would "try to form a Cabinet composed of men who would have that spark, that wit, that appeal to youth that John F. Kennedy possessed. Katie Hepburn is the only woman I can think of for my Cabinet," she added, "because she's a realist, with more character than anyone I've ever met."

WRITER DIANA TRILLING, commented, "The Vietnam war has to be ended. It's a mistaken war. Of course I'm glad that I'm not the President and therefore don't have to make the decision about how to end it. I assume there would have to be some kind of gradual withdrawal."

MARGARET TRUMAN DANIEL, daughter of former President Harry S. Truman, who has seen at first hand the trials of bing Chief Executive, said:

"Nothing could induce me to take the job . . . I do not believe a woman belongs there. Women are too emotional for the Presidency. Women are not sufficiently logical. A woman looks at life passionately and personally".

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Junior Playboy Uncorks His Line, Champagne Bottle At Drive-In

DEAR HELEN:

Thank you, thank you for those warnings about when it's a line and when it's love. They came just in time. My college man took me to a drive-in that night and produced a bottle of champagne. I'll admit I got a little zonked. It was the first time I'd tried champagne and it sneaks up on you. He might have persuaded me this was "our big beautiful blinding love and why fight it?" except I remembered what you said and told him that after only two dates it is more likely just a sex contest.

So I drank his champagne and giggled a bit and kept my head even though it was floating. He hasn't been back since. He wouldn't have if I'd fallen for his line either. I learned later I was just another experience to him. — THE SCALP THAT GOT AWAY

DEAR SCALP:

So glad you were wise to this junior playboy, though for sure he won't nominate me as columnist of the year.

Anyway, this schemer gets points for class. Champagne at a drive-in! Wow! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I feel for that boy whose father nagged him about being fat. I was a big girl and my older sister was small for her age. Because we were the same size, my parents harped at me not to eat this or that because I'd become a fat slob and nobody would like me.

I started to sneak goodies. I hated being watched, so I wouldn't eat much at the table, but I'd stuff myself when I was alone. Well, I ended up being fat and unhappy. All I thought about was how fat I was. I fed my misery and it made me more miserable.

Now the happy ending. I've been married six months and have lost 25 pounds. My wonderful husband said he'd love me even if he had to widen the doors. I can promise you that will never happen. Because of his attitude, I'm relaxed and not nervous anymore, and I don't need solitary eating.

It's too bad I blamed my folks because I see now they were only trying to help. I hope you print this so that other parents can get a closer look at what they might be doing to their children. — MRS. M. C. M.

DEAR HELEN:

About the girl whose pierced ears wouldn't heal. I had mine done this summer and instead of using alcohol I used peroxide. So did my sisters. Our niece had hers done at the same time, using alcohol to bathe them, and she said ours looked better in three days than hers did in a month. The jeweler advised us to use the drop earrings if our ears were not healed so that air would get to them. Of course we had the little gold ring put in when they were pierced.

We still use the peroxide several times a day. There isn't as much peeling. — MARY.

DEAR HELEN:

Six months ago a truck hit a 12-year-old boy and his arm and leg were very badly broken. He will be in the hospital probably until after Christmas, and then will have to learn to walk all over again. It's been a long, hard pull and I'm sure a few of your readers' extra Christmas cards would make the holidays happier for him. He is: Gary Miller, Coatesville Hospital, Coatesville, Penna., 19320. — CANDYSTRIPER FRIEND

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Looks as if Santa arrived early and gave Village shoppers new traffic lights to help them in and out for last minute shopping. All Village shops are open evenings to add further to your shopping ease. Last minute Santas needn't dispare . . . The Village is full of "treasures" and treasures for everyone on your gift list. Happy shopping and MERRY, MERRY CHRISTMAS!

My dear, the poshest pets in town will be parading under a clear plastic umbrella with a gold leash and long handle for the master who, presumably is getting very wet. This elegant raingear at MUTTS OF MARIN, natcherly.

Found lots of stocking stuffers and "little gifts" at THE GOLDEN CHERUB in the 50c to $1.50 range. There are prettily packaged soaps in tiny wafers, flowers, lemons, limes or strawberries . . . bath oil and bath salts, and the complete Jean Nate' line. For your own home or as an appreciated hostess gift, see their paper guest towels in many unique designs.

Chef Jim ("Scotty") Davidson at INN MARIN *(formerly Cherish Inn) tells me his special New Year's Eve menu will include lobster tails, prime rib, New York steak as well as Long Island duckling and baked Virginia ham with champagne sauce. Sounds wonderful and I'm sure it will be with "Scotty's" attitude towards fine cuisine . . . absolutely no frozen foods, for instance. New Year's Eve reservations are suggested, phone 388-4212. (INN MARIN will be closed Christmas Day.)

Amidst the marvelous Lilli Ann coat collection at SUSAN'S FASHIONS I noticed a real show-stopper. Should you tire of traditional holiday fare, try the Steak & Lobster Dinner at KUBLAI KHAN. This combination is catching on like wildfire and, knowing Stanley Toy's insistance upon only the finest ingredients, I can't imagine he's making much of a profit on this superb dish by charging a laughable $2.95 for it. But don't ask questions, just enjoy!

Since this is about time for husbands to start Christmas shopping, just head the dear boy in the direction of THE HOUR GLASS. *This shop, full of frilly intimate apparel, won't frighten him off as he browses around and thinks how pretty you'd look in all that frothy feminine frippery. HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

DEAR HELEN:

Thank you, thank you for those warnings about when it's a line and when it's love. They came just in time. My college man took me to a drive-in that night and produced a bottle of champagne. I'll admit I got a little zonked. It was the first time I'd tried champagne and it sneaks up on you. He might have persuaded me this was "our big beautiful blinding love and why fight it?" except I remembered what you said and told him that after only two dates it is more likely just a sex contest.

So I drank his champagne and giggled a bit and kept my head even though it was floating. He hasn't been back since. He wouldn't have if I'd fallen for his line either. I learned later I was just another experience to him. — THE SCALP THAT GOT AWAY

DEAR SCALP:

So glad you were wise to this junior playboy, though for sure he won't nominate me as columnist of the year.

Anyway, this schemer gets points for class. Champagne at a drive-in! Wow! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I feel for that boy whose father nagged him about being fat. I was a big girl and my older sister was small for her age. Because we were the same size, my parents harped at me not to eat this or that because I'd become a fat slob and nobody would like me.

I started to sneak goodies. I hated being watched, so I wouldn't eat much at the table, but I'd stuff myself when I was alone. Well, I ended up being fat and unhappy. All I thought about was how fat I was. I fed my misery and it made me more miserable.

Now the happy ending. I've been married six months and have lost 25 pounds. My wonderful husband said he'd love me even if he had to widen the doors. I can promise you that will never happen. Because of his attitude, I'm relaxed and not nervous anymore, and I don't need solitary eating.

It's too bad I blamed my folks because I see now they were only trying to help. I hope you print this so that other parents can get a closer look at what they might be doing to their children. — MRS. M. C. M.

BRINGING A CHRISTMAS tree to their father, the Cortopassi children discuss decorating possibilities so he will have a merry Christmas even though confined to the Terrace for tubercular patients at Ross Hospital. Jeff's Cub Scout pack is making ornaments for the tree. The family delivered the tree to their father on the patio, as they are not allowed to visit the TB Terrace.

Facing Christmas Without Dad

LeNeil Cortopassi has been a medical secretary for years. During and after World War II, she worked as a Red Cross volunteer. Last month she received the outstanding volunteer of the year award at Ross Hospital for her work there.

"BUT NOTHING," said LeNeil, "prepared me for the shock last August when the doctor told me my husband had tuberculosis."

Forty-two-year-old Bob Cortopassi had always led a healthy and active life. For 25 years he had worked for the San Francisco Post Office — the last two years as chief of vehicle operations. According to post office regulations, he had yearly chest X-rays, the last being in January of this year.

In August, Bob Cortopassi felt a "terrible pain" in his chest. The family doctor took chest X-rays and gave Bob the tuberculin skin test. After 48 hours the skin test showed a positive reaction and his X-rays revealed a lesion on one lung and a cavity in the other lung. It wasn't until three days later, however, when a sputum test came out positive, that the doctors were sure of their diagnosis.

Bob Cortopassi first felt the pain in his chest on Monday. By Saturday he had become a bed patient at The Terrace, the tuberculosis ward at Ross General Hospital.

"FOR A WHILE, we were all stunned," recalls LeNeil. She and the children, Gregg, 11, Jeffrey, 9, and Lisa, 8, were quickly given skin tests; the results were negative.

"Since Bob was first hospitalized in August, however," she said, "we have now gotten down to a routine. I get to the hospital every morning to visit with Bob and then get home in the afternoon to be with the children."

LeNeil Cortopassi said her husband is taking his confinement very well and his spirits are excellent.

"He's catching up on years of reading and he's becoming so well informed, he's impossible!" she said with a grin.

LeNeil admires her husband's philosophical approach to his illness and says that when she is feeling low, she talks to him right away and he never fails to boost her spirits.

The children see their father once a week, usually after church on Sunday. The three children sing in the junior choir at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in San Rafael. The two boys are in scouting and Lisa is a Bluebird, said LeNeil, who explains that she had to give up being a den mother and P-TA board member. "The children are not allowed on the ward, so Bob comes out on the patio to see them.

"OUR FRIENDS and neighbors have been wonderful," said LeNeil Cortopassi. "Although there was a lack of knowledge on their part about tuberculosis, they have been understanding and have made Bob's hospital room cheerful with their visits, cards, and on Halloween, a party."

When he was a seventh grader, Bob Cortopassi recalls that he had a TB skin test and since nothing was said about it at the time, he assumes it was negative. When his illness was diagnosed this summer, all friends, neighbors and fellow post office employees were alerted to have skin tests or chest X-rays.

Bob Cortopassi is on the standard medication of pills, injections, and bed rest. He hopes to be out of bed soon and take advantage of some of the occupational therapy programs at The Terrace, which are financed by funds from the Christmas Seal campaign.

FACING CHRISTMAS without the man of the house, LeNeil Cortopassi said, wistfully, "When a serious illness like tuberculosis occurs in a family, it certainly makes one more appreciative of marriage and it has made the children more appreciative of the companionship of their Dad. We always realize what we have when it's gone."

Height And I.Q. Are Connected

OSLO, Norway (WMNS) — In Norway, as in many other Western countries, youngsters seem to be growing taller. And in Norway, according to a recent report, the intelligent quotient tends to be higher in taller children.

In general, the Norwegian report, based on a long-term study of thousands of Army recruits, shows height varies inversely with family size, with the tallest people coming from families with two children.

Height was also found to vary according to living conditions, social status, and residence. "The social and nutritional factors that tend to produce taller children also tend to produce children of higher intelligence," the report noted.

A recent World Health Organization study showed that nutrional deficiencies affect not only physical function, but actual intelligence.

Egg And Turkey Prices Up While Smoked Pork Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The USDA's Consumer Marketing Service reports that weekend shoppers preparing for the holidays will find ample supplies of meat and poultry and good supplies of some fresh fruits and vegetables at food stores and supermarkets.

THE MOST abundant protein foods are again broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys and these will be holiday features in all areas. Beef features are roasts and steak and ground beef in some areas. Bacon and ham are the pork items in good supply with chops and roasts joining this pair in some areas. Stocks of fish sticks and portions and frozen fish fillets and steaks are ample in all areas, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Cabbage, potatoes, and onions are featured this week as being the fresh vegetables in excellent supply in all areas. Radishes, tomatoes, and cucumbers will likewise be featured in some areas as being amply available. Apples, grapefruit, and oranges repeat as leaders among the abundantly available fruit.

IN THE WEST:

Young turkey hens and young toms under 22 pounds are higher per pound in Southern California markets, while young toms 26 pounds and over have advanced in the Bay Area. Prices on all sizes of eggs have risen per dozen in all Western markets.

Wholesale beef is generally steady in Oregon and Washington, but it is slightly higher around Los Angeles. Price trends on pork are mixed, though, in general, smoked cuts have declined slightly in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include apples, bananas, grapefruit, oranges, cabbages,

BRINGING A CHRISTMAS tree to their father, the Cortopassi children discuss decorating possibilities so he will have a merry Christmas even though confined to the Terrace for tubercular patients at Ross Hospital. Jeff's Cub Scout pack is making ornaments for the tree. The family delivered the tree to their father on the patio, as they are not allowed to visit the TB Terrace.

Facing Christmas Without Dad

LeNeil Cortopassi has been a medical secretary for years. During and after World War II, she worked as a Red Cross volunteer. Last month she received the outstanding volunteer of the year award at Ross Hospital for her work there.

"BUT NOTHING," said LeNeil, "prepared me for the shock last August when the doctor told me my husband had tuberculosis."

Forty-two-year-old Bob Cortopassi had always led a healthy and active life. For 25 years he had worked for the San Francisco Post Office — the last two years as chief of vehicle operations. According to post office regulations, he had yearly chest X-rays, the last being in January of this year.

In August, Bob Cortopassi felt a "terrible pain" in his chest. The family doctor took chest X-rays and gave Bob the tuberculin skin test. After 48 hours the skin test showed a positive reaction and his X-rays revealed a lesion on one lung and a cavity in the other lung. It wasn't until three days later, however, when a sputum test came out positive, that the doctors were sure of their diagnosis.

Bob Cortopassi first felt the pain in his chest on Monday. By Saturday he had become a bed patient at The Terrace, the tuberculosis ward at Ross General Hospital.

"FOR A WHILE, we were all stunned," recalls LeNeil. She and the children, Gregg, 11, Jeffrey, 9, and Lisa, 8, were quickly given skin tests; the results were negative.

"Since Bob was first hospitalized in August, however," she said, "we have now gotten down to a routine. I get to the hospital every morning to visit with Bob and then get home in the afternoon to be with the children."

LeNeil Cortopassi said her husband is taking his confinement very well and his spirits are excellent.

"He's catching up on years of reading and he's becoming so well informed, he's impossible!" she said with a grin.

LeNeil admires her husband's philosophical approach to his illness and says that when she is feeling low, she talks to him right away and he never fails to boost her spirits.

The children see their father once a week, usually after church on Sunday. The three children sing in the junior choir at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in San Rafael. The two boys are in scouting and Lisa is a Bluebird, said LeNeil, who explains that she had to give up being a den mother and P-TA board member. "The children are not allowed on the ward, so Bob comes out on the patio to see them.

"OUR FRIENDS and neighbors have been wonderful," said LeNeil Cortopassi. "Although there was a lack of knowledge on their part about tuberculosis, they have been understanding and have made Bob's hospital room cheerful with their visits, cards, and on Halloween, a party."

When he was a seventh grader, Bob Cortopassi recalls that he had a TB skin test and since nothing was said about it at the time, he assumes it was negative. When his illness was diagnosed this summer, all friends, neighbors and fellow post office employees were alerted to have skin tests or chest X-rays.

Bob Cortopassi is on the standard medication of pills, injections, and bed rest. He hopes to be out of bed soon and take advantage of some of the occupational therapy programs at The Terrace, which are financed by funds from the Christmas Seal campaign.

FACING CHRISTMAS without the man of the house, LeNeil Cortopassi said, wistfully, "When a serious illness like tuberculosis occurs in a family, it certainly makes one more appreciative of marriage and it has made the children more appreciative of the companionship of their Dad. We always realize what we have when it's gone."

SHE'LL NEVER FORGET THE YULE SEASON

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Have you ever wished you would hear the greeting "Merry Christmas," more than just during the Christmas season?

Well, there is one 14-year-old Columbus, Ohio, high school pupil who doesn't have to wish. Her first name is Merry, her middle name is Christmas, and her last name is—that's right— Trees.

Merry Christmas Trees is a ninth-grade pupil at Northland Senior High School. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack P. Trees.

Miss Trees has two brothers. One is Jack Pine Trees, 27, who lives in West Jefferson, Ohio. The other is Douglas Fir Trees, 28, Delaware, Ohio.

Two Injured By Hitting Darkened Car

A Novato man and his wife were hospitalized yesterday after their car ran into a stalled auto on Waldo Grade, the highway patrol said.

The lights failed on a car driven by Maureen Vanessa Stroub, 18, of 60 Porteous Avenue, Fairfax, at 11:05 p.m. and it stalled on northbound Highway 101, south of the Spencer Avenue off-ramp, the patrol said.

The car was immediately struck in the rear by one driven by Leslie Edward Funderburk, 24, of 1312 Leafwood Drive, patrolmen said.

Funderburk and his wife, Clara, 21, were reported in fair condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael. He was being treated for a concussion and possible injury to his left arm; his wife for a possible fractured right ankle.

Demo Pledges Tax Reform Backing If Policy Is 'Good'

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A spokesman for Assembly Democrats said today he would support Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposed tax reform program next year if the plan is "a real one . . . a good one."

"It's pretty clear we want tax reform," said Assemblyman Winfield A. Shoemaker, D-Lompoc, chairman of the Assembly Democratic caucus, in an interview.

At the same time, Shoemaker said Democrats would be prepared to offer their own programs next year "simply because no program has come from this administration."

"We're not here to take doctrinaire party positions. We're here to solve problems," Shoemaker said. As caucus chairman, he is spokesman for majority Democrats, outnumbering Republicans 42-38 in the lower house.

Reagan, a Republican, has said he will propose major tax reform next year in an effort to more equitably distribute the tax burden among California's 20 million citizens. He has issued no details.

Payroll withholding of state income taxes is "one of the things that certainly has to be considered," Shoemaker said. Reagan is adamently opposed to a withholding tax.

"The revenue picture isn't a good one," Shoemaker said. "Our present tax program is made mostly out of Band-Aids. It just doesn't expand with the needs and economy of the state."

Meanwhile, Reagan's Finance Department released a final 1967-68 budget figure of $5,070,016,168, which is $13,290,418 less than the $5,083,306,586 in 1967-68 spending estimated when Reagan signed the document last June 30.

The estimated cash surplus as of next June 30, the end of the fiscal year, now is $5,996,277 compared with the earlier estimate of $9,459,246.

The report reflects changes made since June 30, including new funds made available through Reagan's $1 billion tax bill and additional funds voted by the legislature after the budget was signed.

"So far, Shoemaker said," "he has not done a damned thing to cut costs. All he has attempted to do is cut expenditures. Cutting costs mean efficient administration of government . . . By cutting expenditures only, you can still waste money. This is all they have done."

Shoemaker defined costs as the money involved in running a program, such as welfare, while expenditures are funds that actually reach welfare recipients.

State Again To Hear Tomales Unification

The Marin County School District Organization Committee last night discussed plans to present the Tomales High School District unification plan to the State Board of Education in February, according to Chairman Mrs. Rachel Conner.

Although the same plan, which includes the high school and all elementary schools in the district, has failed to win approval five times previously, Mrs. Conner said the committee has been unable to find other solutions because of sparse population in the Tomales area.

Paint Thief Nabbed

San Anselmo police said today a 15-year-old youth caught stealing a 50-cent can of paint from Longs Drugs at 880 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard was released yesterday to his parents pending further investigation.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Thieves' Carnival' Is Worthy Addition

By KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO — Jean Anouilh, dean of French playwrights from the standpoint of the large volume of his writings, produced "Thieves' Carnival" in 1938, and compared to "The Lark" (1955) and "Becket" (1959), it is light and frothy material.

But even in this early work, Anouilh was probing into his favorite subjects — the transposition of upper and lower classes, and the thin line which separated respectability from disrepute in a society which is basically money-oriented.

GOOD PRODUCTION

American Conservatory Theater last night presented "Thieves' Carnival" at the Geary in a highly entertaining production marked by several stellar performances and a slightly uneven pace. Director Jerome Kilty has staged the piece with much inventiveness, leaning heavily of farce, which, since the play has no great "message," is fine.

Anouilh has thrown together in a decadent French spa a collection of varied and interesting people. A trio of inept thieves, Peter-Bono (Ray Reinhardt), Hector (Patrick Tovatt) and Gustave (David Dukes) are brought into the home of Lady Hurf (Ruth Kobart) because she is bored. The trio's attempts to make a killing, both monetary and romantic, is the basis of the play. The objects of romance are Lady Hurf's nieces, Eva and Juliette, the first a bored, sophisticated widow, the second an idealistic 20-year-old.

MANY DISGUISES

While Eva seeks to find the face Hector — a man of many disguises — wore when they first met, and fails to find it, Juliette finds love with Gustave. Lady Hurf, who openly admits that she is pulling puppet strings on the whole affair, is played with dry restraint by Miss Kobart. She is at her best wryly commenting on her age — and in regard to love: "It is several years now since I renounced it!"

BIGGEST SURPRISE

Biggest surprise for those who have not followed the earlier career of David Dukes in the Bay Area is his honestly straightforward portrayal of Gustave, the apprentice thief. Those who have seen him at College of Marin Marin Shakespeare Festival, and California Shakespeare Festival can smugly say "We knew it all the time." Dukes, a Marin County boy, proves his mastery of comedy timing and plays every line with easy sincerity and ineffable charm. An acting scholar just last spring, Dukes proves in this role that he is one of ACT's most able young leading men.

Reinhardt begins the show disguised as a baggy old woman and has never been funnier. Tovatt breezes through the play with his usual aplomb.

OTHER NOTABLES

Harry Frazier, Ken Ruta and Mark Bramhall lend much to the production. As "The Band," James Ragan plays the saxophone to jazzy music composed by Jerry Cournoyer for the show, and adds a delightful touch of absurdity to the proceedings.

Costumes, and there are innumerable changes, are colorfully designed by Lewis Brown. Stuart Wurtzel's settings have a lovely spider webby quality, and one change, staged to music, brought applause from the first-nighters. John McLain's lighting is superb.

"Thieves' Carnival" is a worthy addition to ACT's repertory, now numbering ten and still growing.

University Sets Two Art Classes

Karla Moss will instruct in painting and critique at 249 Redwood Road, San Anselmo, covering work in oils and acrylics. The class begins Jan. 23 and ends March 12.

ALIENATION ON STAGE

John Cochran as Randall looks disdainfully down in this scene from "Slow Dance on the Killing Ground," award-winning Broadway play now showing in a Homestead Players production at Brown's Hall, Mill Valley, in its first West Coast production. The play's run has been extended to this Friday and Saturday and Dec. 29-30, curtain time at 8:30 p.m. Other lead roles in the play are Abe Kalish as Glass and Nedra Ruiz as Rosie.

Demo Pledges Tax Reform Backing If Policy Is 'Good'

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A spokesman for Assembly Democrats said today he would support Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposed tax reform program next year if the plan is "a real one . . . a good one."

"It's pretty clear we want tax reform," said Assemblyman Winfield A. Shoemaker, D-Lompoc, chairman of the Assembly Democratic caucus, in an interview.

At the same time, Shoemaker said Democrats would be prepared to offer their own programs next year "simply because no program has come from this administration."

"We're not here to take doctrinaire party positions. We're here to solve problems," Shoemaker said. As caucus chairman, he is spokesman for majority Democrats, outnumbering Republicans 42-38 in the lower house.

Reagan, a Republican, has said he will propose major tax reform next year in an effort to more equitably distribute the tax burden among California's 20 million citizens. He has issued no details.

Payroll withholding of state income taxes is "one of the things that certainly has to be considered," Shoemaker said. Reagan is adamently opposed to a withholding tax.

"The revenue picture isn't a good one," Shoemaker said. "Our present tax program is made mostly out of Band-Aids. It just doesn't expand with the needs and economy of the state."

Meanwhile, Reagan's Finance Department released a final 1967-68 budget figure of $5,070,016,168, which is $13,290,418 less than the $5,083,306,586 in 1967-68 spending estimated when Reagan signed the document last June 30.

The estimated cash surplus as of next June 30, the end of the fiscal year, now is $5,996,277 compared with the earlier estimate of $9,459,246.

The report reflects changes made since June 30, including new funds made available through Reagan's $1 billion tax bill and additional funds voted by the legislature after the budget was signed.

"So far, Shoemaker said," "he has not done a damned thing to cut costs. All he has attempted to do is cut expenditures. Cutting costs mean efficient administration of government . . . By cutting expenditures only, you can still waste money. This is all they have done."

Shoemaker defined costs as the money involved in running a program, such as welfare, while expenditures are funds that actually reach welfare recipients.

SHE'LL NEVER FORGET THE YULE SEASON

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Have you ever wished you would hear the greeting "Merry Christmas," more than just during the Christmas season?

Well, there is one 14-year-old Columbus, Ohio, high school pupil who doesn't have to wish. Her first name is Merry, her middle name is Christmas, and her last name is—that's right— Trees.

Merry Christmas Trees is a ninth-grade pupil at Northland Senior High School. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack P. Trees.

Miss Trees has two brothers. One is Jack Pine Trees, 27, who lives in West Jefferson, Ohio. The other is Douglas Fir Trees, 28, Delaware, Ohio.

Two Injured By Hitting Darkened Car

A Novato man and his wife were hospitalized yesterday after their car ran into a stalled auto on Waldo Grade, the highway patrol said.

The lights failed on a car driven by Maureen Vanessa Stroub, 18, of 60 Porteous Avenue, Fairfax, at 11:05 p.m. and it stalled on northbound Highway 101, south of the Spencer Avenue off-ramp, the patrol said.

The car was immediately struck in the rear by one driven by Leslie Edward Funderburk, 24, of 1312 Leafwood Drive, patrolmen said.

Funderburk and his wife, Clara, 21, were reported in fair condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael. He was being treated for a concussion and possible injury to his left arm; his wife for a possible fractured right ankle.

State Again To Hear Tomales Unification

The Marin County School District Organization Committee last night discussed plans to present the Tomales High School District unification plan to the State Board of Education in February, according to Chairman Mrs. Rachel Conner.

Although the same plan, which includes the high school and all elementary schools in the district, has failed to win approval five times previously, Mrs. Conner said the committee has been unable to find other solutions because of sparse population in the Tomales area.

Paint Thief Nabbed

San Anselmo police said today a 15-year-old youth caught stealing a 50-cent can of paint from Longs Drugs at 880 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard was released yesterday to his parents pending further investigation.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Thieves' Carnival' Is Worthy Addition

By KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO — Jean Anouilh, dean of French playwrights from the standpoint of the large volume of his writings, produced "Thieves' Carnival" in 1938, and compared to "The Lark" (1955) and "Becket" (1959), it is light and frothy material.

But even in this early work, Anouilh was probing into his favorite subjects — the transposition of upper and lower classes, and the thin line which separated respectability from disrepute in a society which is basically money-oriented.

GOOD PRODUCTION

American Conservatory Theater last night presented "Thieves' Carnival" at the Geary in a highly entertaining production marked by several stellar performances and a slightly uneven pace. Director Jerome Kilty has staged the piece with much inventiveness, leaning heavily of farce, which, since the play has no great "message," is fine.

Anouilh has thrown together in a decadent French spa a collection of varied and interesting people. A trio of inept thieves, Peter-Bono (Ray Reinhardt), Hector (Patrick Tovatt) and Gustave (David Dukes) are brought into the home of Lady Hurf (Ruth Kobart) because she is bored. The trio's attempts to make a killing, both monetary and romantic, is the basis of the play. The objects of romance are Lady Hurf's nieces, Eva and Juliette, the first a bored, sophisticated widow, the second an idealistic 20-year-old.

MANY DISGUISES

While Eva seeks to find the face Hector — a man of many disguises — wore when they first met, and fails to find it, Juliette finds love with Gustave. Lady Hurf, who openly admits that she is pulling puppet strings on the whole affair, is played with dry restraint by Miss Kobart. She is at her best wryly commenting on her age — and in regard to love: "It is several years now since I renounced it!"

BIGGEST SURPRISE

Biggest surprise for those who have not followed the earlier career of David Dukes in the Bay Area is his honestly straightforward portrayal of Gustave, the apprentice thief. Those who have seen him at College of Marin Marin Shakespeare Festival, and California Shakespeare Festival can smugly say "We knew it all the time." Dukes, a Marin County boy, proves his mastery of comedy timing and plays every line with easy sincerity and ineffable charm. An acting scholar just last spring, Dukes proves in this role that he is one of ACT's most able young leading men.

Reinhardt begins the show disguised as a baggy old woman and has never been funnier. Tovatt breezes through the play with his usual aplomb.

OTHER NOTABLES

Harry Frazier, Ken Ruta and Mark Bramhall lend much to the production. As "The Band," James Ragan plays the saxophone to jazzy music composed by Jerry Cournoyer for the show, and adds a delightful touch of absurdity to the proceedings.

Costumes, and there are innumerable changes, are colorfully designed by Lewis Brown. Stuart Wurtzel's settings have a lovely spider webby quality, and one change, staged to music, brought applause from the first-nighters. John McLain's lighting is superb.

"Thieves' Carnival" is a worthy addition to ACT's repertory, now numbering ten and still growing.

University Sets Two Art Classes

Two Marin artists will teach classes beginning next month under the University of California Extension.

Ann O'Hanlon will teach a class at her studio, 616 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, and on field trips on "Form in Nature: the Land" Jan. 15 to March 4, and a class entitled the "Art and Science of Seeing: A Workshop in Perception" from Jan. 12 to March 1.

Karla Moss will instruct in painting and critique at 249 Redwood Road, San Anselmo, covering work in oils and acrylics. The class begins Jan. 23 and ends March 12.

Further information may be obtained from the university extension office in San Francisco.

Crib Wall Contract

The state Department of Public Works announced today award of an $8,348 contract to Brown-Ely Contractors of San Rafael to build a crib wall on Route 1 near Shoreline Highway and Panoramic Highway, near Mill Valley.

Womak, Merrill Will Seek Novato Council Reelection

Novato Mayor J. Wayne Womack and mayor pro tem Douglas M. Merrill have announced they will seek reelection April 9.

Three of the five positions on the city council will be up at the relection. Besides Womack and Merrill, the term of councilman William Jack Adams, expires, but he has announced he will not seek reelection. The terms of Councilmen M. E. Babe Silva and Harley McAskill are not up until 1970.

Womack was elected to the council when the city was incorporated in 1960, and was the city's first mayor. After two years as mayor, he left the council for two years, then was reelected and has been the mayor the past four years.

A native of Madill, Okla., he has lived in Novato 17 years. He owns Womack's Fabrics in the Tresch Triangle and is also in the real estate business. Womack belongs to the Novato Presbyterian Church, the Masonic orders, the Druids lodge and the Novato Rotary club. He is a past president of the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

MAYOR WAYNE WOMACK
Will run again

COUNCILMAN MERRILL
Seeking reelection

He lives with his wife and three children at 130 Grande Vista.

Merrill is completing his first four-year term as councilman.

He previously served on the Novato Planning Commission. Merrill works for the architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill of San Francisco.

He and his wife, Elizabeth and their three children live at 95 Orchard Way.

UNCLE SAM TARDY?

Martinelli Wants Eagle Justice

Point Reyes Station rancher Leroy Martinelli — his sheep again under attack by golden eagles — complained bitterly today that federal wildlife officials had failed to appear to help him.

"When it comes to getting any action from these guys in Sacramento," he said, "they're pretty slow."

At 10 a.m. today, he was still waiting at his ranch for an investigator to show up — 42 hours after Martinelli said he put his first report through to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service at the state capital.

He laughed ruefully. "At my trial for killing two eagles three years ago, federal official Jack Downs testified for the prosecution that he should have been told first before I shot them, because it takes only an hour and a half to drive over from Sacramento to Point Reyes," he said.

"One hour and a half," the rancher repeated. "I reported eagles killing my sheep to Downs' office at 4 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. They said they'd call back but they never did.

"Now we're at Thursday morning and they tell me Downs is sending over a fellow at 10 o'clock and I don't know whether he'll show.

"I can see through my field glasses that the eagles are feeding off at least one carcass. Every hour we leave it . . . " His voice broke.

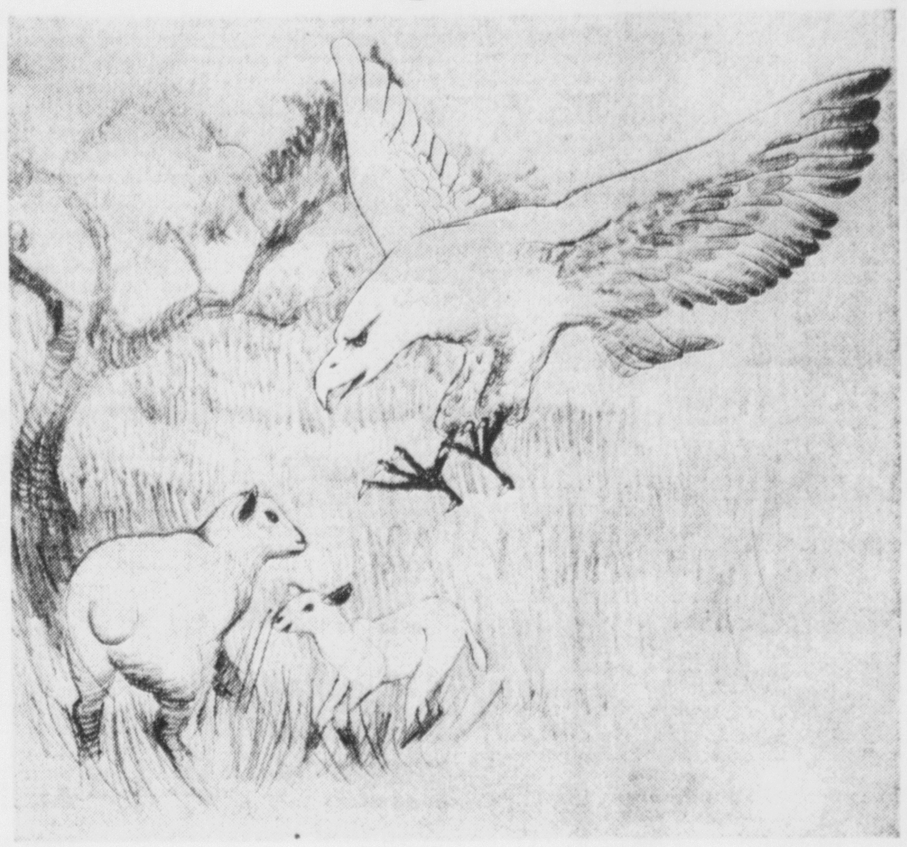
He said the eagles were attacking his sheep on Black Mountain, about a mile and a half from his home.

"I had intended to trek up there yesterday to investigate the damage but decided instead to wait for the arrival of the agent. It's a long walk — too rugged even for a four-wheel drive jeep."

It was in this region that Martinelli shot and killed two eagles in January 1965. The incident resulted in a court case and the rancher was acquitted of illegally killing the protected birds.

"This can't go on," he said today. "If the government wants the eagles left alone, I should get some compensation for the continuing slaughter of my stock.

Martinelli said he may move the sheep off the mountain, but that this could be dangerous because the ewes are pregnant.



WINGED KILLER — Independent-Journal artist Jack Lucey portrays the plight of Point Reyes Station rancher Leroy Martinelli as golden eagles have resumed attacks on his sheep. The rancher said the eagles have killed at least one animal and are feeding off the carcass.

Four Inmates Foiled In Plot To Scale Wall

A pre-holiday escape attempt by four San Quentin Prison inmates failed yesterday.

Missing at the 4 p.m. count, the men were found two hours later hiding in a spare parts room in the cotton textile mill. They were taken to the prison adjustment center.

Leo F. Shepherd, prison program administrator, identified the convicts, all imprisoned for robbery, as Richard D. Nicholson, 21, received from Ventura County; Jerry D. Clark, 22, from Tulare County; James B. Holland, 36, and Charles T. Snyder, 24, both from Los Angeles County.

Shepherd said the men had entered the parts room through a window and apparently were waiting for dark to clear the wall with a rope fashioned of sheets and weighted at one end.

Holland and Shepherd successfully escaped from other state prisons earlier this year.

Robbery Count Hearing Is Set

Claude (Frenchy) LeBas, 21, of Long Beach, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge he robbed Don's Market in Fairfax of $400 Nov. 30.

A preliminary hearing on the charge was scheduled for Jan. 2 in Municipal Court.

Fairfax police said LeBas was named by John Arceo, 31, his alleged partner in the robbery, as the stick-up man.

Supervisors Agree Mass Transit Problem Big Headache Of 1967

Marin County supervisors saw a little daylight in the mass transit picture, no workable economic formula for countywide law enforcement and two sides to regional government today in a year end review of Marin affairs.

The five supervisors were guests on Kitty Oppenheimer's KTIM Sounding Board program. It will be repeated at 9 p.m. today over KTIM-FM.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District Board "is cooperating as it never has before" in the effort to get commuter mass transit off the ground. Supervisor Chairman Thomas T. Storer said the main accomplishment of the year was "the setting to rest, at least temporarily" of ideas for double decking the bridge. He said Transportation and tax reform are the county's main problems.

POLICE POLICY

The supervisors had an answer for a listener who called in a question asking why something hadn't been worked out on countywide policing. No equitable formula, encompassing the unincorporated areas, has been worked out to pay for it, supervisors said.

"It's a very complex, confusing, but simple appearing problem," said Behr.

The supervisors had divergent viewpoints on the prospects for regional government in the Bay Area. Supervisors Ernest N. Kettenhofen and William Gnoss said they were fearful that regional government might usurp local government functions to no advantage to the public.

Storer and Behr said regional government in some areas, such as transportation, garbage disposal and planning, has to come, and as soon as possible. Supervisor John F. McInnis said there are regional government work study reports in the mill, but the time for action on them by Marin supervisors is at least a year away.

OTHER VIEWS

Other capsule viewpoints by the supervisors:

Kettenhofen said Ross Valley communities are working well together on flood control and other projects. He put property tax reform as a primary objective during the coming year, but he added, "We must pick up the responsibilities for the privileges of living in a liberal society."

Behr listed condemnation of Muir Beach, the accomplished and prospective additions to Tamalpais State Park, 53,000 acres of land in the county set aside as an agricultural preserve, and other conservation gains among the year's good accomplishments.

Storer said the fact there was only a half-cent increase in the property tax was proof the supervisors had practiced fiscal responsibility. But he said the supervisors should arrange an early meeting with Gov. Ronald Reagan to demand he carry through on promises of tax relief for property owners.

LANDS AIRPORT

Gnoss said the establishment of a new county airport, within a year after receiving a $300,000 federal grant for it, was a major accomplishment. He said establishment of an industrial air park adjacent to Hamilton Air Force Base is a major project of the coming year.

McInnis said there's "real concern" at all governmental levels on how welfare and public health money is being spent. He said the supervisors had concentrated on welfare and public health matters during the year, and he thought it a major accomplishment.

ABAG Plan Is Mildly Criticized

Marin County Planning Commission yesterday released a mildly worded criticism of the preliminary regional plan drawn up by the Association of Bay Area Governments.

The revised statement was drawn up by a committee headed by commissioner Margaret Azevedo and including Niels Schultz Jr. and Hugh Dougherty. It will be sent to the Board of Supervisors for approval.

Strongest language used in the toned-down statement are words like "deficient" and "inadequate," a far cry from the original blast by the county planning staff that the plan is "naive and limited in scope" and "unrelated to forces at work in the real world."

The committee statement, however commends ABAG for recoginizing the need for regional planning and concedes the job is a monumental one.

The planners find the ABAG plan deficient in certain areas. The contend the basis of information for the plan is inadequate, no governmental structure is proposed for carrying out of regional policies, and no provision is made for distributing the cost of supporting economically unproductive land.

"The transportation plan for Marin County selects one form of public transit (ferries) over other possibilities (rail transit, rapid buses) without explanation," the report continues. "More generally, the feasibility of the whole transportation proposal in the preliminary plan and consequently the physical form of the plan are subject to question until it has been confirmed by the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission."

The Marin planning commissioners contend that it is premature to release the regional plan now because "it will culminate in a final plan without substantial revision."

The commissioners recommend that ABAG take more than the scheduled year to compile a finished plan, and that it reshape the program to focus better on more critical regional issues.

Mrs. Claus Gives Santa Phone Help

No one can blame Santa Claus if the fat old elf snores a little later in bed today up at the North Pole.

He was way past his bed time last night for the second night in a row answering calls put through from exchange in San Rafael, Novato and Mill Valley.

The telephone link to Santa was sponsored by the junior chambers of commerce of the cities and the Independent-Journal. More than 3,100 calls were received and Santa was so busy he had to ask Mrs. Claus to help out.

"Hey Santa, it's me again, the one who wrote you . . . " said one hopeful caller. Of course Santa remembered. The youngster added . . . "my cousin Tracy is sick and I hope you bring her something nice."

One caller had second thoughts and called to change an order from baby first-step to baby crawl-along.

Another youngster with 100 per cent fewer cavities called to tell Santa: "I want a tooth to eat with . . . "

Six Inducted Into The Army

Six young men were inducted into the Army from Marin County for December, according to Mrs. Joy M. Kinzer, executive secretary.

They are Philip C. Cox and Stanley T. Carter, both of San Anselmo; Stephen M. Gibbs of San Rafael, Peter J. Schunk of Fairfax, Patrick J. Ripple of San Francisco and James F. Stilley of Novato.

The quota for the month was 13, but Mrs. Kinzer said the full quota is seldom achieved, because some get continued student deferments, or enlist.

The January quota is 55, she said.

Jail, Probation On Forgery Count

Daniel Lee Temple, 20, of 33 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, was sentenced to 75 days in jail and placed on two years of probation yesterday for forgery.

Temple, who gets credit for 35 days already served in jail, pleaded guilty to trying to pass a $113.27 check made out to a Robert Drolla at Bank of America in San Rafael Nov. 2.

Police said the check was stolen the night before from B and B Auto Parts in Corte Madera.

To Sponsor Santa

The Stinson Beach Volunteer Fire Department will sponsor a visit by Santa Claus for children at 7 p.m. tomorrow at the Community Center. He will give children stockings filled with candy and toys.

Womak, Merrill Will Seek Novato Council Reelection

Novato Mayor J. Wayne Womack and mayor pro tem Douglas M. Merrill have announced they will seek reelection April 9.

Three of the five positions on the city council will be up at the relection. Besides Womack and Merrill, the term of councilman William Jack Adams, expires, but he has announced he will not seek reelection. The terms of Councilmen M. E. Babe Silva and Harley McAskill are not up until 1970.

Womack was elected to the council when the city was incorporated in 1960, and was the city's first mayor. After two years as mayor, he left the council for two years, then was reelected and has been the mayor the past four years.

A native of Madill, Okla., he has lived in Novato 17 years. He owns Womack's Fabrics in the Tresch Triangle and is also in the real estate business. Womack belongs to the Novato Presbyterian Church, the Masonic orders, the Druids lodge and the Novato Rotary club. He is a past president of the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

Merrill is completing his first four-year term as councilman.

He previously served on the Novato Planning Commission. Merrill works for the architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill of San Francisco.

Merrill issued a statement proclaiming his candidacy and Womack confirmed he would run again, too.

Supervisors Agree Mass Transit Problem Big Headache Of 1967

Marin County supervisors saw a little daylight in the mass transit picture, no workable economic formula for countywide law enforcement and two sides to regional government today in a year end review of Marin affairs.

The five supervisors were guests on Kitty Oppenheimer's KTIM Sounding Board program. It will be repeated at 9 p.m. today over KTIM-FM.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District Board "is cooperating as it never has before" in the effort to get commuter mass transit off the ground. Supervisor Chairman Thomas T. Storer said the main accomplishment of the year was "the setting to rest, at least temporarily" of ideas for double decking the bridge. He said Transportation and tax reform are the county's main problems.

POLICE POLICY

The supervisors had an answer for a listener who called in a question asking why something hadn't been worked out on countywide policing. No equitable formula, encompassing the unincorporated areas, has been worked out to pay for it, supervisors said.

"It's a very complex, confusing, but simple appearing problem," said Behr.

The supervisors had divergent viewpoints on the prospects for regional government in the Bay Area. Supervisors Ernest N. Kettenhofen and William Gnoss said they were fearful that regional government might usurp local government functions to no advantage to the public.

Storer and Behr said regional government in some areas, such as transportation, garbage disposal and planning, has to come, and as soon as possible. Supervisor John F. McInnis said there are regional government work study reports in the mill, but the time for action on them by Marin supervisors is at least a year away.

OTHER VIEWS

Other capsule viewpoints by the supervisors:

Kettenhofen said Ross Valley communities are working well together on flood control and other projects. He put property tax reform as a primary objective during the coming year, but he added, "We must pick up the responsibilities for the privileges of living in a liberal society."

Behr listed condemnation of Muir Beach, the accomplished and prospective additions to Tamalpais State Park, 53,000 acres of land in the county set aside as an agricultural preserve, and other conservation gains among the year's good accomplishments.

Storer said the fact there was only a half-cent increase in the property tax was proof the supervisors had practiced fiscal responsibility. But he said the supervisors should arrange an early meeting with Gov. Ronald Reagan to demand he carry through on promises of tax relief for property owners.

LANDS AIRPORT

Gnoss said the establishment of a new county airport, within a year after receiving a $300,000 federal grant for it, was a major accomplishment. He said establishment of an industrial air park adjacent to Hamilton Air Force Base is a major project of the coming year.

McInnis said there's "real concern" at all governmental levels on how welfare and public health money is being spent. He said the supervisors had concentrated on welfare and public health matters during the year, and he thought it a major accomplishment.

3,100 CALLS

Mrs. Claus Gives Santa Phone Help

No one can blame Santa Claus if the fat old elf snores a little later in bed today up at the North Pole.

He was way past his bed time last night for the second night in a row answering calls put through from exchange in San Rafael, Novato and Mill Valley.

The telephone link to Santa was sponsored by the junior chambers of commerce of the cities and the Independent-Journal. More than 3,100 calls were received and Santa was so busy he had to ask Mrs. Claus to help out.

"Hey Santa, it's me again, the one who wrote you . . . " said one hopeful caller. Of course Santa remembered. The youngster added . . . "my cousin Tracy is sick and I hope you bring her something nice."

One caller had second thoughts and called to change an order from baby first-step to baby crawl-along.

Another youngster with 100 per cent fewer cavities called to tell Santa: "I want a tooth to eat with . . . "

Six Inducted Into The Army

Six young men were inducted into the Army from Marin County for December, according to Mrs. Joy M. Kinzer, executive secretary.

They are Philip C. Cox and Stanley T. Carter, both of San Anselmo; Stephen M. Gibbs of San Rafael, Peter J. Schunk of Fairfax, Patrick J. Ripple of San Francisco and James F. Stilley of Novato.

The quota for the month was 13, but Mrs. Kinzer said the full quota is seldom achieved, because some get continued student deferments, or enlist.

The January quota is 55, she said.

Jail, Probation On Forgery Count

Daniel Lee Temple, 20, of 33 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, was sentenced to 75 days in jail and placed on two years of probation yesterday for forgery.

Temple, who gets credit for 35 days already served in jail, pleaded guilty to trying to pass a $113.27 check made out to a Robert Drolla at Bank of America in San Rafael Nov. 2.

Police said the check was stolen the night before from B and B Auto Parts in Corte Madera.

To Sponsor Santa

The Stinson Beach Volunteer Fire Department will sponsor a visit by Santa Claus for children at 7 p.m. tomorrow at the Community Center. He will give children stockings filled with candy and toys.

UNCLE SAM TARDY?

Martinelli Wants Eagle Justice

Point Reyes Station rancher Leroy Martinelli — his sheep again under attack by golden eagles — complained bitterly today that federal wildlife officials had failed to appear to help him.

"When it comes to getting any action from these guys in Sacramento," he said, "they're pretty slow."

At 10 a.m. today, he was still waiting at his ranch for an investigator to show up — 42 hours after Martinelli said he put his first report through to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service at the state capital.

He laughed ruefully. "At my trial for killing two eagles three years ago, federal official Jack Downs testified for the prosecution that he should have been told first before I shot them, because it takes only an hour and a half to drive over from Sacramento to Point Reyes," he said.

"One hour and a half," the rancher repeated. "I reported eagles killing my sheep to Downs' office at 4 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. They said they'd call back but they never did.

"Now we're at Thursday morning and they tell me Downs is sending over a fellow at 10 o'clock and I don't know whether he'll show.

"I can see through my field glasses that the eagles are feeding off at least one carcass. Every hour we leave it . . . " His voice broke.

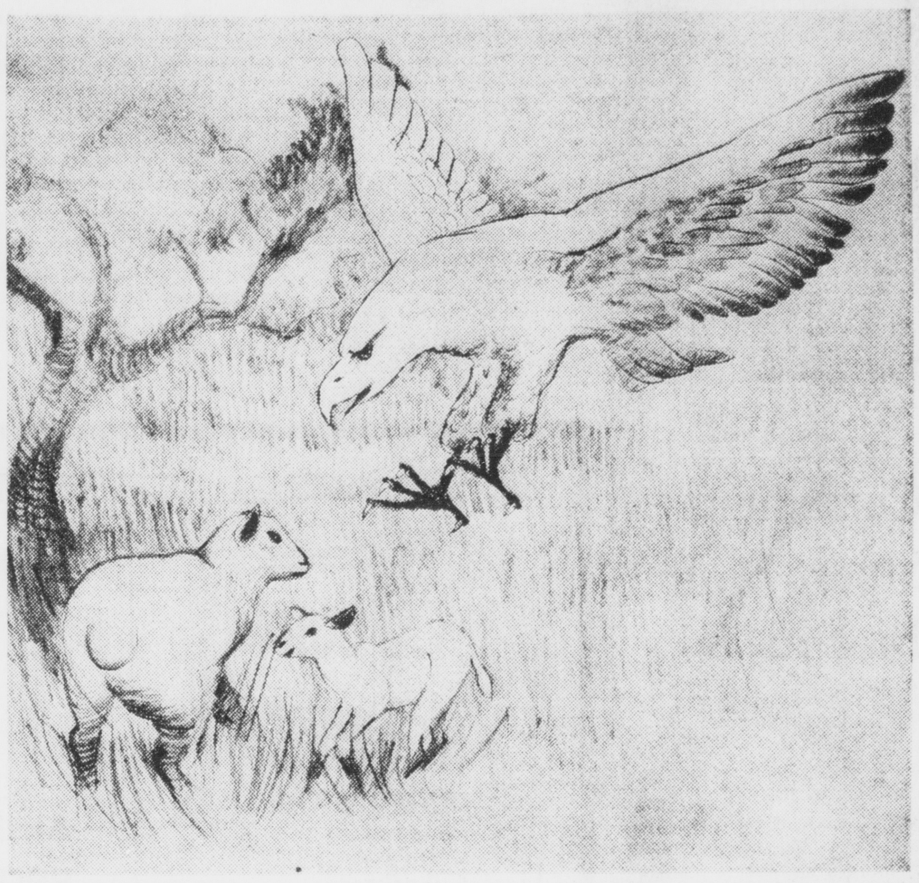
He said the eagles were attacking his sheep on Black Mountain, about a mile and a half from his home.

"I had intended to trek up there yesterday to investigate the damage but decided instead to wait for the arrival of the agent. It's a long walk — too rugged even for a four-wheel drive jeep."

It was in this region that Martinelli shot and killed two eagles in January 1965. The incident resulted in a court case and the rancher was acquitted of illegally killing the protected birds.

"This can't go on," he said today. "If the government wants the eagles left alone, I should get some compensation for the continuing slaughter of my stock.

Martinelli said he may move the sheep off the mountain, but that this could be dangerous because the ewes are pregnant.



WINGED KILLER — Independent-Journal artist Jack Lucey portrays the plight of Point Reyes Station rancher Leroy Martinelli as golden eagles have resumed attacks on his sheep. The rancher said the eagles have killed at least one animal and are feeding off the carcass.

Four Inmates Foiled In Plot To Scale Wall

A pre-holiday escape attempt by four San Quentin Prison inmates failed yesterday.

Missing at the 4 p.m. count, the men were found two hours later hiding in a spare parts room in the cotton textile mill. They were taken to the prison adjustment center.

Leo F. Shepherd, prison program administrator, identified the convicts, all imprisoned for robbery, as Richard D. Nicholson, 21, received from Ventura County; Jerry D. Clark, 22, from Tulare County; James B. Holland, 36, and Charles T. Snyder, 24, both from Los Angeles County.

Shepherd said the men had entered the parts room through a window and apparently were waiting for dark to clear the wall with a rope fashioned of sheets and weighted at one end.

Holland and Shepherd successfully escaped from other state prisons earlier this year.

ABAG Plan Is Mildly Criticized

Marin County Planning Commission yesterday released a mildly worded criticism of the preliminary regional plan drawn up by the Association of Bay Area Governments.

The revised statement was drawn up by a committee headed by commissioner Margaret Azevedo and including Niels Schultz Jr. and Hugh Dougherty. It will be sent to the Board of Supervisors for approval.

Strongest language used in the toned-down statement are words like "deficient" and "inadequate," a far cry from the original blast by the county planning staff that the plan is "naive and limited in scope" and "unrelated to forces at work in the real world."

The committee statement, however commends ABAG for recoginizing the need for regional planning and concedes the job is a monumental one.

The planners find the ABAG plan deficient in certain areas. The contend the basis of information for the plan is inadequate, no governmental structure is proposed for carrying out of regional policies, and no provision is made for distributing the cost of supporting economically unproductive land.

"The transportation plan for Marin County selects one form of public transit (ferries) over other possibilities (rail transit, rapid buses) without explanation," the report continues. "More generally, the feasibility of the whole transportation proposal in the preliminary plan and consequently the physical form of the plan are subject to question until it has been confirmed by the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission."

The Marin planning commissioners contend that it is premature to release the regional plan now because "it will culminate in a final plan without substantial revision."

The commissioners recommend that ABAG take more than the scheduled year to compile a finished plan, and that it reshape the program to focus better on more critical regional issues.

Robbery Count Hearing Is Set

Claude (Frenchy) LeBas, 21, of Long Beach, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge he robbed Don's Market in Fairfax of $400 Nov. 30.

A preliminary hearing on the charge was scheduled for Jan. 2 in Municipal Court.

Fairfax police said LeBas was named by John Arceo, 31, his alleged partner in the robbery, as the stick-up man.

William Watt Ellingsen, 33, of 28 Marinero Circle, Tiburon, was booked into county jail early today by Belvedere police on suspicion of disturbing the peace and malicious mischief after reportedly breaking into a Belvedere residence.

Diane D. Bartel, of 100 Beach Road, complained to police at 12:45 a.m. that Ellingsen had broken two windows, entered the house and refused to leave.

Released on bail of $440, Ellingsen was to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

Pearson Claims Viet Remark 'Not Policy'

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson said yesterday his remark that the United States should "just stop fighting" as a dramatic move to start Vietnam end-the-war negotiations did not reflect official Canadian government policy.

Pearson made the statement in a television interview taped in Toronto for release Jan. 1. He suggested the United States stop fighting "and tell the North Vietnamese they will meet them in Geneva."

The prime minister said the United States should make "some dramatic action to see what the other side would do."

An account of the interview was released first yesterday by the Toronto Telegram.

Later Pearson made an angry statement to reporters in Ottawa. He contended the remarks made in the interview were of an offhand nature. He said they did not reflect government policy. The Telegram dispatch, he said, could create an "impression out of context that would be totally inaccurate."

The Telegram's story noted that Pearson "made his Vietnam suggestion in a low key, informal manner."

Pearson said he had suggested as early as 1965 that a unilateral cessation of fighting by the United States could be a first step to a negotiated Vietnam settlement. A halt in bombing of North Vietnam alone would not be sufficient to create the atmosphere needed to start negotiations, Pearson said.

Fire Station Plans Reviewed

A review of detailed work on the proposed $200,000 fire station was held last night by the Kentfield Fire District Board.

Chief Kenneth Kamp said final specifications will be discussed with the architect next week, then go to the county planning commission early next month for architectural approval. The station will be erected at the current station site at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and College Avenue.

The district also will study prices for replacing a hose bed cover on one of the trucks. Cost is expected to be about $70.

How Jolly: A Gift-Wrapped Shark

NEW YORK (AP) — 'Tis the season to be jolly, and what could be jollier than getting a gift-wrapped shark for Christmas?

Or Santa Claus playing accomplice to a pair of bank robbers?

Or a Christmas tree which grows its own ornaments?

Or take the little Jewish boy who informs the store Santa Claus in Omaha that while he does not celebrate Christmas he does observe Chanukah, the festival of lights. So Santa Claus asks him what would he like for Chanukah, and the kid says "A Christmas tree."

The Christmas shark bit was dreamed up by a pet dealer in Caracas, Venezuela. As the gift for the man who has everything, including an extra swimming pool, the dealer offered live sharks at $22 a hean.

Cincinnati was where Santa Claus turned up as the innocent stooge in a bank robbery. He was standing in front of the lens of a tell-tale camera intended to discourage holdups. So two gunmen clipped a teller for $4,200 and scrammed, unphotographed and unidentified.

The self-decorating Christmas tree? It has been developed in an arboretum at Placerville, Calif., by the Forest Genetics Institute of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The institute crossed two types of lodgepole pine and emerged with a tree which develops ornamental cones while still small enough to sharks at $22 a head.

In Portland, Ore., postal workers browsing through letters to Santa Claus ran across one from a little girl named Susan which contained a warning: "Santa, I want to tell you about our chimney. We haven't got one."

In Los Angeles, thieves marked up an assist for Christmas shoppers. The sheriff held a holiday auction of 500 unclaimed stolen articles retrieved from burglars and such.

In Des Moines, Iowa, a merchant cutely wrapped his front door to resemble a big Christmas present and pasted on a label saying "Please DO open before Christmas."

A criminal prosecutor in Tulsa, Okla., was rather pleased to receive a Christmas card from a man he had sent to prison, at least until he read the greeting: "Christmas would be so much better this year, if only I were there, or you were here."

Thief Gets Teacher's Camera, Pupils' Cash

Someone took her camera, valued at $50, and $2.40 in change from Room 7 at Olive School between last Friday and Tuesday, teacher Jacqueline Moore of 823 Hayden Drive, Novato, reported yesterday to police.

The change was collected from the students to buy educational materials, she told police.

Thieves Get Past House Watchdog

Burglars, apparently friendly with a large German shepard dog, yesterday entered the unlocked home of Judith Glodnis at 25 Madrone Avenue, San Anselmo, making off with an estimated $150 in loot.

Police said the intruders passed through the garage in which the dog, which barks at strangers, was tied. No fuss by the dog was reported by neighbors, however.

Taken were costume jewelry, Christmas presents, a table spread, three radios, a pair of binoculars, and a piece of lamb from the freezer.

House Probers Ask 'Freedom' School

WASHINGTON (AP) — Without public hearings and despite opposition from the State and Defense departments, the House Committee on Un-American Activities has quietly approved a long-pending bill to create a "freedom academy" to teach Americans how to fight communism.

The academy would be run by a "freedom commission," patterned after the Atomic Energy Commission, with $228,500 in executive salaries.

The committee made no announcement it was considering the measure. But a report filed with the House on the last day of the congressional session states it was approved last April 26 with one committee member, Rep. John C. Culver, D-Iowa, dissenting.

Reports from executive agencies opposing the measure were not received, however, until May 8 and 12.

"It will be dedicated to teaching an understanding of nonmilitary warfare as waged by the Communists and of devising new methods of combating such warfare," the committee said of the academy.

"A 'Freedom Academy' smacks too much of a state-planned training progam," Culver said in his dissent.

The committee said that in view of extensive hearings on similar bills in past years "no further hearings on these bills were deemed necessary." An identical measures was reported to the House in 1965, and a similar one was passed by the Senate the day before Congress adjourned in 1960.

The seven members of the freedom commission would each make $28,500 annually except for the chairman who would be paid $30,000. A general manager would be paid $27,500 a year to organize and operate the academy, bringing the cost to $228,500 in executive salaries. The report gives no estimate of the total annual operating cost.

The report added that the bill, sponsored by Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., a committee member, "would fulfill a most urgent and critical need of our time."

The bill also would create a 20-member advisory committee to supervise the academy.

Christmas Massacre On The Highways

"Last Christmas we massacred over 700 people on the holiday weekend, and Christmas isn't exactly dedicated to death and destruction."

The quotation is from Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., who hears many traffic cases — but not so many as he thinks the court should hear — on the bench of Marin Municipal Court. It appears in a speech by the judge which was included in a special two-page traffic safety supplement to the College of Marin Times last week.

The college paper devoted the two pages to stories and pictures regarding traffic safety, as a reminder to students on the day before they started Christmas vacation.

IT WAS A TIMELY reminder, well done. If it was somewhat out of character with the usual preoccupation of student newspapers with campus rights and the Vietnam war, there was ample reason, as this additional quotation from Judge Goldstein emphasized:

"Careless handling of an automobile takes a far greater toll on our society in one year than organized crime could account for in 100 years. Neither Al Capone nor all his contemporaries and successors, aided and abetted by Murder Incorporated could account for 50,000 persons killed on the nation's highways in 1966, nor for the eight billion dollars paid out for personal injury and property damage in the same year.

"The Viet Cong who are waging an open and notorious hot war against armed forces of the United States purposely killed 5,000 American servicemen in 1966. Yet, here at home we manage to kill 10 times more than that by accident while on a family outing or driving in connection with employment.

"This is quite a record. It is the most deadly and effective 'search and destroy' operation ever devised by mankind. And along with a lot of other unhappy traditions, we are in the process of passing it on to our children."

JUDGE GOLDSTEIN pointed out that adult drivers charged with such offenses as speeding, running a stop sign, or dangerous lane-changing customarily merely forfeit bail and do not show up in court.

"The utilization of the cashier's window and bail forfeitures as a substitute for courts must be eliminated if we are to have any real hope of reducing highway fatalities," he declared.

The judge hit at a dangerous defect in traffic law enforcement — the feeling that "oh, well, I got caught so I have to pay a fine" — takes care of everything.

Other articles in the College of Marin Times special traffic safety supplement point out rules for safe driving in the snow, the dangers of speeding as shown by statistics, the role of the California Highway Patrol and police in keeping the roads from becoming even more unsafe than they are, and the dangers of hitch-hiking.

STUDENTS OUT for the holidays aren't the only ones who need reminding that special care is needed when driving during the holidays.

The cup that cheers passes more freely in a season of celebration. And when it has passed too often to the lips of one who takes the wheel of a car, it may be the cup that kills.

That's another thing to bear in mind this Christmas season, along with Judge Goldstein's sobering statistics.

New Black Militant Groups Scrutinized

By PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The formation of a new black militant group in riot-scarred Detroit is being carefully watched by Justice Department and congressional investigators.

Called the Federation for Self-Determination, it was set up by Rev. Albert Cleage Jr., a former Black Muslim and confidant of the late Malcolm X.

Cleage, who frankly talks about guerrilla warfare breaking out in U.S. cities next year, is privately saying his new group is designed for militant blacks to gain political, economic, and physical control of Detroit's Negro community.

ACCORDING TO federal investigators, Cleage has established close ties with Stokely Carmichael, pro-Castro black revolutionary leader, and H. Rap Brown, head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

In meetings with these and other black militants from Chicago, Philadelphia, and New York, Cleage has urged them to set up similar black militant brain trusts in their cities to operate closely with his.

Cleage said his Detroit group was setting up what he called an urban research center to obtain grants from private foundations, church groups, and federal agencies.

"We are going to take money from whatever source we can get it," Cleage reported.

THE JUSTICE Department and congressional probers are also checking another black militant group that Cleage created and now heads, the so-called City-wide Citizens Action Committee.

FBI and CIA have reported that the CCAC has received money from Communist sources abroad.

Also under scrutiny by the Justice Department are the activities of Milton Henry, self-styled leader of "Black Rebellion" and one of Cleage's lieutenants in the CCAC.

According to one FBI report, Henry has been using the CCAC to acquaint young Negroes with the guerrilla warfare teachings of "Che" Guevara, the former Cuban official who was killed recently while trying to turn Bolivia into another Vietnam.

Cleage's ties with Rev. James Bevel, one of Dr. Martin Luther King's top organizers, are under investigation by both the President's special commission and Sen. John McClellan's Permanent Investigating Subcommittee, which is probing last summer's big city riots.

Significantly, a number of militant civil rights groups that Bevel organized in Chicago during King's 1966 open housing marches are being taken over by lieutenants of Cleage.

CRUCIAL DECISION — The next two months will be crucial for the Johnson Administration's widely publicized model cities program.

Housing and Urban Development Secretary Robert C. Weaver must decide how much of a voice local non-government groups should be given in shaping and carrying out programs of the 65 cities picked recently to receive the first federal grants.

Under the Demonstrations Cities and Metropolitan Development Act of 1966, city governments were given the sole responsibility of submitting plans to rehabilitate slum areas.

But the law also allows the secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, who administers the program, the right to reject a city's plan and withhold funds if he considers there is insufficient representation from private groups on the advisory board required for each program.

Secretary Weaver's answer will come when he reviews the revised plans which the 65 "model cities," selected from among 193 applicants, are being required to submit to his department.

Most of the applications proposed advisory boards heavily weighted with city officials and very few representatives from private organizations.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Full-Time Legislature Almost Reality Already

By HENRY C MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Assemblyman Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, Republican floor leader in the House, believes the passage of Proposition 1-A has improved materially the course of action in the legislative halls.

Proposition 1-A, it will be remembered, was the consituation amendment approved at the general election in 1966 which increased the salaries of legislators to $16,000 annually, and paved the way for an increasing amount of expenses accounts to be paid from the public pocket.

"IN TERMS of sheer volume, the 1967 legislature has been one of the most outstanding in California history," said Monagan.

"We held no less than three sessions, a total of 283 calendar days, and we considered 4,162 pieces of legislation.

"This tremendous volume has never ceased to amaze me. It also reinforces my faith in the committee system which has somehow always managed to keep the legislature from sinking into the deluge of complex proposals.

"Committee study has been improved by the passage of Proposition 1-A, the constitutional amendment which increased the salaries of legislators and diminished their dependence on other sources of income."

MONAGAN'S statement indicates that some of the things predicted when Proposition 1-A first was given consideration are beginning to happen.

First, that the legislature would become a full-time operation, which if 1967 is any criterion, has already happened. Those who said last January that under the new constitutional provisions, the legislators would be in session the following December, were laughed at and this was held virtually impossible. But that fact remains, the legislators were in session during December, and adjourned only three short weeks, for the holidays, before they are scheduled to return for the 1968 session.

The minority floor leader's statement that legislators are less dependent on other sources of income should be correct, as they had a year at a higher salary, plus almost a year on $25 per day expenses as well as additional times for more free booze and food from the lobbyists.

But these developments enhance the contention that men and women both are making legislation a career, rather than a duty to their fellow citizens, and that eventually, the legislature will be composed of career men who have but little knowledge of the problems encountered by citizens in their business pursuits.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Old-Time Ferries Kept On Schedule

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As a resident of Marin County for over 35 years and a ferry commuter for some eight years, I was very much amused by the editorial of last Saturday.

The argument that ferry boats ran a danger of being blown ashore on Angel Island was too amusing.

Despite the fact that the Eureka was over 70 years old when she was taken off the Sausalito-Ferry Building run, was a crudely engineered triple-expansion walking-beam paddle wheeler, almost a contemporary of the Natchez and Robert E. Lee, she managed to keep a remarkably reliable schedule of 30 minutes between Sausalito and the Ferry Building. I can assure Mr. Craemer that in all the years I rode on her, through storms that surely were as rough as any of our recent experience, she very seldom — almost hardly every — was blown ashore on Angel Island.

From Mill Valley the running time was exactly 45 minutes to the Ferry Building. I can remember that when service was cut off from Mill Valley . . . I used to be alighting from the 5:15 bus at Alto at the same time the train went by that had connected with the ferry which had left San Francisco also at 5:15. Remember also that that bus did not have to contend with very heavy traffic, and still this ancient rail-ferry equipment was able to make as good time.

I should also like to point out that the ancient boats must have had equally ancient navigational equipment, and in spite of all that they had a much higher safety record through fog and storm than any bus system could possibly have.

I do not remember the population figures of the East Bay cities which were served by the trains and ferries, but it must have been between 750,000 and 1,000,000 people.

Therefore with the most modern boats and trains which we could now have, past experience would lead us to believe that such a system should be able to provide for Marin's needs for many years to come.

Have any of our experts ever really sat down and studied the time tables and passenger statistics which are available for our ancient but efficient train-ferry system? I urge that they do so.

One Robber Who Won't Be Paroled

Editor, Independent-Journal:

May my un-Christianlike attitude be forgiven in this time of "good will toward me," but I cannot help but comment on the I-J Dec. 18 story of the Tamalpais Valley robbery attempt, in which the intended victim killed the gunman.

Thank goodness this is one case in which the armed gunman will not be brought to trial, convicted, and then released on probation.

San Francisco State Student's Account

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am a student at San Francisco State College. As such, perhaps some of your readers would like to hear a student's views of the recent activities at that college and what led up to them.

Three days a week — I eat lunch at the Commons. There is always a group of tables set up at the entrance to the Commons. Displaying their wares at such tables are: the W. E. B. DuBois Club, the Students for Democratic Society, the Progressive Labor Party, the Young Socialist Alliance, a group called the Resistance, a table giving out information on abortion, and others.

Communist party leader Gus Hall has stated, "Fronts are a thing of the past. We don't need them. We've got the W.E.B. DuBois Club, the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and the Students for Democratic Society." Unfortunately, we've got them at San Francisco State also. . .

The majority of the people manning the above table are of the hippie type. And for the most part, these same people were in the thick of the infamous Wednesday riot.

Some of the events one our campus that preceded the riot include: (1) The publication of a poem, by Jefferson Poland, on masturbation. This appeared in Open Process, which is published weekly by the Board of Publications of the Associated Students (what else is your tax money for?) and is a member of the Underground Press Syndicate. (2) An attack on the editor of the Gater, another school paper. And (3) a nude-in. I quote from the Gater of Sept. 29. "After a quick strip, Harry's prepublicized protest began, as he . . . made several nude leaks . . . still clothed female partner . . . center of the crowd's attention for nearly a half hour." . . .

African Move Indicates New Nations Growing Up

By PHIL NEWSOM

The news from Africa isn't always bad.

In the town of Arusha, in the midst of northern Tanzania's coffee and livestock growing country at the first of this month, Tanzania, Kenya and Uganda formally brought into being the East African Community.

It was a major accomplishment, considering the pressures of the last three years brought on by the East-West cold war, the ideological warfare between the Soviet Unionn and Red China, and the warring nationalism of Black Africa itself.

It also was evidence of a new sentiment among new African nations, perhaps of growing up, of a desire to get along with neighbors and of a knowledge of the cost of political and economic disintegration.

THE EAST AFRICAN Community does not mean political integration among the three, although at first it did.

This is a call for economic integration, short of the political and economic federation proposed in 1963 but more than seemed even remotely possible at the start of this year.

It was the second attempt for the three former British colonies. The first was undertaken by the British before the three had attained their independence.

The first had established common institutions among the three—currency railways and harbors, postal services, rail lines, customs, higher education and others.

But after independence, vital differences developed.

UGANDA FEARED being outvoted by the other two.
ance of Kenya, which always
Both lands feared the dominance of Kenya which always had been the commercial center of east Africa and had transportation facilities, plenty of labor and a good climate in its favor.

Military revolts tore at all three countries in 1964, greatly reducing the confidence of foreign investors.

Politically, Tanzania moved closer to Red China.

BY THE END of 1965 neither economic nor political cooperation seemed possible between primarily capitalistic Kenya and Uganda and increasingly socialist-minded Tanzania.

In May of 1965, Kenya intercepted a shipment of arms being transited secretly through its territory from Tanzania to Uganda.

In June of 1965, Tanzania announced it was breaking away from the system of common currency and banking and establishing its own. To correct a balance of payments problem it placed special embargoes on trade with both Uganda and Kenya.

The end of years of work seemed at hand.

But on Dec. 1 came the happier ending—practical application of the knowledge that the three nations with a total of 27 million population could best build up their own industry, attract foreign capital and improve their economies by working together. Now, other nations, like Ethiopia, want to join their economies by working together.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

IN CASE OF FIRE

To help avert catastrophe once a house is on fire, "Pageant" magazine offered these basic tips:

Draw a rough plan of your house and map out a main and alternate escape route from each room.

2. Emphasize the dangers of smoke as well as fire and that it can kill just as easily.

3. Pick a place outside the house where everyone should meet. Make sure everyone understands the rule that you never go back inside a burning house.

4. explain that speed is essential. Children especially should be impressed that they should not stop to dress or get a favorite toy.

5. Hold frequent drills so that family members will react almost automatically when and if disaster comes.

It requires discipline to live up to the basic rules of human well-being as well as the eternal commandments of God. But much peace and order can be gained as well as tragedy averted if we do.

"Keep the commandments of the Lord your God, by walking in His ways."

Grant me the good sense, Holy Spirit, to abide by just rules.

Christmas Massacre On The Highways

"Last Christmas we massacred over 700 people on the holiday weekend, and Christmas isn't exactly dedicated to death and destruction."

The quotation is from Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., who hears many traffic cases — but not so many as he thinks the court should hear — on the bench of Marin Municipal Court. It appears in a speech by the judge which was included in a special two-page traffic safety supplement to the College of Marin Times last week.

The college paper devoted the two pages to stories and pictures regarding traffic safety, as a reminder to students on the day before they started Christmas vacation.

IT WAS A TIMELY reminder, well done. If it was somewhat out of character with the usual preoccupation of student newspapers with campus rights and the Vietnam war, there was ample reason, as this additional quotation from Judge Goldstein emphasized:

"Careless handling of an automobile takes a far greater toll on our society in one year than organized crime could account for in 100 years. Neither Al Capone nor all his contemporaries and successors, aided and abetted by Murder Incorporated could account for 50,000 persons killed on the nation's highways in 1966, nor for the eight billion dollars paid out for personal injury and property damage in the same year.

"The Viet Cong who are waging an open and notorious hot war against armed forces of the United States purposely killed 5,000 American servicemen in 1966. Yet, here at home we manage to kill 10 times more than that by accident while on a family outing or driving in connection with employment.

"This is quite a record. It is the most deadly and effective 'search and destroy' operation ever devised by mankind. And along with a lot of other unhappy traditions, we are in the process of passing it on to our children."

JUDGE GOLDSTEIN pointed out that adult drivers charged with such offenses as speeding, running a stop sign, or dangerous lane-changing customarily merely forfeit bail and do not show up in court.

"The utilization of the cashier's window and bail forfeitures as a substitute for courts must be eliminated if we are to have any real hope of reducing highway fatalities," he declared.

The judge hit at a dangerous defect in traffic law enforcement — the feeling that "oh, well, I got caught so I have to pay a fine" — takes care of everything.

Other articles in the College of Marin Times special traffic safety supplement point out rules for safe driving in the snow, the dangers of speeding as shown by statistics, the role of the California Highway Patrol and police in keeping the roads from becoming even more unsafe than they are, and the dangers of hitch-hiking.

STUDENTS OUT for the holidays aren't the only ones who need reminding that special care is needed when driving during the holidays.

The cup that cheers passes more freely in a season of celebration. And when it has passed too often to the lips of one who takes the wheel of a car, it may be the cup that kills.

That's another thing to bear in mind this Christmas season, along with Judge Goldstein's sobering statistics.

New Black Militant Groups Scrutinized

By PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The formation of a new black militant group in riot-scarred Detroit is being carefully watched by Justice Department and congressional investigators.

Called the Federation for Self-Determination, it was set up by Rev. Albert Cleage Jr., a former Black Muslim and confidant of the late Malcolm X.

Cleage, who frankly talks about guerrilla warfare breaking out in U.S. cities next year, is privately saying his new group is designed for militant blacks to gain political, economic, and physical control of Detroit's Negro community.

ACCORDING TO federal investigators, Cleage has established close ties with Stokely Carmichael, pro-Castro black revolutionary leader, and H. Rap Brown, head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

In meetings with these and other black militants from Chicago, Philadelphia, and New York, Cleage has urged them to set up similar black militant brain trusts in their cities to operate closely with his.

Cleage said his Detroit group was setting up what he called an urban research center to obtain grants from private foundations, church groups, and federal agencies.

"We are going to take money from whatever source we can get it," Cleage reported.

THE JUSTICE Department and congressional probers are also checking another black militant group that Cleage created and now heads, the so-called City-wide Citizens Action Committee.

FBI and CIA have reported that the CCAC has received money from Communist sources abroad.

Also under scrutiny by the Justice Department are the activities of Milton Henry, self-styled leader of "Black Rebellion" and one of Cleage's lieutenants in the CCAC.

According to one FBI report, Henry has been using the CCAC to acquaint young Negroes with the guerrilla warfare teachings of "Che" Guevara, the former Cuban official who was killed recently while trying to turn Bolivia into another Vietnam.

Cleage's ties with Rev. James Bevel, one of Dr. Martin Luther King's top organizers, are under investigation by both the President's special commission and Sen. John McClellan's Permanent Investigating Subcommittee, which is probing last summer's big city riots.

Significantly, a number of militant civil rights groups that Bevel organized in Chicago during King's 1966 open housing marches are being taken over by lieutenants of Cleage.

CRUCIAL DECISION — The next two months will be crucial for the Johnson Administration's widely publicized model cities program.

Housing and Urban Development Secretary Robert C. Weaver must decide how much of a voice local non-government groups should be given in shaping and carrying out programs of the 65 cities picked recently to receive the first federal grants.

Under the Demonstrations Cities and Metropolitan Development Act of 1966, city governments were given the sole responsibility of submitting plans to rehabilitate slum areas.

But the law also allows the secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, who administers the program, the right to reject a city's plan and withhold funds if he considers there is insufficient representation from private groups on the advisory board required for each program.

Secretary Weaver's answer will come when he reviews the revised plans which the 65 "model cities," selected from among 193 applicants, are being required to submit to his department.

Most of the applications proposed advisory boards heavily weighted with city officials and very few representatives from private organizations.

Full-Time Legislature Almost Reality Already

By HENRY C MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Assemblyman Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, Republican floor leader in the House, believes the passage of Proposition 1-A has improved materially the course of action in the legislative halls.

Proposition 1-A, it will be remembered, was the consituation amendment approved at the general election in 1966 which increased the salaries of legislators to $16,000 annually, and paved the way for an increasing amount of expenses accounts to be paid from the public pocket.

"IN TERMS of sheer volume, the 1967 legislature has been one of the most outstanding in California history," said Monagan.

"We held no less than three sessions, a total of 283 calendar days, and we considered 4,162 pieces of legislation.

"This tremendous volume has never ceased to amaze me. It also reinforces my faith in the committee system which has somehow always managed to keep the legislature from sinking into the deluge of complex proposals.

"Committee study has been improved by the passage of Proposition 1-A, the constitutional amendment which increased the salaries of legislators and diminished their dependence on other sources of income."

MONAGAN'S statement indicates that some of the things predicted when Proposition 1-A first was given consideration are beginning to happen.

First, that the legislature would become a full-time operation, which if 1967 is any criterion, has already happened. Those who said last January that under the new constitutional provisions, the legislators would be in session the following December, were laughed at and this was held virtually impossible. But that fact remains, the legislators were in session during December, and adjourned only three short weeks, for the holidays, before they are scheduled to return for the 1968 session.

The minority floor leader's statement that legislators are less dependent on other sources of income should be correct, as they had a year at a higher salary, plus almost a year on $25 per day expenses as well as additional times for more free booze and food from the lobbyists.

But these developments enhance the contention that men and women both are making legislation a career, rather than a duty to their fellow citizens, and that eventually, the legislature will be composed of career men who have but little knowledge of the problems encountered by citizens in their business pursuits.

Old-Time Ferries Kept On Schedule

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As a resident of Marin County for over 35 years and a ferry commuter for some eight years, I was very much amused by the editorial of last Saturday.

The argument that ferry boats ran a danger of being blown ashore on Angel Island was too amusing.

Despite the fact that the Eureka was over 70 years old when she was taken off the Sausalito-Ferry Building run, was a crudely engineered triple-expansion walking-beam paddle wheeler, almost a contemporary of the Natchez and Robert E. Lee, she managed to keep a remarkably reliable schedule of 30 minutes between Sausalito and the Ferry Building. I can assure Mr. Craemer that in all the years I rode on her, through storms that surely were as rough as any of our recent experience, she very seldom — almost hardly every — was blown ashore on Angel Island.

From Mill Valley the running time was exactly 45 minutes to the Ferry Building. I can remember that when service was cut off from Mill Valley . . . I used to be alighting from the 5:15 bus at Alto at the same time the train went by that had connected with the ferry which had left San Francisco also at 5:15. Remember also that that bus did not have to contend with very heavy traffic, and still this ancient rail-ferry equipment was able to make as good time.

I should also like to point out that the ancient boats must have had equally ancient navigational equipment, and in spite of all that they had a much higher safety record through fog and storm than any bus system could possibly have.

I do not remember the population figures of the East Bay cities which were served by the trains and ferries, but it must have been between 750,000 and 1,000,000 people.

Therefore with the most modern boats and trains which we could now have, past experience would lead us to believe that such a system should be able to provide for Marin's needs for many years to come.

Have any of our experts ever really sat down and studied the time tables and passenger statistics which are available for our ancient but efficient train-ferry system? I urge that they do so.

One Robber Who Won't Be Paroled

Editor, Independent-Journal:

May my un-Christianlike attitude be forgiven in this time of "good will toward me," but I cannot help but comment on the I-J Dec. 18 story of the Tamalpais Valley robbery attempt, in which the intended victim killed the gunman.

Thank goodness this is one case in which the armed gunman will not be brought to trial, convicted, and then released on probation.

San Francisco State Student's Account

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am a student at San Francisco State College. As such, perhaps some of your readers would like to hear a student's views of the recent activities at that college and what led up to them.

Three days a week — I eat lunch at the Commons. There is always a group of tables set up at the entrance to the Commons. Displaying their wares at such tables are: the W. E. B. DuBois Club, the Students for Democratic Society, the Progressive Labor Party, the Young Socialist Alliance, a group called the Resistance, a table giving out information on abortion, and others.

Communist party leader Gus Hall has stated, "Fronts are a thing of the past. We don't need them. We've got the W.E.B. DuBois Club, the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and the Students for Democratic Society." Unfortunately, we've got them at San Francisco State also. . .

The majority of the people manning the above table are of the hippie type. And for the most part, these same people were in the thick of the infamous Wednesday riot.

Some of the events one our campus that preceded the riot include: (1) The publication of a poem, by Jefferson Poland, on masturbation. This appeared in Open Process, which is published weekly by the Board of Publications of the Associated Students (what else is your tax money for?) and is a member of the Underground Press Syndicate. (2) An attack on the editor of the Gater, another school paper. And (3) a nude-in. I quote from the Gater of Sept. 29. "After a quick strip, Harry's prepublicized protest began, as he . . . made several nude leaks . . . still clothed female partner . . . center of the crowd's attention for nearly a half hour." . . .

African Move Indicates New Nations Growing Up

By PHIL NEWSOM

The news from Africa isn't always bad.

In the town of Arusha, in the midst of northern Tanzania's coffee and livestock growing country at the first of this month, Tanzania, Kenya and Uganda formally brought into being the East African Community.

It was a major accomplishment, considering the pressures of the last three years brought on by the East-West cold war, the ideological warfare between the Soviet Unionn and Red China, and the warring nationalism of Black Africa itself.

It also was evidence of a new sentiment among new African nations, perhaps of growing up, of a desire to get along with neighbors and of a knowledge of the cost of political and economic disintegration.

THE EAST AFRICAN Community does not mean political integration among the three, although at first it did.

This is a call for economic integration, short of the political and economic federation proposed in 1963 but more than seemed even remotely possible at the start of this year.

It was the second attempt for the three former British colonies. The first was undertaken by the British before the three had attained their independence.

The first had established common institutions among the three—currency railways and harbors, postal services, rail lines, customs, higher education and others.

But after independence, vital differences developed.

UGANDA FEARED being outvoted by the other two. ance of Kenya, which always

Both lands feared the dominance of Kenya which always had been the commercial center of east Africa and had transportation facilities, plenty of labor and a good climate in its favor.

Military revolts tore at all three countries in 1964, greatly reducing the confidence of foreign investors.

Politically, Tanzania moved closer to Red China.

BY THE END of 1965 neither economic nor political cooperation seemed possible between primarily capitalistic Kenya and Uganda and increasingly socialist-minded Tanzania.

In May of 1965, Kenya intercepted a shipment of arms being transited secretly through its territory from Tanzania to Uganda.

In June of 1965, Tanzania announced it was breaking away from the system of common currency and banking and establishing its own. To correct a balance of payments problem it placed special embargoes on trade with both Uganda and Kenya.

The end of years of work seemed at hand.

But on Dec. 1 came the happier ending—practical application of the knowledge that the three nations with a total of 27 million population could best build up their own industry, attract foreign capital and improve their economies by working together. Now, other nations, like Ethiopia, want to join their economies by working together.

IN CASE OF FIRE

To help avert catastrophe once a house is on fire, "Pageant" magazine offered these basic tips:

Draw a rough plan of your house and map out a main and alternate escape route from each room.

2. Emphasize the dangers of smoke as well as fire and that it can kill just as easily.

3. Pick a place outside the house where everyone should meet. Make sure everyone understands the rule that you never go back inside a burning house.

4. explain that speed is essential. Children especially should be impressed that they should not stop to dress or get a favorite toy.

5. Hold frequent drills so that family members will react almost automatically when and if disaster comes.

It requires discipline to live up to the basic rules of human well-being as well as the eternal commandments of God. But much peace and order can be gained as well as tragedy averted if we do.

"Keep the commandments of the Lord your God, by walking in His ways."

What Color Is Wienerschnitzel? Maybe It's Matter Of Policy

How policy gets all mixed up with wienerschnitzels and the shade of red on the gables of San Anselmo's city council chamber may be a little confusing, but it has happened.

As simply as possible, the situation is that the San Anselmo planning commission denied a use permit for the firm, Der Wienerschnitzel, to build a restaurant. Wienerschnitzel appealed to the city council. The council approved the application.

Applications incolving drive-in restaurants then go to the design review board to see if the design and other factors are acceptable. So after determining there was no traffic problem involved, the council sent this particular application on to the board.

THE BOARD DECIDED red paint proposed for the restaurant's roof was uncommonly bright, and there was, too, a traffic problem.

A vote on approving the application failed by 5 to 2. The board, not realizing it then also needed a majority vote against the application to constitute final action, dropped the matter.

It therefore failed to take "final action" in a required 30-day period, and Wienerschnitzel had itself a use permit without need to appeal again to the council. The council, however, decided it should lay out all conditions it still wanted Wienerschnitzel to comply with before letting the permit be effective.

Wienerschnitzel was amicable about it at a recent meeting, but then an intramural conflict between the council and the board developed.

COUNCILMAN Woodrow V. Capurro said he was "bugged" by the board's deciding there would be a traffic problem when the council — which has the last say-so — already had decided none was involved.

And while he was at it, Capurro said the whole policy of such applications going to the board after the council instead of before seemed a cart-before-the-horse action. "They can refer it back, but why do this when the council has already approved it?" He said to newsmen. "The sequence just isn't in order."

James G. McDonald, board chairman, agreed with him wholeheartedly. The design board has no designs on usurping the council's final word, he said. It's just that board members felt that traffic circulation could create a hazardous condition at the proposed site.

AND ABOUT that red color: William A. Landtbom, representing Wienerschnitzel, declared that any such board's judgment was arbitrary. He also said the proposed color was no more than "a shade" redder than the gables on the council chamber itself.

McDonald, however, just happened to have a sample of the suggested color with him. He drew an amused audience reaction by hoisting it high.

"Well," said Landtbom with good humor, "maybe two shades."

He then said Wienerschnitzel has no intention of being niggardly about the final action bit. Any reasonable restriction on the construction would probably be all right. He has now been given time to work out the difficulties with city staff members.

Meanwhile, Mayor Arthur W. Smith suggested a study of changing the policy to route such applications from the planning commission to the design board (which is entitled to a miscalculation or so because it is only six months old) and then to the council.

Year-End Report Not Favorable As Ryskind Shuts Up The Store

For the next fortnight the world will have to struggle along without my expertise, for this is that happy season when I close down the village store and spend my vacation communing with friends of auld lang syne. And this year there's one of new lang syne in the shape of a cuddly granddaughter six months new.

There is, however, a small fly in the ointment. Since this is my last column for 1967, SEC regulations require me to issue a year-end report to my stockholders. This, I regret, is available even to those who take no stock in me whatsoever.

TO MAKE NO BONES about it, the news is not good. 1967 was written mainly in red ink, and no dividend can be declared this time.

We were apparently overstocked on those William McKinley and Calvin Coolidge buttons that formerly went so well; and we encountered considerable customer resistance to Chanel No. 4, which we though just as good a purchase as Chanel No. 5. Even cutting the price on these items did not move them.

But by far the biggest loss was registered at the old-fashioned notions department, whose staples have been the very backbone of the store since its inception almost 200 years ago. The standard commodities of the Puritan Ethic were bypassed for the handsomely packaged but sterile products of the Welfare State offered by the opposing store.

Thus, gumption was once the proud hallmark of every American family, from the newest immigrant to the D. A. R. — but now that the rewards it offered to the sturdy and industrious are obtainable via government handout, who needs it? I would call it a drug on the market except that in many groups — allegedly intellectual — drugs like LSD are far more marketable.

AND PATRIOTISM has become a dirty 10-letter word that is taboo, even by the Free Speech Movement, in mixed company. If 500,000 American war criminals choose to fight in Vietnam, do we have to support these mercenaries? The barbarous massacre of the civilian villagers of Dak To would in olden times have ranked with the Nazi destruction of Lidice. But not when the new motto is, "My Country, always wrong! But, right or wrong, hail my country's enemy!"

We used to sell lots of flags, from the 10-cent ones the kids loved to wave to the $2 kind that flew so proudly from shops and houses. Only our old trade buys Old Glory for display now — there's a new gang that wants a package of matches with every flag.

Even the original Ten Commandments find the going tough, since a good many preachers now offer a revised version that receives much kudos on TV panels. The revision isn't much, to be sure; it consists only of taking the "nots" out of the injunctions that begin "Thou shalt not. . ." and inserting them into those that begin, "Thou shalt. . ." Still, it's not as new as it seems: Sodom and Gomorrah tried it, too.

IF THE ABOVE sounds overly pessimistic, this quotation — ascribed to one Fred W. Bender — may be apropos: "More than one pessimist got that way by financing an optimist." And heaven knows the American taxpayer has financed so many Utopian schemes that never brought Utopia, and purchased so many gold bricks made of 14-carat straw that he is lucky to still own, free and clear, one shirt for his back.

Nor does 1968 look more promising — unless in November we decide to fight our way out of the morass we're in and elect a candidate whose record shows he can lead us back to the old-fashioned path of moral, spiritual and financial solvency.

It is in that faith that I shall reopen the old store in two weeks. And meanwhile let me thank the many faithful customers who have taken the time to send me their Christmas greetings, often accompanied by a most friendly note of encouragement. It is heartwarming to know that I am far from alone in preferring that Uncle Sam ride safely in an unmortgaged horse-and-buggy than go to Gehenna in a $350 billion jet plane that his grandchildren will eventually have to pay for.

Bless you all! May you have the very merriest of Christmases with your loved one and — though the pun is rather easy — may yours be the unhippiest of New Years.

There is, however, a small fly in the ointment. Since this is my last column for 1967, SEC regulations require me to issue a year-end report to my stockholders. This, I regret, is available even to those who take no stock in me whatsoever.

TO MAKE NO BONES about it, the news is not good. 1967 was written mainly in red ink, and no dividend can be declared this time.

We were apparently overstocked on those William McKinley and Calvin Coolidge buttons that formerly went so well; and we encountered considerable customer resistance to Chanel No. 4, which we though just as good a purchase as Chanel No. 5. Even cutting the price on these items did not move them.

But by far the biggest loss was registered at the old-fashioned notions department, whose staples have been the very backbone of the store since its inception almost 200 years ago. The standard commodities of the Puritan Ethic were bypassed for the handsomely packaged but sterile products of the Welfare State offered by the opposing store.

Thus, gumption was once the proud hallmark of every American family, from the newest immigrant to the D. A. R. — but now that the rewards it offered to the sturdy and industrious are obtainable via government handout, who needs it? I would call it a drug on the market except that in many groups — allegedly intellectual — drugs like LSD are far more marketable.

AND PATRIOTISM has become a dirty 10-letter word that is taboo, even by the Free Speech Movement, in mixed company. If 500,000 American war criminals choose to fight in Vietnam, do we have to support these mercenaries? The barbarous massacre of the civilian villagers of Dak To would in olden times have ranked with the Nazi destruction of Lidice. But not when the new motto is, "My Country, always wrong! But, right or wrong, hail my country's enemy!"

We used to sell lots of flags, from the 10-cent ones the kids loved to wave to the $2 kind that flew so proudly from shops and houses. Only our old trade buys Old Glory for display now — there's a new gang that wants a package of matches with every flag.

Even the original Ten Commandments find the going tough, since a good many preachers now offer a revised version that receives much kudos on TV panels. The revision isn't much, to be sure; it consists only of taking the "nots" out of the injunctions that begin "Thou shalt not. . ." and inserting them into those that begin, "Thou shalt. . ." Still, it's not as new as it seems: Sodom and Gomorrah tried it, too.

IF THE ABOVE sounds overly pessimistic, this quotation — ascribed to one Fred W. Bender — may be apropos: "More than one pessimist got that way by financing an optimist." And heaven knows the American taxpayer has financed so many Utopian schemes that never brought Utopia, and purchased so many gold bricks made of 14-carat straw that he is lucky to still own, free and clear, one shirt for his back.

Nor does 1968 look more promising — unless in November we decide to fight our way out of the morass we're in and elect a candidate whose record shows he can lead us back to the old-fashioned path of moral, spiritual and financial solvency.

It is in that faith that I shall reopen the old store in two weeks. And meanwhile let me thank the many faithful customers who have taken the time to send me their Christmas greetings, often accompanied by a most friendly note of encouragement. It is heartwarming to know that I am far from alone in preferring that Uncle Sam ride safely in an unmortgaged horse-and-buggy than go to Gehenna in a $350 billion jet plane that his grandchildren will eventually have to pay for.

Bless you all! May you have the very merriest of Christmases with your loved one and — though the pun is rather easy — may yours be the unhippiest of New Years.

About 25 babysitters in Marinwood will "graduate" tonight from a four-week course on how to meet emergencies, conducted by the Marinwood Fire Department.

Fire Chief James W. Cameron said tonight's class, which starts at 7 p.m., is the fourth and final session. Instructors will be Firemen Albert Anderson and Ralph Craven.

Cameron hopes to start a new course for baby sitters in January.

Today is Thursday, Dec. 21, the 355th day of 1967 with 10 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1620, the Pilgrims set foot for the first time on American soil at Plymouth, Mass.

In 1942, the U.S. Supreme Court upheld the validity of six-week divorces granted in the state of Nevada.

In 1944, horse racing was banned in the United States for the duration of World War II.

In 1953, ex-premier Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran was convicted of attempting to lead a revolt against the Shah.

A thought for the day — British poet Richard Chenevix French said, "We kneel, how weak. We rise, how full of power."

Raccoons enjoy cities as well as suburbs and countryside. Not long ago, a stray coon staged a sit-in on a second-story ledge of the Treasury Department. Finally the coon jumped to the ground and led frustrated rescuers on a chase through downtown Washington.

DIAMOND OPENER

West opened the king of diamonds, continued with the ace, and then led the jack of diamonds to make South ruff. East discarded the deuce of hearts on the third diamond.

South knew that West had the king of hearts for the opening bid. How could South avoid the loss of a heart and a club? The answer depended partly on reading the discards.

South led out his trumps, discarding a club from dummy on the last trump. West discarded a heart, a diamond, another heart and finally a club.

COUNTS HAND

West's heart discards, together with his raise to two hearts, made it clear that he had started with four hearts to the king. He had already shown up with five diamonds and only one spade. This left room in the West hand for exactly three clubs.

As soon as West discarded one of those clubs South could strip the clubs from the West hand by taking the king and ace. Then he could lead dummy's last diamond, saved for this purpose, discarding the losing club from his own hand.

LAST TRICKS

West had to win with the nine of diamonds and then had to return a heart, giving South the last two tricks with the ace and queen of hearts.

There was no problem in locating the king of hearts. The point of the play was to force West to discard his safe club exit so that he could be obliged to lead hearts from his king when put in with a diamond at the end of the hand.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two hearts. Despite the impressive heart support the hand is not worth a jump to four hearts. When you have little high-card strength you should make up for it by distributional strength, a singleton or void suit.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Depression Is A Subtle Cause Of Insomnia; Other Causes, Too

VAN DELLEN

Insomnia usually is not a problem before the age of 30. After 30, the average person has trouble parting with the cares of the day. Sleep then becomes a matter of major interest.

Physical factors such as noise, bright lights, cold, unaccustomed surroundings, and too much coffee or tea may induce insomnia. Certain stimulating medicines also affect slumber.

TENSION AND anxiety are obvious causes. Depression is more subtle; the victim falls asleep but awakens after a few hours to worry and brood for the rest of the night.

Some people have a phobia about sleep. Still others are overly concerned with the possible ill effects of not getting enough sleep. When they do not doze off immediately, they fuss. The more agitated they get, the more awake.

DOES THE BRAIN rest during sleep?

This is questionable because brain wave tests (EEG) show almost as much mental activity in slumber as when awake. Studies have shown that those who sleep well are often unaware of multiple interruptions of rest. The waking pattern of the EEG is replaced at night by altered waves and slower frequencies.

The depth of sleep is graded from one to four, according to the type of waves noted on the electroencephalograph. Large waves indicate full unconciousness and rate stage four. When the person is on the brink of deep sleep, the machine measures smaller waves. Wakeful periods are rated zero.

Brain waves are modified constantly by activity of the nervous system as the pattern varies from drowsiness to deepest sleep. The EEG shows that during the first few hours we are the least sensitive to stimuli such as noise and cold.

Sleep is essential to health and well-being. The number of hours a person sleeps is not so important as whether slumber has restored energy reserves and abolished fatigue.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

B FOR NEURITIS

V. L. J. writes: I have neuritis in my right arm. Are there any special foods that would help me?

REPLY

Foods high in vitamin B, especially thiamin, may help. These include pork, whole wheat, corn, bread, dried beans and peas, lamb, peanuts and milk. But if you need vitamin B, capsules are easier to take and are more effective because they are concentrated 100 or more times.

BACK PAIN

L. I. writes: Why do I have pain in the back on the left side when I cough, sneeze, or laugh?

REPLY

Because these maneuvers stretch or pull the muscles, tendons, or cartilages in the affected area. Occasionally these symptons stem from a slipped disk or a previous bout of pleurisy.

WEAKENED FROM FLU

Mrs. C. C. writes: Why does a person feel so washed out after a bout of influenza?

REPLY

Weakness often stems from the toxic after effects of the causative virus or the secondary infection that often accompanies the flu. Fatigue is a common aftermath of many viral infections.

RELAXED STRUCTURES

P. M. J. writes: For the past year every time I laugh, cough, or sneeze, I urinate. What is responsible for this annoyance?

REPLY

Relaxation of the pelvic floor after childbirth or surgery. An operation will correct this problem.

Today's Health Hint — Keep the baby's high chair away from kitchen counters and the stove.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Depression Is A Subtle Cause Of Insomnia; Other Causes, Too

VAN DELLEN

Insomnia usually is not a problem before the age of 30. After 30, the average person has trouble parting with the cares of the day. Sleep then becomes a matter of major interest.

Physical factors such as noise, bright lights, cold, unaccustomed surroundings, and too much coffee or tea may induce insomnia. Certain stimulating medicines also affect slumber.

TENSION AND anxiety are obvious causes. Depression is more subtle; the victim falls asleep but awakens after a few hours to worry and brood for the rest of the night.

Some people have a phobia about sleep. Still others are overly concerned with the possible ill effects of not getting enough sleep. When they do not doze off immediately, they fuss. The more agitated they get, the more awake.

DOES THE BRAIN rest during sleep?

This is questionable because brain wave tests (EEG) show almost as much mental activity in slumber as when awake. Studies have shown that those who sleep well are often unaware of multiple interruptions of rest. The waking pattern of the EEG is replaced at night by altered waves and slower frequencies.

The depth of sleep is graded from one to four, according to the type of waves noted on the electroencephalograph. Large waves indicate full unconciousness and rate stage four. When the person is on the brink of deep sleep, the machine measures smaller waves. Wakeful periods are rated zero.

Brain waves are modified constantly by activity of the nervous system as the pattern varies from drowsiness to deepest sleep. The EEG shows that during the first few hours we are the least sensitive to stimuli such as noise and cold.

Sleep is essential to health and well-being. The number of hours a person sleeps is not so important as whether slumber has restored energy reserves and abolished fatigue.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

B FOR NEURITIS

V. L. J. writes: I have neuritis in my right arm. Are there any special foods that would help me?

REPLY

Foods high in vitamin B, especially thiamin, may help. These include pork, whole wheat, corn, bread, dried beans and peas, lamb, peanuts and milk. But if you need vitamin B, capsules are easier to take and are more effective bceause they are concentrated 100 or more times.

BACK PAIN

L. I. writes: Why do I have pain in the back on the left side when I cough, sneeze, or laugh?

REPLY

Because these maneuvers stretch or pull the muscles, tendons, or cartilages in the affected area. Occasionally these symptons stem from a slipped disk or a previous bout of pleurisy.

WEAKENED FROM FLU

Mrs. C. C. writes: Why does a person feel so washed out after a bout of influenza?

REPLY

Weakness often stems from the toxic after effects of the causative virus or the secondary infection that often accompanies the flu. Fatigue is a common aftermath of many viral infections.

RELAXED STRUCTURES

P. M. J. writes: For the past year every time I laugh, cough, or sneeze, I urinate. What is responsible for this annoyance?

REPLY

Relaxation of the pelvic floor after childbirth or surgery. An operation will correct this problem.

Today's Health Hint — Keep the baby's high chair away from kitchen counters and the stove.

Fish, Game Seat Goes To Chickering

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Sherman Chickering, prominent San Francisco Republican and social figure, has been appointed to the California fish and game commission by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Chickering, 56, replaces Thomas H. Richards Jr. of Sacramento, whose term expires on Jan. 15 and who had announced recently he would not seek reappointment. Richards had been on the commission since 1956.

Chickering is a partner in the San Francisco law firm of Chickering and Gregory. One of the members of the firm is F. Putnam Livermore, brother of Norman B. Livermore Jr., of San Rafael, who serves as administratior of the resourses agency under Reagan. The fish and game commission is part of that agency.

The new commissioner is married and has three children. He has served as a director, member of the executive committee and vice president of the San Diego Gas and Electric Co. since 1956 and is a director of the San Luis Mining Company.

Chickering's appointment, for the first time in many years, leaves the big central valleys without a representative on the commission. Earlier this year, Reagan had replaced Dante Nomellini of Stockton with Ransom Pearman of Los Angels. Other members of the commission are James Y. Camp, Los Angeles; William P. Elser, San Diego; and Henry Clineschmidt, Redding.

The commission sets seasons, regulations and limits for hunting and fishing, takes action against certain violators of commercial fishing regulations, licenses private game bird clubs, and grants permits for seismological testing in the ocean. The commission also has authority to regulate the taking of anchovies for purposes of reduction.

The governor's office annoucement of Chickering's appointment made no mention of his interests or connection with hunting and fishing but he reportedly belongs to a duck hunting club and is a member of Ducks Unlimited.

Beginning Sewing Class To Be Offered

A 12-week course in beginning sewing will be offered from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Mondays, starting Jan. 8, at Redwood High School.

The course will include pattern study, fitting, cutting, pressing, seams, zippers, sleeves and color analysis.

'Silent Majority' Held Campus Woes' Cause

BURLINGAME (UPI) — The "silent majority of students and faculty at state supported institutions of higher education should assume leadership to prevent further campus strife, according to the California College and University faculty Association.

Executive Secretary Robert E. Phelps of CCUFA, higher education branch of the 160,000-member California Teachers Association, said yesterday "we are convinced that the present problems are to a large degree a result of abdication of responsibility by a majority of faculty and students."

EXTREMISM CITED

He referred to disturbances earlier this month at San Francisco and Los Angeles State Colleges.

"The threat from the extreme left is just as critical as from the extreme right. In the final analysis, there is little difference," Phelps said. "Therefore, the academic community must insist that freedom be balanced by order if public confidence in higher education is to be restored."

TRUSTEES OPPOSED

Phelps also said the CCUFA is opposed to the recent action by the California State College Board of Trustees which eliminated discretionary powers of administrative officers and faculty in suspensions, expulsions and dismissal of students involved in campus demonstrations.

He said the CCUFA has requested the trustees to reconsider their action ordering a special task force to investigate the administrative "stewardship" of John Summerskill, president of San Francisco State.

Guilty Verdict Is Returned In Slaying Of Trio

SUSANVILLE (UPI) — A Superior Court jury deliberated about seven hours and found William Tidwell Jr., 21, of Redding, guilty last night of the first-degree murders of a popular Lassen County rancher, his wife and another man.

The honorably discharged soldier showed no emotion as the panel of seven men and five women announced its verdict in the courtroom of Judge Stanley Arnold for the August slayings.

The conviction could carry a death penalty sentence. The date of a penalty trial will be set Friday.

Redwood Story Held Misleading

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The chairman of the Assembly Natural Resources, Public Works and Planning Committee says that newspaper advertising which opposes a U.S. Senate plan to create a redwood national park is misleading.

Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento, said yesterday that the Georgia-Pacific Corp. is advertising its recommendation that existing state lands be used as a national preserve. The firm says that the best redwood trees are already under public ownership.

The proposed federal legislation would add privately owned redwood land to existing state parks in Del Norte and Humboldt counties.

Fish, Game Seat Goes To Chickering

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Sherman Chickering, prominent San Francisco Republican and social figure, has been appointed to the California fish and game commission by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Chickering, 56, replaces Thomas H. Richards Jr. of Sacramento, whose term expires on Jan. 15 and who had announced recently he would not seek reappointment. Richards had been on the commission since 1956.

Chickering is a partner in the San Francisco law firm of Chickering and Gregory. One of the members of the firm is F. Putnam Livermore, brother of Norman B. Livermore Jr., of San Rafael, who serves as administratior of the resourses agency under Reagan. The fish and game commission is part of that agency.

The new commissioner is married and has three children. He has served as a director, member of the executive committee and vice president of the San Diego Gas and Electric Co. since 1956 and is a director of the San Luis Mining Company.

Chickering's appointment, for the first time in many years, leaves the big central valleys without a representative on the commission. Earlier this year, Reagan had replaced Dante Nomellini of Stockton with Ransom Pearman of Los Angels. Other members of the commission are James Y. Camp, Los Angeles; William P. Elser, San Diego; and Henry Clineschmidt, Redding.

The commission sets seasons, regulations and limits for hunting and fishing, takes action against certain violators of commercial fishing regulations, licenses private game bird clubs, and grants permits for seismological testing in the ocean. The commission also has authority to regulate the taking of anchovies for purposes of reduction.

The governor's office annoucement of Chickering's appointment made no mention of his interests or connection with hunting and fishing but he reportedly belongs to a duck hunting club and is a member of Ducks Unlimited.

Beginning Sewing Class To Be Offered

A 12-week course in beginning sewing will be offered from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Mondays, starting Jan. 8, at Redwood High School.

The course will include pattern study, fitting, cutting, pressing, seams, zippers, sleeves and color analysis.

'Silent Majority' Held Campus Woes' Cause

BURLINGAME (UPI) — The "silent majority of students and faculty at state supported institutions of higher education should assume leadership to prevent further campus strife, according to the California College and University faculty Association.

Executive Secretary Robert E. Phelps of CCUFA, higher education branch of the 160,000-member California Teachers Association, said yesterday "we are convinced that the present problems are to a large degree a result of abdication of responsibility by a majority of faculty and students."

EXTREMISM CITED

He referred to disturbances earlier this month at San Francisco and Los Angeles State Colleges.

"The threat from the extreme left is just as critical as from the extreme right. In the final analysis, there is little difference," Phelps said. "Therefore, the academic community must insist that freedom be balanced by order if public confidence in higher education is to be restored."

TRUSTEES OPPOSED

Phelps also said the CCUFA is opposed to the recent action by the California State College Board of Trustees which eliminated discretionary powers of administrative officers and faculty in suspensions, expulsions and dismissal of students involved in campus demonstrations.

He said the CCUFA has requested the trustees to reconsider their action ordering a special task force to investigate the administrative "stewardship" of John Summerskill, president of San Francisco State.

Guilty Verdict Is Returned In Slaying Of Trio

SUSANVILLE (UPI) — A Superior Court jury deliberated about seven hours and found William Tidwell Jr., 21, of Redding, guilty last night of the first-degree murders of a popular Lassen County rancher, his wife and another man.

The honorably discharged soldier showed no emotion as the panel of seven men and five women announced its verdict in the courtroom of Judge Stanley Arnold for the August slayings.

The conviction could carry a death penalty sentence. The date of a penalty trial will be set Friday.

Redwood Story Held Misleading

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The chairman of the Assembly Natural Resources, Public Works and Planning Committee says that newspaper advertising which opposes a U.S. Senate plan to create a redwood national park is misleading.

Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento, said yesterday that the Georgia-Pacific Corp. is advertising its recommendation that existing state lands be used as a national preserve. The firm says that the best redwood trees are already under public ownership.

The proposed federal legislation would add privately owned redwood land to existing state parks in Del Norte and Humboldt counties.

Help Wanted: Someone To Lead 49ers To Gold

COMBINED AP & UPI

The San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League fired coach Jack Christiansen on his 39th birthday yesterday —and speculation swirled as to a possible successor.

The ax was not entirely unexpected following this season's 7-7 mark.

The names of two Christiansen assistants—Bill Johnson and Y.A. Tittle—have come up as possible successors.

UPI sports writer Joe Sargis hints that the new coach has already been signed, saying the 49ers are simply waiting for the right time to make the announcement.

Lou Spadia, president of the 49ers, gave Christiansen his notice at a meeting in Redwood City, and said he had not had any contacts concerning a possible successor—but would like to start talks soon.

"I hope to have a new head coach to work with our personnel director and general manager in time to plan for the player draft Jan. 30," Spadia said.

He continued, "we just felt that a change in leadership was very necessary. I'm not at all happy about what had to be done because I think highly of Chris as a person."

Christiansen commented: "That happens to a coach if he doesn't win. Mr. Spadia gave no reason. He said things didn't work out like he hoped and he wanted a change.

I had hoped to be given a chance to continue after we won our last two games."

He noted his record the past three years was 20-19-3 after taking the 49ers at the bottom from fired coach Red Hickey in 1963. He had a 2-9 mark the remainder of that season and was 4-10 in 1964.

Christiansen, whose salary was undisclosed, said he had no contract with other teams.

Johnson and Tittle have denied any contacts. UCLA Coach Tommy Prothro and former Minesota Vikings Coach Norm Van Brocklin also have been mentioned.

Christiansen wants to stay in football.

Spadia said both John Brodie and George Mira are fine quarterbacks but he couldn't foretell their future. There's been talk Brodie might be traded and Mira has demanded he be played or traded.

At Key West, Fla. Mira expressed surprise at Christiansen's firing. Mira remarked he wants a starting job, will go anywhere to get it and if "San Francisco wants to offer me that, I'll consider signing."

Guessing Game Starts For 49er Football Fans

And now the guessing game starts.

Who will inherit the tattered remnants of the 49ers now that Jack Christiansen has been given the old heave-ho?

This is the fun season, like guessing the contents of that big box under the tree.

In the next few days you'll read the names of dozens of candidates for San Francisco's top pro football job.

The minute the news of Christiansen's dismissal flashed across the wires yesterday afternoon the guessing game started. Y. A. Tittle, Bill Johnson and Dick Voris, Chris' aides, were the first names tossed into the basket.

JACK CHRISTIANSEN

Others reached into the collegiate ranks to offer such big names as USC's John McKay, UCLA's Tommy Prothro and Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty.

Ralph Chatoian was the first to give the job to Dee Andros, the "jolly pumpkin" who has worked minor miracles at Oregon State.

I personally favor former 49er assistant Phil Bengtson, the defensive wizard for Violent Vince Lombardi at Green Bay. Look at the job he's done.

Norman Van Brocklin is another name tossed into the hopper, but I think the former Minnesota Viking coach is too much of a crybaby to handle the 49ers.

49ers Need A Santa Scrooge

Some say the 49ers need an old meanie like Lombardi to whip the Golden Gate gridders into a winning unit. But Red Strader and Red Hickey filled that description and failed miserably. Nice guys like Lawrence Timothy "Buck" Shaw, Francis Albert and Jack Christiansen couldn't buddy-buddy the boys to a championship either.

Maybe a mean old nice man is just what they need. Sort of a Santa Scrooge.

Anyway, plese submit your guesses to this department and we'll see how long a list we can compose.

An Untimely Announcement

Meanwhile, 49er President Lou Spadia yesterday won the "Poor Timing of 1967" award. With only 11 days remaining in the year, nice guy Lou barely made it under the wire.

I mean, like, golly, Lou, yesterday was Christiansen's 39th birthday. Also it was the day the 49ers' Christmas greetings card, complete with a picture of the squad and coaching staff, arrived at homes.

"Hello, Chris, old boy, this is Loveable Lou. Just thought I'd call you up to wish you a Merry Christmas, Happy New Year, Happy Birthday. Joy to the world . . Ho. Ho, Ho.

"And by the way, Chris old pal, old buddy, your're fired, baby."

Warriors Again Tip Pistons

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors pounced on the Detroit Pistons for the third time this season, coming off with a 113-109 victory last night in National Basketball Association play.

The win left second place San Francisco 2½ games behind first place St. Louis.

Jeff Mullins sparked the Warriors with 28 points as the league's leading scorer, Dave Bing, punched in a like number for Detroit.

The Warriors were down by as many as 12 points during the second period, then ended the half on the short end, 61-59. But they pulled into the lead in the third quarter and kept it.

Mullins hit two prime baskets in the last minute to give San Francisco its margin. Teammate Nate Thurmond racked up 19 for the night. Dave DeBusschere was Detroit's second high man with 24 points.

Wilt Chamberlain Hits 53 Points

SEATTLE (UPI) — Big Wilt Chamberlain was the whole show last night as the Philadelphia 76ers scored a 160-122 National Basketball Association victor over the Seattle Supersonics.

Chamberlain set two coliseum records as he poured in 53 points and picked off 38 rebounds.

Oakland's Rauch Is Coach Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — John Rauch, who piloted the Oakland Raiders to their first American Football League Western Division title ever, has been selected AFL Coach of the Year by a nationwide Associated Press panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Rauch outdistanced San Diego's Sid Gillman and Wally Lemm of Houston in voting by three-man committees in each of the AFL's nine league cities.

A ROMP

It was a romp to the Western crown by the underdog Raiders, who trailed Kansas City in preseason estimates but made a shambles of the race by drubbing the Chiefs and prime contender San Diego. That gave Rauch the nod.

In only his second year as head coach of the Oakland entry, Rauch molded the Raiders into title contenders with a redesigned offense and one of the AFL's stingiest defenses.

The Raiders lead the league defensively, allowing only 237.2 yards per game. Offensively, Oakland has scored the most touchdowns and the most points. En route to the title, the Raiders, 12-1, won nine straight games, with one still to go.

COACH'S DREAM

The year has been a coach's dream, but one which Rauch had a great deal to do in molding. He stepped up to the top job as coach succeeding Al Davis before the 1966 season. The 8-5-1 record was good, but not good enough.

During the off-season, he swung a controversial trade which sent longtime Oakland quarterback Tom Flores and split end Art Powell to Buffalo for quarterback Daryle Lamonica, who had warmed the Bills bench for four years, and Glenn Bass, a wide receiver.

Bass failed to make the Raiders in training camp and the deal looked like a bust but suddenly, under the careful tutelage of Rauch, Lamonica developed into a star.

RECEIVERS

For receivers, Rauch gave Lamonica split end Bill Miller, who had caught only two passes in three seasons, and tight end Billy Cannon, a converted running back, up front.

Both blossomed into stars and Cannon, who was deadly on short screen passes, was named tight end on the AP AFL All-Star team announced earlier this week.

But the ace in the hole was Hewritt Dixon, a tough running back, who became Lemonica's No. 1 target in Rauch's offensive plans. Dixon specialized in the short pass over the line of scrimmage and was in a season-long battle for the pass receiving lead.

Shortly before the season started, Rauch picked up 40-year-old George Blanda to handle place kicking duties and the veteran quarterback leads the league in scoring with 112 points.

BOUNCED BACK

The pieces began falling in place on the Raiders' Eastern trip after their only loss to New York. They bounced right back and haven't lost since.

"They all do a great job," says Rauch of his team. "They work hard night and day."

Rauch came to the Raiders as an assistant in 1963 after a decade of college coaching at Florida, Tulane, Georgia and West Point. He was a star quarterback at Georgia from 1945-48 and played professional football for three seasons before turning to coaching.

Nine Raiders On Western Stars Team

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Quarterback Daryle Lamonica and eight other players of the American Football League's Western champion Oakland Raiders were named today to the West team for the AFL All-Star game in Jacksonville's Gator Bowl Jan. 21.

Lamonica, the league's leading passer, will have four of the AFL's top receivers as targets—Lance Alworth of San Diego, Mike Garrett of Kansas City, Hewritt Dixon of Oakland and Al Denson of Denver.

22 PICKS

The top 22 West All-Stars, announced by AFL President Milt Woodard, include six each from Kansas City and San Diego and one from Denver in addition to the nine from Oakland.

Coach Lou Saban of Denver, who will coach the West, will pick an addition 11 players.

The West All-Stars:

OFFENSE

Quarterback—Daryle Lamonica, Oakland.
Halfback—Mike Garrett, Kansas City.

Newest Fad In Soccer: Wool Tights

LONDON (AP) — Tights are being worn by soccer players in Germany and Switzerland now that cold weather is here—but the British will have no part of it.

"You would have to play well to wear them before a big crowd," was the remark of Jimmy Greaves of Tottenham Hotspur.

Bill Nicholson, Tottenham's manager said: "I would like my team to try the practical value of woolen tights. But even then the whole team must wear them. And some could be embarrassed."

German players started the fad for ballet-type tights as a defense against the cold, and Switzerland quickly followed suit."

Scoring Rampage By Five Guards

College of Marin's Tars, flashing brilliance at the guard positions, smothered Solano College 91-62 in a non-league basketball encounter last night at Kentfield.

The five Tar guards who saw action accounted for 55 points and led the second half assault that simply overpowered the visitors.

"With four really top flight guards we were able to wear them (Solano) down with our full court press," said coach Cal Riemcke. "It really got to them in the second half."

OPEN UP

Leading by a slim 42-36 margin at halftime, the Tars broke it open early in the second half when Dan O'Brien got a hot hand and clicked on four quick field goals. Russ Smith, the veteran guard, kept the pressure up late in the game as the Tars hit their scoring peak of the season.

Six Mariners scored in double figures, led by Smith and Andre Horn, the former Redwood High flash, with 15 apiece.

It was Marin's third victory of the campaign against five setbacks.

CABRILLO

The Tars entertain Cabrillo College tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. A 7 o'clock preliminary game will match Marin alumni players from the 1950s against alumni from the 1960s.

Solano scoring: McKenzie, 2-1-5; Tilley, 5-2-12; Talley, 7-2-16; Norman, 2-8-12; McInerney, 5-5-15; McKee, 0-1-1; Woodson, 0-1-1. Totals—21-20-62.

Marin scoring: Tom Stetson, 6-0-12; Russ Smith, 7-1-15; Andre Horn, 6-3-15; Russ Williams, 3-4-10; Keith Kornelis, 3-4-10; Dan O'Brien, 5-1-11; Tom Hernberger, 2-0-4; Roy Wolford, 2-0-4; Chip Tyson, 1-0-2; Phil Abbott, 1-0-2; Brian Grove, 1-2-4. Totals—38-15-91.

GEORGE MIRA REPEATS HIS GRID STAND

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Disgruntled San Francisco quarterback George Mira said yesterday that the firing of the 49ers' head coach "still doesn't change my opinion about shopping around and talking to other clubs."

Mira said he was surprised to learn Coach Jack Christiansen had been fired.

"I really didn't have any idea," he said. "I don't have any idea who the new coach will be."

Mira announced before the start of the 1967 season he would play out his option with the 49ers, making him eligible to hunt a new job May 1, 1968.

"What I'm looking for is a starting job, and I'll go anywhere to get it," he said yesterday. "But if San Francisco wants to offer me that, I'll consider signing."

"I'm not going to kick a guy when he's down," he said. "But I've said all along I never felt he gave me a fair shot."

Ralph Chatoian was the first to give the job to Dee Andros, the "jolly pumpkin" who has worked minor miracles at Oregon State.

I personally favor former 49er assistant Phil Bengtson, the defensive wizard for Violent Vince Lombardi at Green Bay. Look at the job he's done.

Norman Van Brocklin is another name tossed into the hopper, but I think the former Minnesota Viking coach is too much of a crybaby to handle the 49ers.

49ers Need A Santa Scrooge

Some say the 49ers need an old meanie like Lombardi to whip the Golden Gate gridders into a winning unit. But Red Strader and Red Hickey filled that description and failed miserably. Nice guys like Lawrence Timothy "Buck" Shaw, Francis Albert and Jack Christiansen couldn't buddy-buddy the boys to a championship either.

Maybe a mean old nice man is just what they need. Sort of a Santa Scrooge.

Anyway, plese submit your guesses to this department and we'll see how long a list we can compose.

An Untimely Announcement

Meanwhile, 49er President Lou Spadia yesterday won the "Poor Timing of 1967" award. With only 11 days remaining in the year, nice guy Lou barely made it under the wire.

I mean, like, golly, Lou, yesterday was Christiansen's 39th birthday. Also it was the day the 49ers' Christmas greetings card, complete with a picture of the squad and coaching staff, arrived at homes.

"Hello, Chris, old boy, this is Loveable Lou. Just thought I'd call you up to wish you a Merry Christmas, Happy New Year, Happy Birthday. Joy to the world . . Ho. Ho, Ho.

"And by the way, Chris old pal, old buddy, your're fired, baby."

Warriors Again Tip Pistons

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors pounced on the Detroit Pistons for the third time this season, coming off with a 113-109 victory last night in National Basketball Association play.

The win left second place San Francisco 2½ games behind first place St. Louis.

Jeff Mullins sparked the Warriors with 28 points as the league's leading scorer, Dave Bing, punched in a like number for Detroit.

The Warriors were down by as many as 12 points during the second period, then ended the half on the short end, 61-59. But they pulled into the lead in the third quarter and kept it.

Mullins hit two prime baskets in the last minute to give San Francisco its margin. Teammate Nate Thurmond racked up 19 for the night. Dave DeBusschere was Detroit's second high man with 24 points.

Wilt Chamberlain Hits 53 Points

SEATTLE (UPI) — Big Wilt Chamberlain was the whole show last night as the Philadelphia 76ers scored a 160-122 National Basketball Association victor over the Seattle Supersonics.

Chamberlain set two coliseum records as he poured in 53 points and picked off 38 rebounds.

Oakland's Rauch Is Coach Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — John Rauch, who piloted the Oakland Raiders to their first American Football League Western Division title ever, has been selected AFL Coach of the Year by a nationwide Associated Press panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Rauch outdistanced San Diego's Sid Gillman and Wally Lemm of Houston in voting by three-man committees in each of the AFL's nine league cities.

A ROMP

It was a romp to the Western crown by the underdog Raiders, who trailed Kansas City in preseason estimates but made a shambles of the race by drubbing the Chiefs and prime contender San Diego. That gave Rauch the nod.

In only his second year as head coach of the Oakland entry, Rauch molded the Raiders into title contenders with a redesigned offense and one of the AFL's stingiest defenses.

The Raiders lead the league defensively, allowing only 237.2 yards per game. Offensively, Oakland has scored the most touchdowns and the most points. En route to the title, the Raiders, 12-1, won nine straight games, with one still to go.

COACH'S DREAM

The year has been a coach's dream, but one which Rauch had a great deal to do in molding. He stepped up to the top job as coach succeeding Al Davis before the 1966 season. The 8-5-1 record was good, but not good enough.

During the off-season, he swung a controversial trade which sent longtime Oakland quarterback Tom Flores and split end Art Powell to Buffalo for quarterback Daryle Lamonica, who had warmed the Bills bench for four years, and Glenn Bass, a wide receiver.

Bass failed to make the Raiders in training camp and the deal looked like a bust but suddenly, under the careful tutelage of Rauch, Lamonica developed into a star.

RECEIVERS

For receivers, Rauch gave Lamonica split end Bill Miller, who had caught only two passes in three seasons, and tight end Billy Cannon, a converted running back, up front.

Both blossomed into stars and Cannon, who was deadly on short screen passes, was named tight end on the AP AFL All-Star team announced earlier this week.

But the ace in the hole was Hewritt Dixon, a tough running back, who became Lemonica's No. 1 target in Rauch's offensive plans. Dixon specialized in the short pass over the line of scrimmage and was in a season-long battle for the pass receiving lead.

Shortly before the season started, Rauch picked up 40-year-old George Blanda to handle place kicking duties and the veteran quarterback leads the league in scoring with 112 points.

BOUNCED BACK

The pieces began falling in place on the Raiders' Eastern trip after their only loss to New York. They bounced right back and haven't lost since.

"They all do a great job," says Rauch of his team. "They work hard night and day."

Rauch came to the Raiders as an assistant in 1963 after a decade of college coaching at Florida, Tulane, Georgia and West Point. He was a star quarterback at Georgia from 1945-48 and played professional football for three seasons before turning to coaching.

Newest Fad In Soccer: Wool Tights

LONDON (AP) — Tights are being worn by soccer players in Germany and Switzerland now that cold weather is here—but the British will have no part of it.

"You would have to play well to wear them before a big crowd," was the remark of Jimmy Greaves of Tottenham Hotspur.

Bill Nicholson, Tottenham's manager said: "I would like my team to try the practical value of woolen tights. But even then the whole team must wear them. And some could be embarrassed."

German players started the fad for ballet-type tights as a defense against the cold, and Switzerland quickly followed suit."

Scoring Rampage By Five Guards

College of Marin's Tars, flashing brilliance at the guard positions, smothered Solano College 91-62 in a non-league basketball encounter last night at Kentfield.

The five Tar guards who saw action accounted for 55 points and led the second half assault that simply overpowered the visitors.

"With four really top flight guards we were able to wear them (Solano) down with our full court press," said coach Cal Riemcke. "It really got to them in the second half."

OPEN UP

Leading by a slim 42-36 margin at halftime, the Tars broke it open early in the second half when Dan O'Brien got a hot hand and clicked on four quick field goals. Russ Smith, the veteran guard, kept the pressure up late in the game as the Tars hit their scoring peak of the season.

Six Mariners scored in double figures, led by Smith and Andre Horn, the former Redwood High flash, with 15 apiece.

It was Marin's third victory of the campaign against five setbacks.

CABRILLO

The Tars entertain Cabrillo College tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. A 7 o'clock preliminary game will match Marin alumni players from the 1950s against alumni from the 1960s.

Solano scoring: McKenzie, 2-1-5; Tilley, 5-2-12; Talley, 7-2-16; Norman, 2-8-12; McInerney, 5-5-15; McKee, 0-1-1; Woodson, 0-1-1, Totals—21-20-62.

Marin scoring: Tom Stetson, 6-0-12; Russ Smith, 7-1-15; Andre Horn, 6-3-15; Russ Williams, 3-4-10; Keith Kornelis, 3-4-10; Dan O'Brien, 5-1-11; Tom Hernberger, 2-0-4; Roy Wolford, 2-0-4; Chip Tyson, 1-0-2; Phil Abbott, 1-0-2; Brian Grove, 1-2-4. Totals—38-15-91.

GEORGE MIRA REPEATS HIS GRID STAND

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Disgruntled San Francisco quarterback George Mira said yesterday that the firing of the 49ers' head coach "still doesn't change my opinion about shopping around and talking to other clubs."

Mira said he was surprised to learn Coach Jack Christiansen had been fired.

"I really didn't have any idea," he said. "I don't have any idea who the new coach will be."

Mira announced before the start of the 1967 season he would play out his option with the 49ers, making him eligible to hunt a new job May 1, 1968.

"What I'm looking for is a starting job, and I'll go anywhere to get it," he said yesterday. "But if San Francisco wants to offer me that, I'll consider signing."

"I'm not going to kick a guy when he's down," he said. "But I've said all along I never felt he gave me a fair shot."

Says Son Of Ex-Cub Manager

What is the most important ingredient for a winning major league baseball team?

Some experts say it hinges on the players. Others argue that credit should be given the managers. And a small minority give heavy emphasis to playing facilities.

The son of a former major league baseball player and manager believes there is one more that is long overdue for recognition and tribute. It is the spirit of the fans who stay with the old home team in sickness and in health.

CHILDHOOD

Capt. Stanley Hack Jr., who joined the Air Force in 1958, made this recent observation while talking about his childhood with the Chicago Cubs.

The officer has been assigned at Hamilton Air Force Base after flying more than 148 combat missions in Southeast Asia.

As an A-26 attack bomber navigator, he also flew 66 mission over North Vietnam. For his performance under intense enemy ground fire, he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and 10 Air Medals.

Probably because of this experience, he has been assigned here as a Fourth Air Force electronic warfare officer.

"In brief," he grinned, "I help train Air Defense Command (ADC) pilots throughout the United States to intercept elusive 'enemy' aircraft."

MANAGER

The captain's father, Stanley Hack Sr., managed the Cubs in the early 1950s. Prior to that, he had a sparkling 15-year stint with Chicago as one of the National League's better third basemen.

Within a 15-year period, young Stan and the Chicago fans became well acquainted with each other. When junior outgrew his bat boy uniform, he started ushering the home crowd.

Yep! Stan Hack Jr. had the opportunity to really size up the quality of the Chicago crowd.

"Even when Dad was having a miserable year, they stayed right with him," he remembers. "As a matter of fact, I can't remember a year when attendance was low at Wrigley Field."

The captain's remarks may have rival club owners shaking their heads in amazement. As most baseball buffs know, the Cubs have spent more than their shore of time in the cellar. The last time they won a World Series was way back in 1908.

What is more amazing, perhaps, is their attendance records. When a club consistently loses, its owners either move or go bankrupt. But with the Cubs, it is a different story. Each year, the Chicago squad seems to be playing before "large, enthusiastic crowds."

"Dad use to feel miserable when the Cubs lost," Captain Hack said. "Not for himself or the players, but for the fans."

PAYS OFF

Evidently, the support and faithful cheering is beginning to pay off for the Cubs. This year, while being destined for the last division, Manager Leo Durocher and his boys became the Cinderella team of the baseball world.

And the faithful Cub fans, who always cheered their losers like winners, went wild with excitement.

"When you have rooters like that," Stan Jr. said, "you just have to try harder."

Stan Jr. is not a dedicated baseball man. He has earned for himself quite a reputation in the service as a first-rate tennis player.

HARD WORK

He has accomplished this through hard work and by winning the Air Force singles championship in 1958. The accomplished athlete was runnerup in this contest from 1960-1964. The captain said he took up the sport naturally. His mother, who died several years ago, was the former Dorothy Weisel. In 1929 she was the nation's third-ranked woman tennis player.

Capt. Hack and his attractive wife Dorothy have one daughter, eight-year-old, Margie.

OWN SELECTION

He admitted he would like his youngster to follow in the footsteps of her grandmother. But, like his father, now a restaurateur in Dixon, Ill., he would let his children select their own sports.

Wherever the Hacks go, you can safely assume they will all be rooting for the Chicago Cubs when the chips are down.

California Vs. South In Shrine Grid Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If the Shrine East-West game Dec. 30 looks like a football contest between California and the South, it's purely coincidental.

But the fact is the South has contributed 11 players and a coach to the East squad for the annual charity game for the Shrine Hospital for Crippled children. Co-coach Paul Dietzel is from South Carolina.

There are 12 Californians on the West squad of 28, plus co-coach Ray Willsey of California.

TWO ON EAST

Two other Californians, All-America end Kevin Hardy of Oakland and Notre Dame and end Robert Taylor of Palo Alto and the Navy, are on the East squad.

The Californians will have a great rooting section, headed by the Beban family. All-America quarterback Gary Beban's father sent in a check for 270—that's correct—270 tickets. He got them, of course.

Gary is one of three UCLANs on the West squad. The other two are center John Erquiaga from San Diego and tackle Larry Slagle of Richmond. Beban's from Redwood City.

Both other West quarterbacks, Bob Lee of San Francisco and University of the Pacific, and Danny Holman of Carmel and San Jose State, are Californians.

OTHERS

Rounding out the West's California list are halfback Haven Moses of Compton and San Diego State; fullback Jack Root of Stanford; end Joe Koontz of Richmond and San Francisco State; defensive backs Jim Smith of San Diego and Oregon U. and Bob Smith of Berkeley and California; linebacker Skip Vanderbundt of Placerville and Oregon State, and tackle Blaine Nye of Santa Ana and Stanford.

Eight of the Southerners are on the East's offensive squad; halfback Bennie Garnto and center James Gobble from South Carolina; quarterback Gary Davis of Vanderbilt; halfback Dale Brady of Memphis State; center Mike Murphy of Duke; guard Harry Olzeswki and tackle Wayne Mass of Clemson and end Ken Barefoot of Virginia Tech.

FROM SOUTH

The South contributed halfback Frank Loria of Virginia Tech and defensive back Mark Holmes of Georgia, and linebacker Randall Edmunds of Georgia Tech to the defense squad.

Dietzel said the South, with its numerous bowl games, has recently become highly aware of the Shrine game and its sons have enjoyed playing here. Last year little known quarterback Danny Talbott of North Carolina pitched the East to a 45-22 victory.

Mrs. Hal Stookey Wins Playoff

Mrs. Hal Stookey defeated Mrs. Fred Craddock on the first hole of a sudden death playoff Tuesday to win the Peacock Gap Women's Golf Club's "Scotty's Trophy" golf tournament at the San Rafael course.

They had tied for low net honors for 18 holes, Mrs. Stookey with 109-33—76 and Mrs. Craddock with 97-21—76. As this was Mrs. Stookey's second victory in the monthly series, she was given permanent possession of the trophy.

In Class B Mrs. Don Faber, 113-36—77, and Mrs. Murray Powers, 109-32—77, tied for first place.

Additional Water In Russian River

The Corps of Engineers this week began releasing additional water from Lake Mendocino into the Russian River, the Department of Fish and Game advised anglers today.

The additional releases are necessary because recent rains and runoffs have raised the reservoir to the level that water must be released to preserve capacity for flood control storage.

The present releases will be maintained until the flows entering the reservoir decrease and the desired flood control capacity has been attained, according to the DFG.

PREP NOTES

Basketball Book Is A Strange One

By GARY TISCHLER

The black and white California prep basketball version of Sports Illustrated has come out with its Cinderella tabulations.

We're speaking of CAL-PREP's 1968 Basketball Yearbook, a bulky, comprehensive (sort of) chrystal ball covering prep basketball in California like a chancy blanket.

Since this output and its football and spring sports counterparts are condidered something of a prep sports bible, we're wondering how they arrive at their predictions.

It can't be from the horse's mouth.

Sometimes the predictions resemble Playboy's annual football poll.

At least, when they get around to predicting Marin County and San Francisco outcomes.

This time, CAL-PREP picked Redwood to win the MCAL title, which is not an outlandish proposition at all, but Tamalpais, the team which has shown the most class so far, is listed merely as a contender. And Coach Dick Hart's best players, according to CAL-PREP, are Larry Blackwell and Dave Detrick, who between them have averaged around two points per game to date, although Blackwell is a fine ball-handler Detrick a good rebounder.

It may all date back to football, when CAL-PREP picked Tamalpais to win the lague title, a reasonalble enough mistake. But in San Francisco, they chose Lincoln, picking eventually unbeaten Balboa fourth, behind Washington.

In basketball, CAL-PREP has picked defending champion Balboa to finish third, but unless the Bucs come up with Lew Alcindor, they will be lucky to get a couple of wins here and there.

The Bucs were the only team to go through the Drake Invitational tournament minus a win, getting trounced severely by Novato, Napa and Redwood.

THAT YUBA CITY Invitational Tournament last week produced some stirring results for the two Marin County Athletic League teams entered in the tourney.

Redwood finished second and Novato took seventh place, which is not saying nearly enough.

Yuba City needed help to top Novato too, winning by a point after the Hornets had missed two one-and-one chances while leading by a point.

If the Hornets thought lightning couldn't strike twice, they were wrong. It did. They lost by a point to Yreka in a first-round consolation game.

They had no such worry in the diddly battle for seventh place, sending Vacaville reeling to a 73-51 loss.

In those three games, Steve McNally became an ace.

The Giants had a mixed bag of performances.

Larry Blackwell scored only eight points in the entire tournament, but two of them produced a 61-60 upset of tourney favorite Livermore in the semi-finals. It was a last-second 25-foot jumper. Blackwell second fielder of the tourney.

Roger Smith, younger brother of College of Marin starter Russ Smith, came in against Livermore and had a five-for-five showing from the field after failing to score at all in an 81-62 rout of Vacaville in the opener.

Tom Seidenberg, was named the most valuable player in the tournament.

He admitted he would like his youngster to follow in the footsteps of her grandmother. But, like his father, now a restaurateur in Dixon, Ill., he would let his children select their own sports.

Wherever the Hacks go, you can safely assume they will all be rooting for the Chicago Cubs when the chips are down.

California Vs. South In Shrine Grid Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If the Shrine East-West game Dec. 30 looks like a football contest between California and the South, it's purely coincidental.

But the fact is the South has contributed 11 players and a coach to the East squad for the annual charity game for the Shrine Hospital for Crippled children. Co-coach Paul Dietzel is from South Carolina.

There are 12 Californians on the West squad of 28, plus co-coach Ray Willsey of California.

TWO ON EAST

Two other Californians, All-America end Kevin Hardy of Oakland and Notre Dame and end Robert Taylor of Palo Alto and the Navy, are on the East squad.

The Californians will have a great rooting section, headed by the Beban family. All-America quarterback Gary Beban's father sent in a check for 270—that's correct—270 tickets. He got them, of course.

Gary is one of three UCLANs on the West squad. The other two are center John Erquiaga from San Diego and tackle Larry Slagle of Richmond. Beban's from Redwood City.

Both other West quarterbacks, Bob Lee of San Francisco and University of the Pacific, and Danny Holman of Carmel and San Jose State, are Californians.

OTHERS

Rounding out the West's California list are halfback Haven Moses of Compton and San Diego State; fullback Jack Root of Stanford; end Joe Koontz of Richmond and San Francisco State; defensive backs Jim Smith of San Diego and Oregon U. and Bob Smith of Berkeley and California; linebacker Skip Vanderbundt of Placerville and Oregon State, and tackle Blaine Nye of Santa Ana and Stanford.

Eight of the Southerners are on the East's offensive squad; halfback Bennie Garnto and center James Gobble from South Carolina; quarterback Gary Davis of Vanderbilt; halfback Dale Brady of Memphis State; center Mike Murphy of Duke; guard Harry Olzeswki and tackle Wayne Mass of Clemson and end Ken Barefoot of Virginia Tech.

FROM SOUTH

The South contributed halfback Frank Loria of Virginia Tech and defensive back Mark Holmes of Georgia, and linebacker Randall Edmunds of Georgia Tech to the defense squad.

Dietzel said the South, with its numerous bowl games, has recently become highly aware of the Shrine game and its sons have enjoyed playing here. Last year little known quarterback Danny Talbott of North Carolina pitched the East to a 45-22 victory.

Mrs. Hal Stookey Wins Playoff

Mrs. Hal Stookey defeated Mrs. Fred Craddock on the first hole of a sudden death playoff Tuesday to win the Peacock Gap Women's Golf Club's "Scotty's Trophy" golf tournament at the San Rafael course.

They had tied for low net honors for 18 holes, Mrs. Stookey with 109-33—76 and Mrs. Craddock with 97-21—76. As this was Mrs. Stookey's second victory in the monthly series, she was given permanent possession of the trophy.

In Class B Mrs. Don Faber, 113-36—77, and Mrs. Murray Powers, 109-32—77, tied for first place.

Additional Water In Russian River

The Corps of Engineers this week began releasing additional water from Lake Mendocino into the Russian River, the Department of Fish and Game advised anglers today.

The additional releases are necessary because recent rains and runoffs have raised the reservoir to the level that water must be released to preserve capacity for flood control storage.

The present releases will be maintained until the flows entering the reservoir decrease and the desired flood control capacity has been attained, according to the DFG.

Mike Machette Wins Net Title

Mike Machette, star pupil in the Belvedere Tennis Club's junior program, won the Rancho Parks boys age 16 championship yesterday at Los Angeles with a 6-4, 6-0 victory over Rick Fisher of Palo Alto.

Machette, top-ranked 16-year-old in Northern California, then immediately enplaned for Miami, Fla., where he will compete in the Orange Bowl Tennis Classic over the holidays.

PREP NOTES

Basketball Book Is A Strange One

By GARY TISCHLER

The black and white California prep basketball version of Sports Illustrated has come out with its Cinderella tabulations.

We're speaking of CAL-PREP's 1968 Basketball Yearbook, a bulky, comprehensive (sort of) chrystal ball covering prep basketball in California like a chancy blanket.

Since this output and its football and spring sports counterparts are considered something of a prep sports bible, we're wondering how they arrive at their predictions.

It can't be from the horse's mouth.

Sometimes the predictions resemble Playboy's annual football poll.

At least, when they get around to predicting Marin County and San Francisco outcomes.

This time, CAL-PREP picked Redwood to win the MCAL title, which is not an outlandish proposition at all, but Tamalpais, the team which has shown the most class so far, is listed merely as a contender. And Coach Dick Hart's best players, according to CAL-PREP, are Larry Blackwell and Dave Detrick, who between them have averaged around two points per game to date, although Blackwell is a fine ball-handler Detrick a good rebounder.

It may all date back to football, when CAL-PREP picked Tamalpais to win the lague title, a reasonalble enough mistake. But in San Francisco, they chose Lincoln, picking eventually unbeaten Balboa fourth, behind Washington.

In basketball, CAL-PREP has picked defending champion Balboa to finish third, but unless the Bucs come up with Lew Alcindor, they will be lucky to get a couple of wins here and there.

The Bucs were the only team to go through the Drake Invitational tournament minus a win, getting trounced severely by Novato, Napa and Redwood.

THAT YUBA CITY Invitational Tournament last week produced some stirring results for the two Marin County Athletic League teams entered in the tourney.

Redwood finished second and Novato took seventh place, which is not saying nearly enough.

The Giants finally lost to host team Yuba City 47-42 in the finals, in a game in which they got nine free throw chances to Yuba City's 28.

Yuba City needed help to top Novato too, winning by a point after the Hornets had missed two one-and-one chances while leading by a point.

If the Hornets thought lightning couldn't strike twice, they were wrong. It did. They lost by a point to Yreka in a first-round consolation game.

They had no such worry in the diddly battle for seventh place, sending Vacaville reeling to a 73-51 loss.

In those three games, Steve McNally became an ace.

McNally, who had averaged below 10 points a game going into the tournament, scored 20, 25 and 24 points in successive nights.

The Giants had a mixed bag of performances.

Larry Blackwell scored only eight points in the entire tournament, but two of them produced a 61-60 upset of tourney favorite Livermore in the semi-finals. It was a last-second 25-foot jumper. Blackwell second fielder of the tourney.

Roger Smith, younger brother of College of Marin starter Russ Smith, came in against Livermore and had a five-for-five showing from the field after failing to score at all in an 81-62 rout of Vacaville in the opener.

Tom Seidenberg, was named the most valuable player in the tournament.

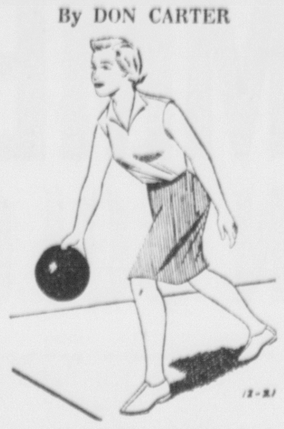
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Are you making a 100 per cent effort to become a good bowler? If you resemble the girl in today's illustration as you deliver the ball, you probably aren't. Her left knee is not bent nearly enough and as a result she is about to let the ball drop from too great a height. Remember: Bend deep if you want to score.

Redwood Cagers Continue Streak

The Redwood High School Class B team racked up its ninth basketball victory without a loss Tuesday, whipping the El Camino B team, 53-21.

John Boro and Kent Scove led the scoring with 11 points each and Stocky Spooner and Art Carew had 10 each.

A Record Crowd Sees Seals Lose

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Seals played to a record crowd of 9,650, but went down 2-1 before the St. Louis Blues in a National Hockey League match last night.

The loss dropped the Seals into last place, while the Blues took over sole possession of fifth place, just two points ahead in Western Division standings.

Center Frank St. Marsielle provided both tallies for the winners.

Oakland, which lost its fifth game in six starts, opened scoring at 4:11 of the second period as Wally Boyer rammed an 18-footer past Blues goalie Glenn Hall. St. Marsielle tied it up on a breakaway at 14:15 of the same period.

Then in the third period, St. Marsielle picked up right-wing Gary Sabourin as a decoy and zipped a 30-footer past goalie Charlie Hodge for the winning tally.

PAPERMILL CREEK

Anglers Warned About Manners

Marin County salmon and steelhead fishermen soon may find "Keep Out" signs at two of their favorite locations due to the thoughtlessness and poor manners of some of their fellow anglers, the Department of Fish and Game said today.

The areas involved are White House Pool at the upper end of Tomales Bay and the lower part of Papermill Creek which drains into Tomales Bay.

Both of these areas have produced some of the best salmon and steelhead fishing in the Bay Area for many years, and the owner of the property adjoining these waters has admitted fishermen without charge or restriction.

Recently, however, a few anglers have interfered with shooting on nearby private duck clubs, and last month they broke open a temporary dam the property owner used to impound water for his cattle.

"I would like to continue to allow fishermen to use these areas," the landowner told the Department. "I know the majority of sportsmen who come here conduct themselves as good sportsmen should.

"However, if the thoughtless and careless few continue to damage my property, interfere with the nearby duck clubs and otherwise abuse the privilege of using my property to fish in White House Pool and Papermill Creek, I will have to close these areas to the public."

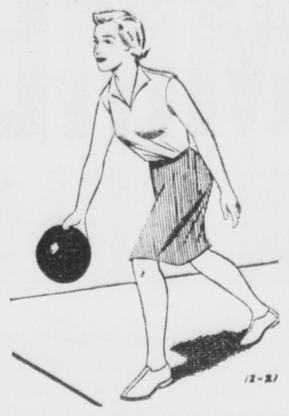
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Are you making a 100 per cent effort to become a good bowler? If you resemble the girl in today's illustration as you deliver the ball, you probably aren't. Her left knee is not bent nearly enough and as a result she is about to let the ball drop from too great a height. Remember: Bend deep if you want to score.

Redwood Cagers Continue Streak

The Redwood High School Class B team racked up its ninth basketball victory without a loss Tuesday, whipping the El Camino B team, 53-21.

John Boro and Kent Scove led the scoring with 11 points each and Stocky Spooner and Art Carew had 10 each.

A Record Crowd Sees Seals Lose

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Seals played to a record crowd of 9,650, but went down 2-1 before the St. Louis Blues in a National Hockey League match last night.

The loss dropped the Seals into last place, while the Blues took over sole possession of fifth place, just two points ahead in Western Division standings.

Center Frank St. Marsielle provided both tallies for the winners.

Oakland, which lost its fifth game in six starts, opened scoring at 4:11 of the second period as Wally Boyer rammed an 18-footer past Blues goalie Glenn Hall. St. Marsielle tied it up on a breakaway at 14:15 of the same period.

Then in the third period, St. Marsielle picked up right-wing Gary Sabourin as a decoy and zipped a 30-footer past goalie Charlie Hodge for the winning tally.

Mrs. Lew Baysinger Wins Tournament

Mrs. Lew Baysinger won the Indian Valley Women's Golf Club's Ham Shoot Tuesday with a score of 100-28-72.

She was followed by Mesdames Tore Bedeyan, 98-22-76; William May, 86-9-77; George Greenwood, 100-22-78; Ed Searcy, 106-28-78; Roy Enos, 98-17-81 and Jack Weese, 113-32-81.

PAPERMILL CREEK

Anglers Warned About Manners

Marin County salmon and steelhead fishermen soon may find "Keep Out" signs at two of their favorite locations due to the thoughtlessness and poor manners of some of their fellow anglers, the Department of Fish and Game said today.

The areas involved are White House Pool at the upper end of Tomales Bay and the lower part of Papermill Creek which drains into Tomales Bay.

Both of these areas have produced some of the best salmon and steelhead fishing in the Bay Area for many years, and the owner of the property adjoining these waters has admitted fishermen without charge or restriction.

Recently, however, a few anglers have interfered with shooting on nearby private duck clubs, and last month they broke open a temporary dam the property owner used to impound water for his cattle.

"I would like to continue to allow fishermen to use these areas," the landowner told the Department. "I know the majority of sportsmen who come here conduct themselves as good sportsmen should.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

TOKYO—Tsyuoshi Nakamura, 112, Japan, outpointed Erbito Salavarria, 110, Philippines, 12; Nakamura retained Orient flyweight title.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I need advice very badly. My former adviser passed away and now I am fearful, since my sight and hearing are deteriorating rapidly. We have a small pension and the list of stocks enclosed. Should we keep this list as is or do you recommend changes? — R. R.

A. I should first like to offer my sincere sympathy on your health problems and then assure you that you own an excellent list of stocks. Your mutual funds are about average in performance, but the yield appears satisfactory and I would hold them. Your utilities, particularly Arizona Public Service, Commonwealth Edison and Kentucky Utilities, are among the best, but are relatively depressed and I would certainly retain them at current levels. Corn Products has seen growth slowdown this year because of rising costs, but the yield at current levels is 4.5 per cent and this is still a high-grade stock. Valley National Bank is one of the best such situations in the Rockies and I advise you to hold, unless the current yield of 2.5 per cent is too low for you. In that event, I would switch this stock into Marine Midland, yielding 4.5 per cent. Your L. S. Starrett offers a return of less than 3 per cent and I advise you to exchange this issue for Stewart-Warner, providing equal security and a yield of 5.5 per cent. Otherwise, I think you need consider no changes in your holdings.

Q. I purchased 100 Noramco in January, 1966, at 6⅜. I hear that this stock is worthless. Whom can I contact for any information about the company? — H. W.

A. Your company is in bankruptcy and the shares have been delisted from the American Exchange. They are quoted 10 cents bid over-the-counter, but at this level you have little to gain by selling. For information, you might try writing to the company at 217 Wisconsin Ave., Waukesha, Wis.
